UPPER END CUEISTS IN POOL TOURNAMENT

Three Teams From Millersburg and Lykens Battle For Championship Table Honors

Special to The Telegraph
 Millersburg, Pa., March 5.—Both Millersburg and Lykens are all agog over the return pool match between the cue handlers of the two towns for the interborough championship which is to be played next week. Millersburg drew first blood by easily whaling the Lykens players at Millersburg by a score of 285 to 252.

Three two-men teams from each place contested for honors at the match in Millersburg Wednesday night and the results were as follows:

Newbold and Newbaum, Millersburg, defeated Schreffler and Motter, Lykens, score 100 to 55.

Fry and Ludes, Millersburg, lost to Budd and Nutt, Lykens, 85 to 100.

Chubb and Brown, Millersburg, defeated Spinck and Werner, Lykens, 100 to 94.

Pitcher Jim Shaw Has Another New Puzzler

Special to The Telegraph
 Charlottesville, Va., March 5.—Jim Shaw has a brand-new ball which is calculated to stand the American League hitters on their heads this summer. Shaw calls it "the wrinkle ball."

Shaw's one fault last season was a tendency to issue free passes by handing up too many balls head high, and in order to break him of this fault Jack Ryan to-day gave him a few pointers on how to break the habit. Jim was forced to change his style a trifle, shooting the pill from a half-crouching position, but he made fine progress, and when the ball reached the batter it gave a weird shoot.

"That's a new wrinkle on me," said Ryan after handling Shaw's latest improved delivery.

"Let's call it the wrinkle ball," said the big pitcher.

"All right," answered Ryan. "That settles it."

CENTRAL TO MEET TECH HIGH T ONIGHT

Central and Tech will clash for the first of the series of games for city scholastic basketball honors to-night at the Chestnut Street Hall. Both teams will put strong fives on the floor. The Central team is slightly the favorite because of several individual stars in the line-up. The team that has represented the Central students this season is seen above.

Bits of Sports

The Lebanon Valley College girls' varsity will play the Hasset girls' five to-night in Cathedral hall at 8 o'clock. Between halves the Hasset Girls' Arrows will meet the Hershey Club Juniors.

The Regulars defeated the Yankees in the P. R. R. Drafting Room in the Casino alleys last evening, winning all three games by a total margin of 284 pins.

The Orpheums won two of the three games over the Alphas last evening in the Casino alleys, making the match by a margin of 32 pins.

The Federals ran away with the Barons after the first game in their match in the P. R. R. Y. M. C. A. league, winning by a margin of 245 pins. Mendenhall had high game honors with a total of 578 pins.

The Holtzman All-Stars will play the Hanover Metropolitans to-morrow evening in the Holtzman alleys. This is the second match of a series between the two teams. The first match was won by the local team.

Fertig defeated Cummings, score 100 to 58, in the final rounds of the Holtzman handicap billiard tournament last night. Several hundred spectators were present.

DEFEAT SOPHS

Annyville, Pa., March 5.—Before a crowd of 300 students, the Freshmen basketball team of Lebanon Valley college defeated the Sophomore five last evening in the fastest and most exciting game of the interclass series by the score of 21 to 16. The first year men thereby win the championship of the school. The girls' varsity team won from the All-Stars by the score of 34 to 8.

HAGERSTOWN TO HAVE NINE

Hagerstown, Md., March 5.—That Hagerstown will be represented in the newly-organized Blue Ridge Baseball League, which embraces Chambersburg and Waynesboro, is assured by the statement of Charles W. Boyer, president of the league, who stated yesterday that there will be a team here if he has to organize one himself.

OLD PARTNERS MEET; HAVE FANNING FEST

George Cockill and Bill Coughlin Hand Out Great Conversation at Scranton

Umpire George Cockill and former Harrisburg manager was a visitor in Scranton the other day. While there he called on his former partner, Bill Coughlin. The conversation that followed the meeting of these two old cronies was a regular old-time fanning fest. The Scranton News has the following to say about this meeting:

"George Cockill, former Albany first sacker, erstwhile manager of the Harrisburg Tri-State team and more recently elected an umpire in the National League, dropped off yesterday to pay a visit to Bill Coughlin, his old-time friend and teammate. The two veterans of the diamond went to the mat in a handshake that fairly emitted sparks in the lobby of Hotel Casey, and after they had each told one another how well he was looking they slowly sauntered directly south by southeast and sat down at a mission wood table and pushed the luffon.

Tall Ebony Man Takes the Order

"A tall ebony gentleman took their order and then they fell to. Cockill said that he just dropped off to tell Bill that Charlie Miller, the catcher he bought from the Harrisburg team, was going to be the best catcher in the State league. Bill asked George if he couldn't think of anything else, and George said yes, there were a couple of good ball players whom he thought he could land for Coughlin, and Bill told him to go to it so fast that if anybody would wink they'd miss him.

"Bill and George talked to each other pro and con—mostly con—for nigh more than an hour and when the chatter was over the Miner boss had pretty good assurance that he would have a few young ball players along later in the Spring that would be worth trying out. Cockill told Bill that he was more than glad that he had been given another chance to boss the local team. The new big league ump is one of the strongest rooters for Bill. It was Coughlin that was mainly responsible for a lot of the success attained in the minors by Cockill and George is not ungrateful. In his new berth in the big league he will be in an ideal position to tip off the local leader to any desirable young material that might be on the market, and what's more he has given Coughlin his word that he will do it."

C. G. K. Billings Sells Trotting Yearlings

Special to The Telegraph
 New York, March 5.—C. G. K. Billings has introduced a departure in selling trotting yearlings in sales here and horsemen are so well satisfied with the idea that it is expected it will be adopted. In disposing of a string of nine colts and fillies from his James River, Va., breeding station Mr. Billings had them led to the ring by halter and sold them on breeding, appearance and size only, instead of showing them for speed and action, led by a trotting pony. Running yearlings are sold standing stock still and it is expected trotting youngsters will be disposed of the same way hereafter.

Delegations of Students Attend Player's Funeral

Special to The Telegraph
 Wilmington, Del., March 5.—With hundreds of people in attendance, Robert T. Layfield, quarterback of Johns Hopkins football team and son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Layfield, of this city, whose neck was broken in a game with Lehigh at Bethlehem, was buried yesterday afternoon in Wilmington and Brandywine Cemetery.

Among those in attendance at the services was a delegation of students from Johns Hopkins, headed by President Frank Johnson, Goodnow, a delegation from Lehigh, against whose team the young man was playing when he received his fatal injury, and the students of the 'Friends' School in this city, from which he was graduated last year.
