I Brady Caveny, and George W. Giede, foreman, Fourth ward, city.

Only two cases occupied President Judge Kunkel and Additional Law Judge Kunkel and Lillian Headings, two pretty sisters, who had been employed as maids at the homes of two adjoining residences on Allison Hill.

The results of the prosecution, worked a little close corporation scheme, Edythe being accused of stealing the articles and handing them across the fence to Lillian to hide. Roundsman James McCann, of the police department, corraled the pair.

In No. 2 room, Louis Stanton and Rena Hammond were tried on a brewer's delivery dray in Steelton. The keg was the last of a number the drayman had delivered and the pair, it was charged, coolly went up to the wargon and lifted the barrel to the street and carried it off. The jury went out with the case just be fore the noon adjournment.

Jacob Sweeney was put on trial, charged with obtaining a quantity of meat and failing to pay for it. The bill amounted, it was charged, to $75.
