IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels of elen get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoon in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.

ACTIVITIES IN THE LEGISLATURE

GAME CHANGE STRONGLY BACKED

Phillips Bill Is Supported by the State and Three Big Organizations

SECOND BILL TO FOLLOW Method of Clearing Up the Bounty Trouble Has Been Provided in New Act

One of the two bills prepared by the State Game Commission with the support of the various organizations of sportsmen has made its appearance in the Legislature and the other is to be introduced next week. The bill in hand is that offered by Joseph E. Phillips, one of the members of the House from Clearfield county. The other will be introduced by Senator William E. Crowe, of Fayette. The Phillips bill changes the game seasons and the bags in line with the ideas of the United Sportsmen, the State Sportsmen's Association and the Wild Life League. The Crowe bill will enlarge the scope of the act of 1913 permitting the Game Commission to declare closed seasons in counties. The act relates only to deer. The Phillips bill will cover all game with the idea that propagation may be aided, the power to close resting with the commission, which is given full authority to act at its discretion. The proposed changes in the seasons are as follows: Deer, male with visible horns, November 25 to December 10, now November 10 to November 25. Bear, November 1 to December 10, now October 1 to January 1. Rabbits, November 1 to November 30, now November and December. Pheasants, November 1 to 30, now October 15 to November 30. Wild turkeys, November 1 to 30, the season being now closed the year round. Hungarian quail, November 1 to 30, now October 15 to November 30. Quail or partridge, November 1 to 30, now November 1 to December 15. Woodcock, November 1 to 30, now October 15 to November 30. Raccoon, October 1 to December 31, now September 1 to January 1. Ruffed grouse, November 1 to November 30, now October 15 to November 30. Squirrels, November 1 to 30, now October 15 to November 30. Reedbirds, shore birds, wild water fowl, snipe and the like are unchanged, while there is a closed season on plovers from October 15 to November, 1921. The regulations on bags are as follows: Deer, one a season; bear, unlimited; ring-necked pheasants, four a day, ten a week and twenty a season, instead of ten, twenty and fifty, respectively; quail, three a day, ten a week and thirty a season, instead of ten a day; Hungarian quail, four a day, ten a week and thirty a season, instead of five, twenty and thirty; quail, eight a day, twenty-five a week and forty a season, instead of ten, forty and seventy-five; ruffed grouse, five a day, twenty a week and thirty a season, instead of five, twenty and fifty; squirrels, six of the combined kinds a day by six of the sort, five a day, ten a week and twenty a season; woodcock, ten a day, twenty a week and thirty a season, instead of ten, twenty and fifty. A penalty of $100 fine is provided for killing deer out of season, $50 for each bear, $25 for game birds and $10 for smaller animals. Sunday hunting is prohibited under $25 fine and use of traps and ferrets prohibited. An alternate penalty of a day for each dollar is provided when fines are not paid. The State confiscates property of a hunter who violates the law and game may be shipped by parcel post when owner accompanies it. Guides may not hunt for employers and guns may not be carried in October in fields of growing corn. The State has authority to appeal from payment of any bounties which it cannot do now. Fifty-four counties have put in bills for $18,981 for bounties and there is suspicion about some of the scalps. The act, it is claimed, will lessen hunting accidents, of which there were 29 fatal and 97 nonfatal last year. Deer and quail in the woods practically alone, small game seasons ending with November.

MILLION FOR AID OF POOR MOTHERS

Maurer Bill For $2,000,000 Regarded as Carrying Too Much of the State Funds

PATTON HAS NEW BILL Campbell Is Aimed at Traveling Doctors and Medicine Men

An appropriation of $2,000,000 is asked to aid mothers for the support of their children under a bill presented in the Legislature by Representative James H. Maurer, of Reading. The Maurer bill asks for the appropriation for the two fiscal years starting June 1, 1915, and provides for the payment of the money as required by the mothers' compensation act passed by the Legislature in 1912. The sum of $2,000,000 is regarded as excessive by legislators, who declare that under present conditions it will be impossible to obtain such a large sum of money even for so worthy a cause. A vigorous effort, however, will be made to put through a measure appropriating $1,000,000 to carry out the provisions of the act. State Senator Edward W. Patton, of Philadelphia, will shortly present a bill calling for an appropriation and members of the Philadelphia delegation are pledged to do all in their power to put it through. After Drug Peddlers. The itinerant doctor, who travels the countryside and sells to the rural folk a concoction of harmless drugs "warranted and guaranteed to relieve and cure all scalds, burns, bruises, cuts, pains and aches suffered by man and beast" will be compelled to take out a license if the bill presented to the Legislature by Representative Theodore Campbell, of Overbrook, Philadelphia, becomes a law. Mr. Campbell's measure is aimed principally at the old Indian doctor, who, with flowing white beard and wide-brimmed hat, peddles patent medicines through the state, sometimes with a horse and buggy and sometimes with a combination circus and vaudeville show. Under the provisions of the Campbell bill anyone who desires to peddle a medicine or preparation must obtain a license. An application must be made in writing to the State Pharmaceutical Board and this application must be accompanied by a fee of $25. Before issuing the license the board must be satisfied that the applicant is of good moral character and that the drugs or preparations he intends to peddle are compounded by a competent person and are not detrimental to the public health. Violation of the act is made a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $50.

BOROUGH MANAGER IS NOW SUGGESTED

Western Man Wants to Make Startling Amendment to the Proposed Borough Code

MANY AMENDMENTS ARE UP But It Is Not Believed That They Will Get Very Far in This Legislature

A movement is on foot in Allegheny county for a provision in the borough code bill for the employment of "borough managers." The idea is taken from the systems of government now in use in Dayton, Ohio, Lockport, N. Y., and Staunton, Va., but it is not probable the Pennsylvania Legislature will fasten this fad on the 1,100 boroughs of the commonwealth. The borough code prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau will be presented in the House next week, together with codes on taxation and corporations and a general repealer which has for its purpose the wiping off the statute books of about 900 useless laws. Representative Nelson McVicar, of Allegheny, will have charge of the borough code. The code does not attempt to enact any new borough law, but simply codifies the statutes now on the books. Mr. McVicar says he has heard of quite a number of amendments which will be offered in committee and some of these do propose vital changes. One is the proposition to permit a borough to send off somewhere for an expert and turn the entire government of the municipality over to him. Several towns are now trying the experiment. Over 950 Affected. In Pennsylvania there are about 950 boroughs, and if the amendment would go through experts would be thicker than flies in jelly time. Mr. McVicar has not said that he intends to advocate the borough manager plan. The borough solicitors of the state have taken the position that no vital changes should be made in the code, and the majority of them at least will not agree to the proposition that the citizens of the 1,100 municipalities of the state coming under the code are incapable of governing themselves. The general borough law was enacted in 1851 and most of the municipalities of this class are working under it. Between 1851 and the adoption of the Constitution in 1874 a number of boroughs were created by special laws. Some of these have accepted the provisions of the law of 1851 and others have not. The code contains the laws of all boroughs that have taken the provisions of the 1851 act or have accepted it. All boroughs formed after July 1, 1915, the date the code becomes operative, will come under its provisions. The provisions the code does not include relate to the assessment, levy and collection of taxes, except taxes on docks; collection of municipal claims by liens; method of incurring or increasing bonded indebtedness; election officers and conduct of elections; poor districts; boards of health; common schools; borough and ward constables; justices of the peace; giving of municipal consent to public service companies; state road, state-aid roads and private roads; validations of elections, bonds, ordinances and acts of corporate officers; crimes and offenses by borough officers. As to Borough Debt. The question of municipal indebtedness is to be covered in another code. The code reference bureau will prepare. The code will repeal about 200 laws, while the taxation and corporation codes will wipe out an additional 900. The reference bureau has also prepared a general repealer which takes 900 acts off the books. These are laws which have been repealed by

AN UNSETTLED QUARREL

From the Christian Herald. Some seventeen years ago there were no automobiles. Maybe it was nearer twenty years. Like as not it was eighty years. Well, another time we can get together and talk about those good old days; just now we shall have to stick to the text that the editor laid down for me. The Great Change began, I feel sure, about the year 1898. About that time automobiles began to be turned out as a regular commodity, and you and I began to quarrel about how to pronounce the word. Remember? "You're all wrong, Jim; it's auto-MO-bile." "Nothing of the sort, this, and it's auto-BEE-L." "Oh, ket out here, see what Webster—" But before we became fully estranged, genius came along and said, "Pshaw! call 'em cars, and so cars it is. (But, really, Jim, the right way to pronounce it is auto-MO-bile; now isn't it? What? You still say it ought to be auto-BEE-L? Say, don't you know any—)." Advertisement.

Tabernacle Will Be Sold to Reading Committee

While an option has not been taken on the tabernacle by the Reading committee, J. E. Dare, who purchased it from the Stouffer committee, has been assured that the Reading people will buy it. Because of the trouble experienced in securing a site in Reading, the committee does not feel justified in purchasing the big wooden building, as the matter is satisfactorily adjusted.
