

Ten Men's Weight

The HUDSON Light Six weighs 2,870 pounds, ready for the road. Sixes used to average about 4,500 pounds.

The saving is ten men's weight. The saving in upkeep, tire wear and fuel is at least 50 per cent.

That's why the HUDSON brought Light Sixes into vogue. It proved that lightness could be combined with strength. Every pound removed was a crudity. Better materials and better designing saved you that ten men's weight. And Howard E. Coffin, our famous designer, did it.

Still the Lightest

Now Light Sixes dominate the class car field. And the HUDSON—the original—dominates Light

That is because we created the type. And our whole engineering corps has worked for four years on this model. The result shows in a hundred refine-

It is because the HUDSON is still the lightest Light Six which seats seven. Most of its rivals weigh 400 to 600 pounds more. That also proves our ultra-refinement.

Then this HUDSON has been proved out by more than 10,000 owners. Half of them bought our first model, and they have run the cars for two seasons. These 10,000 owners have probably driven 25 million miles.

So the HUDSON is known to be right. Not a fault has developed. Any of these owners, here or elsewhere, will pronounce this the ideal car.

Others may also be right. No mistakes may develop. But this is the one Light Six which has amply proved itself right.

Those are the reasons why men who know are bound to choose the HUDSON But another attraction is the perfect HUDSON service. We will tell you about it when you come to see the car. The rush season is upon us.
