STATE TROOPER AIDS IN SOLVING MYSTERY

He always appeared in the best of spirits and the fact that he had recently announced himself as a candidate for county treasurer seems to assure many that he did not take his own life.

District Attorney Rice declared today that he would use every means at his disposal to solve the perplexing question and that if murder was actually committed he will have every clue run down in an effort to punish the guilty.

Information Kept Secret It is believed here that the district attorney has some information which he is not willing to make public at the present time. It is stated that in asking for the assistance of the State Police, the county official intimated that the house had been set afire. This, however, the district attorney was not willing to confirm.

Perry county has no county detectives and because of the many mysterious points surrounding the tragedy, the assistance of the State Police instead of the county constables was requested. The request was sent to the police headquarters at Harrisburg and Trooper Davies was dispatched from the Pottsville barracks. He is fully acquainted with the country roundabout the scene of the tragedy and is an investigator. He has worked successfully on a number of other cases in the county.

As yet no plans have been made for an inquest on the charred body of Bixler. For readers' information, John W. Showers, of Sandy Hill, will likely conduct the hearing when the district attorney secures sufficient information.

Union Tire Received 977 Punctures at Show

The Union Sales Company closed its guessing contest at the Arena automobile show with 977 holes punctured in the tire and self-sealing tube. This attracted a great deal of attention and was free to all wishing to guess what the total would be at the end of the week. C. M. Morrison, of South Seventeenth street, guessed the correct number, having 978. His prize will be a Union self-sealing tube. The tire retained 75 pounds of air even though punctured like a sieve.

DICTIONARY EXPURGATED

Obscene Words, Deemed Unnecessary in Speech, Left Out of Book

Great interest already is being shown in this paper's offer of The New Universities Dictionary exclusively to its readers. At the book display hundreds of readers have expressed their intention to clip the three coupons and get a copy of the dictionary. Undoubtedly thousands will be distributed the first day.

As a home dictionary The New Universities is far ahead of all others. It is the first and only dictionary from which coarse, obscene, vulgar and offensive words have been eliminated. Filth in speech, the editors decided, was as bad as polluted food and, being unnecessary, should be left out of this work. Words that should be left out of speech and writing certainly ought to be kept out of the home and office, so in compiling this book the publishers made it clean. It was this attribute, together with its being absolutely new and authoritative, that made this paper select it for its readers.

SUCCESSFUL RECITAL OF NEWELL ALBRIGHT

Musical Event of the Season Attracts Large and Enthusiastic Audience

Easily the most notable and interesting piano recital—indeed, one is tempted to say concert—of the season thus far was that given last night in Fahnestock Hall by Newell Albright. Mr. Albright has never before shown such a virtuosity, such a command of bravura, as in this "Arabesque."

One is indeed to be congratulated when he can recognize as enthusiastically as was done last night that a musician may meet with honor "in his own country." There was unequivocal evidence of it in the reception accorded his numbers.
