LOOK FOR JUSTICE IN COURT'S DECISION

Belief Prevails That Judge Landis Is in Favor of Organized Baseball

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 26.—Baseball men are speculating on the probable decision of the court in the big baseball litigation. Opinion seems to be divided on the probable finding of Judge Landis. Most of the baseball men think the judge will render a decision denying the motion of the Feds and that in that event he may take up the case and decide it on its merits. "The time has come in this trial when you gentlemen must tell the court just what you want it to do in granting this injunction," said Judge Landis. He asked them if they wanted to stop the teams from taking their usual spring training trips, to break up the present method of procedure and bring hardships to the teams, or if they did not want him to do that, what they did want.

A. league, the Barons won from Eagles; margin, one pin.

A PAIR OF HUSTLING YOUNGSTERS

EARL SWARTZ

WALTER ANDERSON

Amateur baseball teams have come and gone, but the Harris Park A. C. has loomed up every season and made good. This year the aggregation will get into the game early. Meetings are held each week. Success to this organization has been brought through the work of two active boys—Earl Swartz, manager, and Walter Anderson, assistant manager and business manager. The team this season will include:

Rose, catcher and third baseman; B. R. Swartz and Kerns, outfielders; infielders, McCurdy at shortstop, C. Swartz on second base, and E. Swartz at third; Ryan, who played an infield position last season, will be back with the team later. Another good pitcher will be signed by Manager Swartz. The Harris A. C. has ordered attractive uniforms and will announce the schedule about April 1.

WILLARD IN TEXAS; PREPARES TO TRAIN

White Hope Is Given Hearty Welcome; Cowpunchers Say He Will Win Over Johnson

Special to The Telegraph. El Paso, Texas, Jan. 26.—Jess Willard, Tom Jones and a retinue of sparring partners and trainers have arrived here, and the coming world's championship battle between Jack Johnson and the western cowboy is now assuming an interesting condition. At first sight Willard has captivated the Texans. One of the cowpunchers who has seen all the heavyweight battles in America since Corbett wrested the title from Sullivan in New Orleans said last night: "I honestly and sincerely believe that Willard has a great chance of retrieving the heavyweight championship for the white race, where it belongs."

ALFRED H. HOBSON CHAMPION BOWLER

Holds Record For the Best Score in a Two-ball Duckpin Match

ALFRED H. HOBSON

It may be a long way to Tipperary, but one will have to go still farther to find a young American bowler who will score 206 points in a two-ball duckpin match. Alfred H. Hobson, captain of the Internationals, of the Holtzman Duckpin League, holds that record. His team is in fourth place, but is moving up. Hobson will try to do better. Since he hung up the new mark last Saturday there has been considerable activity on the part of local duckpin bowlers to get into the limelight.

ELLEN TERRY

At the opening of the sale for tickets to the performance of Ellen Terry yesterday morning at the Majestic Theater, where Miss Terry is to appear Wednesday evening, presenting her most famous roles, Shakespeare, special notice was to be taken of the large number of reservations being made by different literary and school elements. Among those engaging special reservations were the Current Events Club, of the W. W. Irving College, the Harrisburg Academy for Boys, the faculty of the Central High School, the Wharton Extension School of the University of Pennsylvania, several bodies of High School students, various clubs, and members of the local schools and suburban towns.

An early reservation for seats is urged upon those expecting to see Miss Terry. Several sections have already been entirely taken, though seats can be had at all prices. In answer to inquiries about Miss Terry's voice, the management wishes to state that it was never better. Last Wednesday evening Miss Terry performed before more than 2,200 people in Indianapolis, receiving Thursday, matinee and night. The play is now in the twenty-ninth year of its existence. "The Old Homestead" is a play that pleases all classes. Like the play itself the audiences are a study, an object lesson in the art of making one's self enjoyable to the young and the old. The original production under the personal direction of Frank Thompson, will be seen here.—Advertisement.

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD"

Denham Thompson's perennial drama of New England country life will be presented at the Chestnut Street Auditorium on Thursday, January 28, Irvin & Cobb, war correspondent, humorist and newspaper writer, will give what is pleased to call an illustrated talk, dealing with his experience in the War Zone of the present European configuration. At the outbreak of the war Cobb was sent abroad as staff correspondent of the Saturday Evening Post.

HOWE'S TRAVEL FESTIVAL

Considering that Congress spends hundreds of millions each year on our navy, and that every American citizen pays more or less of this vast expenditure, the Secretary of the Navy selected Mr. Howe's Travel Festival, which comes to the Majestic, Friday and Saturday, with due majesty. It is the most popular and valuable medium to show the American people how and why the navy is necessary. The scenes presented by Mr. Howe comprehend so much of every phase of naval life, and that in such a pleasing and instructive manner that the average spectator cannot fail to derive from it a vast fund of information which could possibly be gained in any other way, and in every sense it is the most complete production of a nation that has ever been attempted.

"Ship-shape" as a synonym for perfect order and neatness is used so commonly that its origin has probably never occurred to you, but when you see in this same series how the blue jackets aboard ship are required to keep their uniforms, stow their bags, sling and slash their hammocks, as well as innumerable other routine duties and re-requirements, you can readily understand what "ship-shape" means in its fullest sense.—Advertisement.

PLAYS WORTH WHILE

By a strange change in theatricals, amusement lovers who take a pleasure in witnessing the best plays have no opportunity of seeing them outside of the infrequent visits of the better class of traveling stock companies. The appearance of the "Arthur Chatterton" company at the Majestic all of next week is one of these rare occasions, and the fine line of plays which this enterprising and talented star will present is worthy of consideration from even the most exacting admirer of the drama. Monday night will be given over to James K. Hackett's recent success, "A Grain of Dust," which will arouse laugh on laugh. "The Traveling Salesman" is the famous play for Friday night. The opening matinee bills are: "Kindling," Monday, and "The Girl From Sowerby," Tuesday. Fifteen-cent ladies' tickets for Monday night will particularly interest the ladies.—Advertisement.

COLONIAL

"The Isle of Wishes," the biggest and most ambitious production ever shown at the Esay Corner, is a veritable fairyland, where beautiful fairies in gardens of roses and real fountains present one of the most novel and spectacular features we have seen. It is really all a dream, the dream of a man, who imagines he is carried to the garden of fairies. Here he joins in the song and prolic and falls in love with

THE PRINCESS OF THE FAIRIES

"The Isle of Wishes" is an allegory, clever in conception, and pretentious and ought to please colonial patrons immensely. A comedy sketch, brim full of laughs; a very clever couple in late songs, and a wizard accordion player round out an unusual vaudeville show. "Wives," an excellent picture play in three parts, will delight admirers of good moving pictures.—Advertisement.

JOHN MCCORMACK, CHESTNUT STREET HALL

The great popularity of John McCormack as a singer has been shown wherever he has appeared the present season, and even the largest theaters and auditoriums have been taxed to the utmost to hold the people who flock to see and hear him. His reception in Harrisburg will be a repetition of that accorded him elsewhere, as the demand for seats already assures a crowded house here. The San Francisco Chronicle of January 18, thus speaks of his fifth and final concert there: "We shall have no more of John McCormack for two years. The pity of it! But the memory of him will abide with us. He sang for us yesterday afternoon with all his heart, and The Cori Theater, with its seating capacity of 1,800 people, accommodated 2,200 listeners. The people flowed onto the stage. They stood up in rows at the back of the house, and their enthusiasm was in direct ratio with their numbers. The encores of a McCormack concert are usually its most important part. But yesterday people clamored so insistently that it struck me as being just a little bit greedy. Yet a pretty Rosalind would say, 'Can one have too much of a good thing?' Do you know why he can sing Schubert's 'Ave Maria' better than the best of the singers? For the reason that took him to old St. Mary's yesterday morning. 'Can you tell me, why he makes our English speech beautiful? Because they speak better English in some parts of Ireland than they speak in proud England or arrogant New York.'—Advertisement.

The film, which has been condensed into five parts, is called "Barbarous Mexico." It is unhampered by plots and dramatic details, but there are plenty of stirring events from the land of sunshine and turmoil. Pictures claimed to have been taken right on the battlefield, present a very surprising and wonderful feature" of the present and late in the present European configuration, which presents the famous nine mile Steeple Chase, training the fighting bulls, an interesting subject

FARMER SPOOLS COASTING

Special to The Telegraph. Dauphin, Pa., Jan. 26.—To the disappointment of many of Dauphin's younger set, no coasting could be enjoyed on the mountain road on Saturday. After the recent snow, one of the farmers dragged the road with a snow plow so that it could be traveled more easily. This spoiled the coasting and for almost the first time in the history of Dauphin no jolly parties flew through the town on bobbed sleds.
