The wear of years impairs the action of the bowels. With advancing age people are disposed to restricted activity and exercise, which is responsible for the constipated condition of most old folks. The digestive organs are more sensitive to the demands made upon them and rebel more quickly.

A mild, effective remedy for constipation, and one that is especially suited to the needs of elderly people, women and children, is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

just before it disbands. Incidentally the chief executive, the members of his party and the hundreds who participate in the parade will not be subjected to exposure to the elements. Considerable time will be saved, too.

The Governor Rides

The Governor and his inaugural party will leave the reviewing stand immediately after the ceremonies and will move rapidly over the entire parade route. The Governor's Troop, serving as escort, will trot along with the cars. Not more than half an hour will be required to make the journey. After the trip the gubernatorial party will return to the reviewing stand at Third and State streets. Then the parade will move and Governor Brumbaugh will salute the dipping colors and presented swords of the passing marchers. The Governor Rides

After the procession has gone by Governor Brumbaugh will go directly to the Executive Mansion, where luncheon will be served.

"Remind the people along the route that they should remain for a short time after the Governor and his party have passed," said Captain Frank H. Hoy, Jr., chief of the special aids to the marshal and acting adjutant to Captain Henry M. Stine, chief of staff, "The plan of driving the Governor and the inaugural party over the route first. The plan of driving the Governor and the inaugural party over the route first is a new one here. The coming of the parade will be but a very short time after the passing of the official automobile train.

The Review

In former years the reviewing stand had always been erected at Front near South streets, opposite the Executive Mansion, and as a rule this was a gathering point for hundreds of people. By the new plan the procession doesn't march in Front street. The review by the chief marshal and the heads of the divisions will be made on Market Square just before the parade breaks up. The marchers will move past the reviewing stand in the Square to Chesthut street to disband.

Additional aids and some corrections in previously published lists were announced last evening by Captain Stine. Captain Hoy's appointment as chief of the special aids had been omitted from the original list. Additional second division aids include John H. Maloney and Oscar G. Final Preparations
While it is impossible to state definitely when the parade will start, it is likely that 12.30 or thereabouts will be a good time for folks to line up on the streets to watch the Governor and his party and the procession go by. Plans have been completed for the ceremonies and the parade and all that is hoped for now is nice weather. Special arrangements have been made to handle record crowds at the Union Station and the trolley companies anticipate a mighty busy time.

Several carloads of horses were due to reach here this afternoon from Philadelphia for the use of General Morrell and his staff. The roping off of the streets will be taken care of to-morrow under the direction of Commissioner M. Harvey Taylor, superintendent of
