Many Services Are Features of Lent During the lenten season the following program of religious functions will be observed at St. Patrick's Cathedral: Throughout the week there will be the masses every morning at 6:30 and 8 o'clock. Evening services will be held twice a week, namely, rosary, sermon and benediction, Wednesday, and stations of the cross, with benediction, Friday evenings, at 7:45 o'clock. Sunday, February 21, a special series of spiritual exercises, usually known as a mission, will open in the cathedral at the high mass, 10:30 a. m. These exercises will continue to March 2. They will be conducted by the Rev. Albert J. Stern, of New York, a well-known missionary and a companion of the Redemptorist Order.

Mr. Seitz will not touch upon the North Front street question until after the viewers for the condemnation of the "Hardscrabble" district have been appointed and the work of the board started. The same viewers will not serve in both capacities, as it is desired to have the "Hardscrabble" board deal only with the properties in that territory—between Calder and Herr streets.

VIEWERS TO DECIDE COST OF PARKLAND [Continued from First Page.] ages, the condition being that the land be used for park purposes only. Only a few of the owners above "Hardscrabble" have not decided their frontages to the city wholly for park purposes; those who have not done so desired reimbursement for their shares of the paving assessment. The adjustment accordingly will require the appointment of viewers.

of the coal wharf at Market Street superintendent Taylor was asked what plans had been made or were contemplated for the permanent treatment there. Just below the Walnut street bridge tons of earth had been taken away by the wall contractors. The question of providing for the necessary "fill" will be looked into by the superintendent of parks.

LETTERS-TO-THE-EDITOR NEW MARKET WANTS STATION To the Editor of the Telegraph: Owing to the fact that the case of the people of the beautiful little town of New Market situated along the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad, York county, comes before the Public Service Commission in petition for a station at this time, and having held a long continuous residence in New Market, I feel that it is apropos that these few remarks may be made and given to the attention of the good people of New Market through the medium of your valuable paper. To any one who is acquainted with the natural advantages possessed by this growing town, as a beautiful residence site, as a site for factories of any description owing to its immediate connection with the Pennsylvania railroad main line, or an excellent place for the home with garden attached, the soil of York county being far famed and needing no comment; to any one who is acquainted with these known facts it seems that all of the good people of New Market should certainly have no hesitation in presenting their petition for the station which will be a mutual benefit to the railroad and to the increasing number of people settling in New Market, as this is inevitable. We who have enjoyed the unusual privileges of New Market want to cast aside our selfishness and invite the many others to a like condition. I am sincerely, A. M.

COUNTRY LIFE TO-DAY To the Editor of the Telegraph: Dear Sir: At this juncture many of our city residents are under the impression that on account of the abnormal prices of grain farmers are realizing enormous returns. Now read the following and you will be convinced that you are in comfortable circumstances and able to make both ends meet, don't magnify the present call to the land although conditions are abnormal now and before the war ends you may see 80 or 90 cent wheat again. There is an enormous increased acreage of Fall wheat with an added increased acreage of Spring wheat. With the warring nations in financial restraint what outlet is there for our enormous surplus in case the 1915 yield runs to the gigantic figures of our 1914 crop. The warring countries are alert to their opportunity. They know the war is certain to advance the cost of staple commodities. In my opinion they are not buying wheat for immediate consumption, $1.60 is still less than $2 or $2.50 and to wait until the price soars to unreasonable figures would certainly display lamentable ignorance in all countries where consumption exceeds the supply. If England, France, Germany or other countries are strong and buying for future use, what will be the situation when the increased acreage of wheat growing countries is put on the market. In some sections of York county hundreds of bushels had to be milled and was sold around the $1 mark on account of the weevil. Farmers financially able could not hold their grain for the advance in price. This presents my opinion of the wheat situation. Now go into the market for feed wheat. Bran costs $28 per ton, corn is advancing and the price of pork decreasing. Poultry, eggs and dairy products are no higher than usual at this time, but cost considerable more to produce. Mineral plant food has advanced so excessively, making its use almost prohibitive. All will admit that $1.60 is a liberal price for wheat, but if you realize this once in 15 years it is not going to make you a swelled head or financially independent. By summing up the increased cost of secondary products, Mineral plant food and annual losses of live stock the farm presents another aspect. I am by no means averse to country life. In reality it is "the only life." In no place under the sun can families live more independently on their isolated domain. Pure water, pure invigorating air and enough to eat are more certain than in any other calling. Residents of cities should bear in mind that conditions are abnormal now. I know that thousands hope for the day when they can own a little country home all to themselves. But bear in mind you may grow your wheat before you can sell it and you can't count on the present prices for grain. Don't forget last year's cotton situation. The increased acreage of Fall-sown wheat in the cotton growing States alone is 1,812,000 acres. How about the middle and central West, and northern wheat-growing countries? No excessive fortunes have been accumulated in grain farmers in the East. Our present methods are too expensive, and wasteful, and if you think farmers are now coining money, jump right into the game and enjoy this wave of prosperity with us.

But before you do this be sure you are able and qualified to master your situation. A practical and technical knowledge of agriculture is far more comprehensive than a single study of botany, chemistry, entomology, zoology, soil fertility, plant life, animal husbandry, etc. It includes all these, and many more of which a thorough knowledge can be gained only by practical work, observation and experience. In view of the fact that farming will endure more neglect than many other vocations it is only those who give the best care and attention to crops and stock who realize the best returns. There was a time when persistent hard laboring men could ignore theory and science moulding success out of mere chances but scientific methods economically carried out are fast outwitting and displacing this class. No Trouble to Remove Superfluous Hair (Toilet Tips) It is an easy matter to rid the skin of objectionable hair or fuzz, if you proceed as follows: Mix a paste with some water and a little powdered delatone, apply to hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method of banishing hairy growths is painless and does not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain to get real delatone.
