Makes Run to Philadelphia to See For Himself How the State Roads Are Kept Up

Governor Brumbaugh is inspecting highways in the State at first hand to-day. Accompanied by his private sec-retary, James S. Hiatt he left this morning for Philadelphia by automo-bile, planning to see how things are in winter time. The Governor will spend the week-end in Philadelphia and probably come here Monday afternoon. Monday is a holiday, but not for a governor, and he will go over legislation. It is expected that he will see some of the legisla-tors next week as a number will re-main here. The workmen's compensation act will be ready to put out about Tues-day and arrangements to get public sentiment on it will be taken.
