Rockefeller Foundation to Spend Millions For Medical Missions

Vast Plans Adopted For Hospitals and Medical Colleges in China; Peking, Canton and Cheng-Tu First

(By The Religious Rambler.)

AFTER a careful investigation of the field by its own scientists, the Rockefeller Foundation has decided to put into operation a plan for the adequate education of the Chinese nation in the western science of medicine by completely equipping and maintaining three great medical mission colleges in China, Peking in the north, Canton in the south, and probably Cheng-tu in the west, having already been chosen as the points at which a beginning will be made.

This news indicates that the Foundation has discovered one objective for the use of the Rockefeller millions that will scarcely be resented by anybody. Only persons who have personal knowledge of the medical needs of China can appreciate how immense is this humanitarian project.

It has been common knowledge among mission leaders for years past that some such project has been under contemplation and investigation; and that it will not end with China. The intimation is current that a scientific survey of the habitable globe's medical needs is to be made by the Foundation, in co-operation with existing missionary agencies. Undoubtedly, the greatest single work of social service possible to man would be to stamp out the preventable diseases which are at present taking terrible toll of human life, especially in lands where western civilization has not yet become dominant.

An Acceptable Outlet For Millions

Only the future can tell what direction the major activities of the Rockefeller Foundation will take, but it is reported among those who have been in consultation with representatives of the fund that there is reason to believe that this stupendous enterprise of healing the world's diseases will absorb most of the money.

Certainly the task is alluring. China, with her four million population, is frequently visited by decimating scourges. Sixty per cent. of the children die before they reach two years of age. Smallpox is commoner there than measles in the West. Blindness is prevalent. And what is true of China is also true of Korea, India, Turkey and Africa. No estimate can be made of the havoc wrought in all these lands by preventable diseases.

The propaganda of medical missions has given the world some glimpses of the conditions that await remedy.

Putting Millions Behind Missions

The three centers chosen for the Foundation's beginnings in China are already in successful operation as union medical colleges and hospitals. The missions of various denominations have put together in common medical enterprises. Doctors for the united work are supplied by the various boards. Thus, without denominationalism, the Rockefeller Foundation can put the resources of its millions behind character, such as these medical centers, the usual objection would scarcely be heard. While the Foundation would doubtless want a voice in determining the standards, if not the administration, of the medical colleges and hospitals, the actual responsibility would remain with the missions.

The one lack of medical missions to-day is money and men. It is easier to get men than money. Lack of adequate support has prevented the mission boards from setting forth to the overthronged profession in America the claims and possibilities of a medical career in those sections of the earth which are one huge clinic. This new access of practically unlimited resources will enable the missions to provide fullest facilities, in the way of buildings, equipment, supplies and personnel.

Making Chinese Doctors

For a long time there was in contemplation the possibility of endowing colleges and universities in China. Now attention has been focused on the medical needs. The aim of the Foundation is to train up a generation or two of fully-equipped Chinese physicians. Even the Rockefeller millions are inadequate to providing foreign doctors for all of China. There needs to be produced a sufficient number of the roughly trained Chinese physicians to maintain a self-supporting and self-directing medical profession for the whole nation. That is why the interest centers upon the colleges, rather than upon hospitals.

In return, there will inevitably be contributions to western medical science. Nowhere on earth are there such opportunities for scientific research by the physician as in China. Known and unknown diseases are there in abundance. The beginning that is to be made in Peking will have consequences at present unimagined. Incidentally, it will be one more tie between America and China.

Already the American Medical Association has had its attention directed to the twentieth century task of making a survey of the world's preventable diseases, with a view to their eradication. Such a prospect fairly staggers the imagination. The funds and the organization and the direction of this project will doubtless come from the proposed world-wide medical missions of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Missions have moved since the modest days of William Carey.

AN EASY WAY TO END CATARRH FOREVER

Simple Home Treatment Destroys Germs of This Dangerous Disease

The reason why so many people who suffer from catarrh never seem able to get cured is that they are continually seeking the momentary relief of sprays, douching, greasy ointments, etc. Such things do open up the swollen nostrils and clear the head temporarily, besides stopping for a while the disgusting, blowing, sneezing, spitting and choking, but they never cure. To drive out catarrh for good you have got to get down to its real cause. Catarrh is a germ disease. The air is always full of catarrh germs thrown off by anybody who has a cold, throat and head and multiply rapidly. The germs of catarrh can be best destroyed by inhaling the pure medicated air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mey). This splendid and powerful combination of oil of Eucalyptus with other healing agents has a wonderful germicidal action. You breathe its air into your nose, throat and lungs by means of a small hard rubber inhaler which H. C. Kennedy and other leading druggists here in Harrisburg and vicinity supply with every treatment. This medicated air is certain death to the germs of catarrh and drives them completely out of your system and when the germs are destroyed the catarrh with all its disagreeable symptoms will stop. Even two or three minutes' use will give refreshing relief. While it will use it two or three times a day for a few weeks it will completely banish catarrh and every symptom of catarrh. As Hyomei is sold by druggists everywhere with a positive guarantee of successful results or money back, surely no Catarrhal sufferer should go long before trying this simple home remedy.—Advertisement.
