COMMITTEE TO ACT

Wigfield's Measure Aims to Increase Efficiency of Police Force Without Extra Expense

Unsuccessful in two former attempts to end her life, Mrs. Ambrose Nitrauer, 44 years old, was found hanging from the rafters of the garret in her home at Deodade, about five and a half miles from Middletown, by her husband last evening.

The police committee consists of T. J. Nelly, chairman, E. C. Henderson and Albert Sellers. It is in the hands of these three men to decide whether or not the burgess' plan for increasing the efficiency of the police force shall ever be put into effect.

Just what action the police committee will take on the plan is a matter of conjecture. Their meeting Friday evening, however, is significant in view of recent developments.

The plan was placed in the hands of the committee at the January meeting of council, but the committee so far has taken no action.

By the Wigfield plan members of the fire patrol will be made special constables in the regular force. This, the burgess asserts, will give the borough better police protection at practically no additional cost.

P. O. TRAINMEN MUST REPORT ROUGH RIDING

Instructions Call For Close Attention to Unnecessary Jolting on Trains

In order to prevent accidents, passenger trainmen on the Pennsylvania Railroad have been made inspectors. They have been instructed to report all roughness in handling trains, air-brake failures and other needed repairs.

Should the passengers be thrown about roughly by reason of failure of the air-brake to work properly, or coupling pull out, notice must be given at once to the engineer. They are to report conditions as they find them in walking from one car to another. If the vestibules are not properly closed or protected, report must be made. It is proposed to put an end to the unnecessary jolting of cars. It is the belief of passenger trainmasters that these annoyances can be eliminated by a hearty co-operation on the part of trainmen.
