doned and while the President worked both houses marked 'time for the hands of the clock to touch 12 noon.

The search of the calendars disclosed occasional signs of life among the many bills and resolutions reposing there and from time to time messengers burdened with those that had passed one house tramped through the corridors of the Capitol to report the fact to the other. Virtually all of these were private claim bills or measures of a purely local nature.

Sent Over to "Graveyard"

As the roll of the more important bills was called requests of "Let it go over" from the floor sent them one by one into the legislative graveyard. They must be reintroduced if they are to be renewed in the Sixty-fourth Congress.

Congress.

In the gallerles a few of the faithful lingered through the night, some, perhaps, held by personal interests in this or that bill and hoping for an eleventh hour miracle; others kept out of their beds by curiosity alone. Crowded galleries are the rule in the last hours of any Congress and every seat among the spectators' benches was filled until a late hour last night. The crowds began to return early to-day, hoping for some unusual development to reward their patience.

for some unusual development to re-ward their patience.

At 3.45 A. M. the Senate entered into a unanimous consent agreement to consider nothing except the confer-ence reports on the Indian and post office appropriations. The Indian bill was then taken up and all but a few senators left the chamber to catch a short nan

Tribute to Clark

A tribute to Speaker Clark was led by Republican Leader Mann, who eulogized the "able and loved speaker" and presented a resolution thanking him for his services. It was passed as the House rose to its feet with a tomult of applause and cheering. When it subsided the Speaker said:

"The multiplicity of honors and kindnesses that this House has heaped on me goes straight to my heart."

It is the function of the kidneys to five impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all overties and the skin in the form of pimples.

The surrest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, its to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood and is excellent for the kidneys as well.—Advertisement.
