WHY ONE MAN KNELT IN STREET TO PRAY

[Continued from First Page.] spite his frantic efforts to do so. This is the story as Nick Kelley tells it.

Tsurkigkos had been living with friends in Canton, but had been sent to New York to take a boat for his own home in Greece. He has a family of several small children near Athens. That John could speak no English was not considered an obstacle to his safe journey because he was provided with a proper ticket and tag stating his destination. At Pittsburgh, however, he missed connections and wandered about there helpless until taken in hand and fed for a few days by some Romanians. Then they sent him on his way again.

Wanders in Mountains

The traveler got as far as Harrisburg, his clothes heavy and wet, and with fright at his condition; he started to walk westwardly.

Somewhere in the mountains near Rockville he became lost and wandered about for days. The story of that vain effort to find his way home isn't exactly nice, according to Nick Kelley's story. John Tsurkigkos wandered about in the snow and for food dug up the fallen, half-rotted apples from under the snow.

When he got back to Harrisburg he was ragged, unshaven, unkempt, his feet frozen, hungry and nearly mad. Nobody could understand him; folks laughed and thought him crazy.

It was at Third and Walnut streets that Kelley met Nick Kelley. The pretty girl awaiting a car was half frightened out of her wits when John moaning something she couldn't understand, dropped on his knees before her and raised his clasped hands in supplication.

The Prayer of Tsurkigkos A policeman was immediately at hand and with a crowd following, John was hustled to jail. Efforts to have a lunacy commission appointed failed because Warden Caldwell thought the case ought to be further investigated. He tried even to have an interpreter, but he could think, Macedonian, Bulgarian, Servian, German, Russian—but John couldn't make himself understood. Finally someone suggested Nick Kelley. And Nick Kelley explained the story in such a thorough way that John was helped home.

"But why did he kneel before the girl in the street?" Nick Kelley was asked. "Why," said Nick Kelley, "my friend, John, had had nothing to eat, he said, for four days and he was nearly dead with hunger. The lady was well dressed and John thought her rich. And when he knelt—he was praying for food!"

"The Thinkers of the Country Are the Tobacco Chewers" said one of the greatest thinkers this country ever produced.

Says the Pilot:

"Nosing a big stern wheeler along a muddy river with sand-bars reaching up to grab her—that's when you need real steadiness. When there's nothing but your judgment between your boat and a shoal, take a chew of PICNIC TWIST."

In every convenient twist of PICNIC you'll find the true tobacco uplift without the letdown that comes from dark, heavy, rank tobacco. PICNIC TWIST is a light colored, soft twist of the mild, mellow parts of the leaf.

Men accustomed to "strong" tobacco will be surprised how much they can chew of this mellow twist with its sweet, lasting taste.

CARRANZA SENDS HIS REPLY TO PRESIDENT

Constitutionalist Chief Pledges Himself to Protect Foreigners in Mexico

By Associated Press. Vera Cruz, March 11.—General Venustiano Carranza in answer to the protest addressed to him by Secretary of State Bryan through United States Consul Silliman regarding conditions in the city of Mexico last night addressed a reply to President Wilson personally. He denies the responsibility of the Constitutionalists for a situation which is considered alarming for foreigners, but expresses the hope that Americans and citizens of other countries will lose no time in departing from Mexico until tranquillity shall be restored.

The following is the text of General Carranza's reply: "Although the note could be left unanswered owing to the terms in which it is worded, I wish to bring the question to the personal attention of President Wilson.

"Oregon has never intended to incite the hungry populace of Mexico to commit outrages of any character; he has no interest in any way in the entrance of food or supplies, but has, on the contrary, facilitated the same.

A WINTER TONIC

Why is it that some people keep well all winter while others, less exposed to cold and damp, suffer with colds, grip, pleurisy, pneumonia and all the ills of the season?

Thin blood and debility are the causes of much sickness in winter. When the blood is thin and there is oxygen starvation in the tissues of the body, poisons are retained that should be eliminated and there is a lowered resistance to disease. Rheumatism disappears when the blood is built up and does not return if the blood is kept rich. The after-effects of grip are never cured until the blood is built up. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the blood and enable it to carry more oxygen, to nourish the starved tissues in debility, to soothe the inflamed membranes in rheumatism, to quiet the nerves in neuralgia and sciatica and to expel the lingering germs after the fever and influenza of grip have passed. All winter Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be in every house, ready for use. You can get them now at the nearest drug store.

This Frees Your Skin From Hair or Fuzz

(Toilet Tips)

The method here suggested for the removal of superfluous hair is quick, and certain unless the growth is extremely stubborn, a single application does the work. Make a stiff paste with some powdered deLorone and water; apply this to the hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub it off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To avoid disappointment, be sure your druggist sells you deLorone.—Advertisement.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, 211A Marcellus Avenue, Manassas, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Advertisement.

What Are Ashes?

Ashes are the "Mineral Impurities" like bone, slate, iron and lime, that are left after burning coal.

Ashes with a large amount of "Iron and Lime" are easily melted together and are likely to "Clinker" badly in a furnace.

It is important when buying coal to see that you get coal that has a minimum amount of "Mineral Impurities."

You know coal is not all alike, there are more than 300 Anthracite Mines in this state so that a dealer must understand his business to secure the kind that will give the best results.

We recommend our Wilkes-Barre coal to be as free from impurities as it is possible to get coal. No coal is absolutely pure.
