Many Make Reservations For Compensation Talk

Magnus W. Alexander, in charge of welfare work of the General Electric Company, Lynn, Mass., will address the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce upon "Workmen's Compensation Laws," at a luncheon meeting to be held at noon to-morrow at the Harrisburg Club. The Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce calls the attention of members to the fact that not only is the operator of an industry concerned with the operation of a workmen's compensation act; but the retail and wholesale merchant, the employer of office help and any other labor used in connection with the requirements of the law. Keen interest in the discussion of workmen's compensation laws by Mr. Alexander is being shown by the members of the chamber, a large number having already made reservations for the luncheon. The Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce has taken no formal action upon the desirability of any certain workmen's compensation act. Its purpose in having Mr. Alexander come here is to assist its members in complying with any act that may be passed. The essential features will be embodied in any act that may be made a Pennsylvania law.

MINISTER SUES FOR TREES Sunbury, Pa., Feb. 24.—The Rev. A. S. Birby, of near Fort Trevorton, an Evangelical clergyman, has brought suit against the Middlecreek Valley Telephone Company for damages. He alleges that the company tampered with his shade trees in order to string its wires and cut limbs away.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA! Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless. — Advertisement.

RAYMOND HITCHCOCK FUNNY AS EVER

Seen Last Night Before Good Sized Audience in Just Plain Musical Comedy

The American public has grown accustomed to the unusual, and they expect it, especially when it comes to the matter of the stage. But "The Beauty Shop," seen last night at the Majestic, failed to come up to the expectations of the audience in this respect. It was the wit of the imitably droll Raymond Hitchcock which alone lived up to this requirement and that saved the situation. For "The Beauty Shop" is obviously the stereotyped type of musical comedy of the old style. Nothing stood out above anything else, except Raymond Hitchcock, and of course, that was expected. Without him, the fate of "The Beauty Shop" might be very precarious. Speaking of the show, "there wasn't anything to the show." The name was a misnomer, and the action was so listless that it failed to keep the audience amused. There was some singing and dancing which compared favorably with any other musical comedy, but the real point of the show was the star it presented, and those who went just to hear his drolic remarks and to see his drolleries, they had not been disappointed. For that reason, he was more versatile than ever. He told all about himself, he gently "knocked" some of his associates, and he "jollied" the audience. Not least, confidentially told us that the next campaign would witness himself and Roosevelt as candidates on the same ticket.

There is one thing which has become so prevalent in the theatrical world that it is becoming obnoxious to Harrisburg audiences. And Raymond Hitchcock is but one of the vast number who have violated better nature and better judgment in the use of the names of the Diet upon the stage. And that stands on a level with the use of Bible quotations in the same connection. As the best proof of the repugnance of the audience to these uses stands the fact that not once did the comedian in drawing a laugh with them. A man can be very funny without such practices, and the sooner our entertainers take cognizance of this rapidly growing sentiment, the better it is going to be for their reputations.

For an added feature Thurston will offer "The Planets of a Parisian Studio," a weird dramatic playlet.—Advertisement.

ORPHEUM Even the critics of the various newspapers declare the Orpheum bill to be an excellent one, they say it is above the average, so there is nothing to be said. The Harrisburg Orpheum Company in their exquisite vocal production. That they will please music lovers is assured. Laughter, however, is the keynote of the bill. It reaches its height in the excellent George Ade comedy, "Speaking of the Fair," and that Milton Pollock and company are presenting. Another of the bill's very popular acts is the breezy and amusing flirtation skit presented by Harry and Eva Puck. This clever couple ranks among the best known in vaudeville, and even though few Orpheum patrons recall them since they were here before, it is only fair to say that they are one of the most popular teams on the bill. The Wille Brothers offer something new in the way of an equilibrium act. Their performance is easily the most wonderful and the most thrilling yet seen in Harrisburg.—Advertisement.

COLONIAL If you would enjoy your shopping tours, then do your shopping at the Colonial. This popular restaurant will again be in vogue at the Busy corner to-night, and many valuable offers are presented. It is distributed. Quite a few good comedy stunts have been concocted so that a night of fun and amusement is guaranteed. In addition to Country Store to-night witnesses the last performance of "Fun in Poppyland," the cleverest hit of the musical comedy. The Colonial has seen, Pretty girls, good comedians, tuneful songs and delightful scenery make this an irresistible concoction. Three other clever Keith hits make the Colonial's current show a worthy one.—Advertisement.

CHARLES CHAPLIN AT PHOTOPLAY Charles Chaplin, the guy that has the world laughing, comes to the Photo-play to-day in a single reel, Keystone comedy, "Twenty Minutes of Love." The little alone is enough to give you an idea of the twenty minutes it takes to run off the reel of film and with Chaplin in it with Love, you know the rest. "The Trapper's Revenge," with Edna Jones and Earl Metcalf in the lead, is our feature for the day. Hearst-Selig Weekly of Current Events and Slippers. Slim and Sophie appear in a Essany comedy to-morrow, Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "Thirteen Down," a two-act detective story in which Bushman excels as a tramp.—Advertisement.

Some interesting and instructive views of Canada will be shown by Professor W. H. Jacobs, city supervisor of schools, Friday evening at the regular session of the parent-teachers' association in the Calder building. Professor Jacobs made an extensive tour of the big country of the north, during which he took a number of splendid snapshots.

GOLDEN VOICED SINGER

AL. H. WILSON

Famous German Singing Comedian at Majestic Saturday.

Al. H. Wilson, the singing German dialect comedian, comes to the Majestic Saturday afternoon and evening, in a revival of "When Old New York Was Dutch," which is probably the best play ever provided for Mr. Wilson. As the central figure in the production, Mr. Wilson is constantly adding to his host of friends and patrons whose attendance upon such attractions in which he appears have already put the stamp of approval upon his starring efforts.—Advertisement.

Chorus Will Go to Hear Stough in Special Train

It is planned to return to Harrisburg immediately at the close of the service. More than 1,000 members and friends will probably go.

Watts to Lecture, — Shirley B. Watts will lecture on "The Telephone Girl" before the Men's League of Harris Street United Evangelical Church, to-morrow evening.

WORKING TO MAKE WARS IMPOSSIBLE

Principles of Movement Will Be Discussed at Peace Mass Meeting in Tech, March 6

Since the announcement by the Pennsylvania Arbitration Society of the peace mass meeting in the Technical high school auditorium on March 6 to be addressed by Dr. Alvin S. Johnson, professor of political economy at Cornell, members of the committee have heard on several occasions the question asked: "What good will a peace meeting do?"

The committee makes the following statement: "The meeting is not arranged or held with the idea of influencing an attempt to stop the great war. Sad as it is it must burn itself out in a passion of enmity and destruction. To stop the war, desirable as it might seem, would only mean the immediate preparation by the powers now engaged for a second war and an outpouring of untold wealth and an increase in the already intolerable burden of taxation. The meeting is held with an aim more possible of accomplishment than the stopping of the storm. Instead of crying to the mountaineers waves to cease rolling it is a part of the movement to build a breakwater at the harbor's mouth which will give the "ship of state" refuge from such future catastrophes.

There are three principles generally recognized among publicists and statesmen which if adopted would make future war on the present scale an impossibility. Until the present they would have been difficult of realization, but at the close of this war the people will be so sick of bloodshed, so burdened with debt, so desirous of peace that there will be an opportunity for wise counsel to supersede the military theorists whose plan of preserving the world's order by preparation to fight has so utterly and miserably broken down.

The three great principles are: "The establishment of a supreme court of the world." "The limitation of armament by agreement and the establishment of an international police force." "The nationalization of the manufacture of the implements of war and the prohibition of such manufacturing by private interests."

"That these three principles inculcated into international law would preserve the peace of the world may readily be seen. "First, the adoption by the nations of a court of justice to be the Supreme Court of the World before which all differences should be taken would fix in men's minds the fact that a nation could protect its rights through law and gain justice, the only principle upon which governments can rest without resort to violence."

"Second, the limitation of armament and navies to a size no larger than necessary to maintain domestic tranquility would remove the cause of a neighbor's strength. The maintenance of a police force by the nations jointly would discourage any militarily inclined government from attempting rivalry because the relative resources would be beyond comparison. With justice possible, safety from aggression guaranteed, and a police force to bring to justice any violator of international law so that it would be unnecessary for nations to be prepared

Baby of Future is Considered

Much thought has been given in late years to the subject of maternity. In the cities there are maternity hospitals equipped with modern methods. But most women prefer their own homes and in the towns and villages most prefer the nervous system. Such helps as "Mother's Friend" and the broader knowledge of them should have a helpful influence upon babies of the future. Science says that an infant derives its sense and builds its character from cutaneous impressions. And a tranquil mother certainly will transmit a more healthful influence than if she is extremely nervous from undue pain. This is what a host of women believe who used "Mother's Friend."

These points are more thoroughly explained in a little book mailed free. "Mother's Friend" is sold in all drug stores. Write for book. Bradford Regulator Co., 431 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.
