Bomberger Held For Trial in Bucks County

The Doylestown Democrat of March 3 contains the following: "H. S. Bomberger, of Palmyra, Pa., promoter of the Pennsylvania State Cattlemen's Protective Association, was held for trial in the Bucks county criminal court by Justice of the Peace Charles R. Nightingale, of Doylestown, following a hearing on Wednesday morning, upon charges of obtaining money under false pretense. At the hearing were George K. Derry, of Kimberlton, Chester county, Pa., the alleged president of Bomberger's association; S. T. Wimmer, of Union Deposit, Pa., whose name is upon the association stationery as vice-president; Dr. W. S. Gimper, of the Pennsylvania State Livestock Sanitary Board, and H. S. Reinhold, of Lancaster, Pa., secretary of the Pennsylvania State Holstein-Friesian Association. This was Bomberger's second hearing before Justice Nightingale. He was previously arraigned on February 19, when the Bedminster and Plumstead township farmers from whom he collected money testified against him."

BUG QUESTION IN COURT

Equity Suit Brought to Compel Felling of Old Tree. Special to The Telegraph. Sunbury, Pa., March 9.—George Oyster in court yesterday sought to have Mrs. Mary Levy cut down a large willow tree, a landmark, which stood for over a century. She refused, claiming that there is no law which can make her cut down a tree standing on her own premises. Oyster is one of several neighbors who have been complaining for several years that the tree is so full of bugs and insects that they come into the home, onto the porches, get into the food that is eaten and the air is so alive with them in summer time that they cannot stay outdoors.
