SOUTHERN CAMP FOR MAJOR UMPIRES

Indicator Men to Train at Warm Springs, Va.; George Cockill, Too, Will Be There

Special to The Telegraph New York, Feb. 19.—There may be no way of changing the game in any disposition of an umpire, but President John K. Tener has decided to do the best he can and see that every one of his arbiters enter the fray in April physically fit and in fettle. Just how fit a fiddle really is nobody appears to know, but that is exactly how they are going to be, according to official announcement.

A training camp for umpires, far from the madding workshops of the players, will be established at Warm Springs, Va., and there you may hear the roar of Bill Klem and Bill Rizer at any time within the next month without fear of personal violence or a favorite player being put off the lot. George Cockill, the Tri-State manager will also break into the game here.

System Long Advocated Yes, it has come at last. For several years baseball managers have claimed that the officials are as blind as bats, as deaf as posts and as peevish as settings hens, all of which was due to lack of condition. On several occasions McGraw and Clark Griffith have urged the necessity of having umpires put in shape as well as players. The men offered to accept such officials as guests at their camps, but a feeling of danger kept them away.

Mr. Rizer signed his contract with the National League yesterday and, leaving his choice of training grounds, declared that he would begin at Warm Springs. Bob Emslie, Mal Eason, Hart and Bill Klem are expected to join him next month. Rizer plans to do hard work so as to take off weight, and thinks he can sharpen up his eye by officiating in games between the school teams. What the players may think remains to be seen—or heard.

Mr. Klem already has been in training and has been busy playing golf and shooting at the traps, but to put on the finishing touches he feels that he must be where he can get in sight of a regular league baseball in flight. The others will strike direct for the Springs.

Harrisburg Independents to Have Regular Line-up

When the Harrisburg Independents line up against the Greystock five of the Eastern League to-morrow night, there will be something doing. The local five is after revenge for the defeat by the Quakers two weeks ago. Dave McConnell will be back in the game for Harrisburg. He will be pitted against Cashman. Wilson and Sugarman will cover the forward positions, and McWilliams will be the Trenton and Lancaster teams of the Tri-State as a pitcher, and general utility man.

TWO MORE CLUBS FOR CENTRAL CIRCUIT CENTRAL TOSSERS MEET STEELTON HIGH

Final Action at Meeting Two Weeks Hence; Re-elect Frank Stees President

Discussion of plans and consideration of two applications for admission to Central Pennsylvania Baseball League, preceded the annual election of officers last night. Representatives from every town on the circuit were present at the meeting held at the rooms of the Paxtang Hook and Ladder Company, Steelton.

Hershey and Lucknow are the two towns seeking admission. Roy C. Lee, of Lucknow, was present in the interest of the Lucknow shop league that is desirous of putting an all-star team in the field. No definite action was taken. Another meeting will be held within two weeks at which a schedule will be adopted and two towns selected.

Frank A. Stees was unanimously re-elected president and his efforts of last season commended. John M. Donovan will again look after the duties of secretary and will handle the cash. Umpires will be appointed by President Stees.

Dickinson Candidates Train For Baseball

Carlisle, Feb. 19.—As a result of the first call for baseball candidates at Dickinson, thirty-five athletes are now at work.

Last season's infield, with the exception of Capt. Potter, who played first base, will be lost by graduation. The outfield is a matter of little concern to Coach Oyer, owing to the reporting of Moose, Scribner, Evans and Wilson from last year's 'Varsity, and in addition Coach Oyer expects to find a few men from the new candidates.

The pitching staff will have many recruits; Vaughn and Henken, from Altoona, have had experience in amateur baseball, while Ingram has announced his intention of joining the squad seeking mound honors. Goodhart and Potter remain from last season's pitching staff.

VALUE OF BALL PLAYER'S ARM

Philadelphia, Feb. 19.—A verdict for $6,350 was recovered yesterday by Joseph Hoffer, a former professional baseball player, against the Trenton, Bristol and Philadelphia Street Railway Co. Capt. in Judge Martin's court for injuries suffered when thrown from a car near Red Lion Inn. Hoffer had his left arm amputated. He was a member of the Trenton and Lancaster teams of the Tri-State as a pitcher, and general utility man.

FANS MAY OWN STOCK

New York, Feb. 19.—To arouse public interest and at the same time make the current season a success at Ebbetts' Field this summer, Charles H. Ebbetts, president of the Brooklyn Baseball Club, has decided to place $100,000 of preferred stock of the club on sale, thereby establishing a precedent among the major leagues.

Mr. Ebbetts says that the decision to allow the fans a "part of the profits of baseball" was reached at the result of many requests of many friends to buy into the club. He denies that the move was occasioned by financial stringency.

JACK DEAL CHANGES PLANS

Lancaster, Pa., Feb. 19.—Jack Deal, first baseman last season for the Wilkes-Barre New York State League team, announced to-day that he would sign in a day or two with the same team for the coming season. Deal was expected to organize a Tri-State team for Lancaster, but he says he was unable to do it for lack of financial encouragement. He has the promise of Manager Noonan of Wilkes-Barre, that if a team is organized later and Deal was wanted for manager he will release him. The chances are very small for Lancaster being in any league this season.

BRITISH CALLS OFF TENNIS

London, Feb. 19.—Announcement was made to-day by the British Amateur Golf Association that its championship matches for 1915 have been canceled. The event has been an annual feature for 25 years.

TECH HIGH TOSSERS ON FOUR-DAY TRIP

Play Reading and Then Go to Lehigh, Where They Will Be Guests Over Monday

The Tech high school basketball team has two important games on its schedule this week, playing Reading high school at Reading to-night, and Lehigh Scrubs at South Bethlehem Saturday afternoon. The latter game will be played between the halves of the Lehigh-Swarthmore interscholastic game.

Coach Percy L. Grub and the team have been invited to remain over Washington's birthday at the university. Monday they will witness the wrestling meet between Lehigh and State College.

Particular interest will center in this attraction for the local boys, because of the fact that "Bob" Good, one of Tech's star athletes of several years ago will compete in the 175-pound class. Monday night they will witness the basketball contest between Lafayette and Lehigh, on the latter's court.

Reasons Why Sheekard Opposes Billy Sunday

Jimmy Sheekard, a Cub outfielder whose home is in Columbia, is a great publicity man. Each week "Jim" pulls off something that will start people talking. Here is one of his latest. He tells why he opposes "Billy" Sunday: "I had a fine opportunity to buy a hotel down near my home in Pennsylvania. I talked the thing over with my wife and mother and they both objected because there was a bar in the hotel. I explained that it would be pretty hard to run a hotel at a profit without selling liquor and that I would not think of buying the place unless I had a chance to get its bar business, which was big. "After a couple of days of talking I managed to stifle their scruples against selling liquor. And the next day "Billy" Sunday came to town. My wife and my mother went to hear him, and that was the end of all my plans. To this day I haven't a hotel to my name."

Tech High Sprinters Train Hard Each Week

Ex-Captain Garland has a squad of Tech long distance runners practicing three days each week, in preparation for the opening of the track season in April. Those running are:

Garland, Moulitz, Lapkin, V. Snyder, McGinn, Weibley, Kay, Morgan and G. Miller. A call is expected to be made for candidates for the track team very soon by the coaches, Professors Hill and Pond.

LEBANON VALLEY LANDS BUCKNELL

Football Game Comes After Cancellation by Susquehanna University Anville, Pa., Feb. 19.—Manager Robert Hartz, of the football eleven of Lebanon Valley College has notified the executive board of athletics that he has secured a game with Bucknell University to be played at Lewisburg on Thanksgiving day. This is made possible by Susquehanna's football management cancelling a game with Lebanon Valley on that day.

The blue and white eleven meets Bucknell after an absence of two years from the gridiron. A surprise was created in athletic circles this afternoon when E. Schloberger, an Oberlin boy, defeated a field of five candidates for the fourth man to represent Lebanon Valley at the John Hopkins relay carnival on Saturday.

MONUMENT FOR FAMOUS HORSE

Reading, Pa., Feb. 19.—Henry W. Shoemaker, of New York city, has asked that the bones of Go Between, a famous running horse once owned by him, be dug up and sent to his farm near Jersey Shore, where a splendid monument will be placed over the horse's grave. Go Between was buried near Birdsboro after he dropped dead on the track at the Reading fair grounds in 1913. He won the Brooklyn suburban handicap in 1906.
