Christian Herald Representative Tells of Condition in War-Stricken Belgium

Christian Herald, has just returned from Europe, where he had gone to arrange for the distribution of the Christian Herald fund for the relief of widows and orphans of the war.

I have been in Belgium and I have witnessed scenes which I hope never to see again. They were scenes of the guns, far in the distance to be sure, but in the cities, towns and villages through which I passed I have

In Brussels we saw women holding babies snuggled to their necks standing on cold street corners begging a crust of bread.

In Holland I found thousands of men, women and children refugees from Antwerp huddled in retaining camps and on barges, some refined, some coarse and brutalized, all sleeping together without partitions to insure their privacy.

I have the satisfaction of acting directly for the Christian Herald by purchasing a cargo of flour, peas, rice, wheat, etc., taking it into Belgium, and distributing it to the hungry people.

Rich Suffer With Poor

I shall never forget the gratitude, the kindliness with which the representative of the Christian Herald was received by officials everywhere.
