The Governor said that he invited the judge to come here and talk over the situation, but did not take any action. The Governor remarked that it was the first time he had ever met the judge, who was one of his rivals for the governorship. The Governor said he would like to name a successor to Judge Robert N. Willson, of Philadelphia, who retired yesterday.

A number of amendments have been prepared.

Away for Exeter.—Governor Brumbaugh will spend Easter Sunday in Philadelphia. He will work on bills before him to-night and leave for Philadelphia some time to-morrow.

HUCKSTERS TO USE INDIVIDUAL TAGS

City Council Soon to Consider Ordinance Providing For Proper Identification of Vendors

Individual badges properly numbered and recorded for identification purposes will be required for all hucksters and street vendors who peddle from house to house if an ordinance which City Seal Harry D. Keel is advocating is approved by city council.

Seal Keel declared to-day that he is preparing data on the subject for the ordinance which he will ask for presentation in the near future. If the regulation is adopted he says the sealer's department will be able to further protect the housewife from the fraudulent huckster who may use a measure not up to standard in selling his products and whose identity under present circumstances cannot be ascertained.

The city's license regulations require any dealer who operates wagons to take out a license. The tag must be displayed on the wagon. Many hucksters however do business on their own responsibility by buying and selling goods on commission. Should any one of them use fake measure in making the sales, the housewife is unable to make anything like an authentic report to the sealer unless she can recall the man's description. This naturally is faulty. If, however, the huckster is required to make a prominent display of this license tag, his number can readily be obtained at a glance. The license tags will be issued by the city treasurer's office just like the license tags for the regular record of the number will be kept.

KING TO GIVE UP ALL ALCOHOLIC LIQUORS

George Willing to Set Example For His Countrymen in England

London, April 1, 12.25 P. M.—The war on alcohol, an outcome of the labor situation in Great Britain, has definitely taken precedence over the much-talked-of "Spring advance of the allies in the west," the reason being that the problem of munitions has become more pressing than that of recruiting.

The pronouncements of cabinet leaders and the letter of King George on the question of temperance are intended to pave the way and sound public sentiment preparatory to either shutting off absolutely the saloon drink throughout the country, except on physicians' prescriptions, or the adoption of some measure which, while perhaps not called absolute prohibition, will have almost as drastic an effect. War Secretary Kitchener has announced that no alcoholic beverages will be served in his household for the duration of the war.

The following letter has been sent to David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, by Lord Stamfordham, King George's private secretary: Buckingham Palace, March 30, 1915. The King thanks you for so promptly letting him have a full report of the proceedings at yesterday's meeting of the deputation of employers. His Majesty has read it with intense interest, but also with the deepest concern. He feels that nothing of more vital importance to the country's most vigorous measures will successfully cope with the grave situation now existing in our armament factories.

We have before us the statements, not merely of the employers, but of the admiralty and the war office, which are responsible for munitions of war and for the transport of troops and their food and ammunition. From this evidence it is without doubt largely due to drink that we are unable to secure the output of war material indispensable to meet the requirements of the army in the field, and that there has been such serious delay in consequence of their plans for the procurement of supplies to aid our gallant troops at the front.

A continuance of such a state of things must inevitably result in the protraction of the horrors and burdens of this terrible war. I am instructed to add that, if it be deemed advisable, the King will be prepared to set an example by giving up all alcoholic liquor himself and by issuing orders against its consumption in the royal household so that no difference shall be made, so far as his Majesty is concerned. STAMFORDHAM.

To End Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal remedy that in many instances has brought complete relief after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The remedy can be prepared at home, and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmit (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat, are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.—Advertisement.
