Rumania Ready to Enter War on Side of Great Britain, France and Russia; Germans Are Being Steadily Pushed Back, According to Reports From Northern Poland; Austrians Suffer Reverses in Eastern Galicia; Turkish Forces Preparing to Oppose Attempts of Landing Parties to Advance on Constantinople

The Rumanian minister of the interior is credited with the statement that a representative of his country has made a formal agreement with Great Britain, France and Russia for entering the war with them. Bucharest advices say that ten classes of Rumanian reserves have been called out for March 13. It has been expected that should Rumania enter the war she would do so in the hope of enlarging her territory at the expense of Austria and with the particular object of obtaining Transylvania, which is populated largely by Rumanians.

A semiofficial statement from Petrograd deals with the Russian offensive movement in Northern Poland, near the Prussian border, where, it is said, the Germans are being pushed back steadily. The fighting in this region is severe, possession of villages passing back and forth from one side to the other, but app fiable progress each day is claimed for the Russians. In Eastern Galicia, at the other extreme of the Russian front, the Austrias are reported to have suffered reverses. These claims, however, have not been borne out from either Berlin or Vienna.

The great Anglo-French fleet is still smashing at the Dardanelles fortifications. Although Constantinople admits that some of the forts have felt the effects of the bombardment, it has not confirmed the statements of the British admiralty concerning the reduction of the outer defenses. A large force of Turkish troops is said to have been assembled on the isthmus to oppose any attempts of landing parties to advance on Constantinople.

Launch New Assault

A new attempt to force back the German line in France apparently is under way, in the Champagne region, and although no definite results have been achieved, a battle of considerable importance is developing. Attacks of the allies along this section of the front have been proceeding tentatively for several days but the communication from the German war office to-day indicates that an assault in force has now been launched. It is said that at least two army corps of French
