

Good Health Doubles the Value of Your Services

A half sick man is not worth half pay. A man or woman kindly given health, makes a poor leader, a poor sort of a parent.

The value of Peruna in the home can scarcely be estimated. It prevents many of the common ailments. It is an excellent remedy for coughs, colds, catarrh, griping, fever, tired-out feeling.

Sit down and think it over. See whether you can afford to go on half sick.

Some people prefer Peruna Tablets to the fluid Peruna.

Most Attractive Program For Old Folks' Concert

A large and fashionable audience crowded the Technical High school auditorium last evening for the Old Folks Concert given as a benefit for the Society Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The antique stage settings and the quaint costumes of the performers made a pretty picture and everyone was glad to loan their old costumes and jewels for the event. The birch bark cornucopias filled with ferns adorning the walls and bright hued azaleas were kindly given by Utley, and the old melodions, Martha Washington sewing machines and pianoforte were all from friends of the association.

Those participating in the program were: Mrs. Roy G. Cox, Mrs. Wilbur F. Harris, Mrs. William Brumbaugh, Mrs. William E. Friedman, Mrs. Hugh Hentler, Mrs. G. Douglas, Mrs. Miss Belle Midaugh, Dr. Ruth A. Deeter, Miss Catherine Heicher, Miss Mary E. Seaman, Miss Margaretta Fleming, Miss Martha Fleming, Miss Emily Bailey, Miss Elizabeth Bailey, Miss Frances Bailey, Miss Virginia King, Miss Helen Hammond, Miss Margaret Stackpole, Miss Sarah Hastings, Miss Constance Ferriday, Miss Mary Meyers, Miss Dora Coe, Miss Elinor Clark, Miss Sarah Denehy, Miss Margaret McClain, Miss Julia Stamm, Miss Katharine Eiter, Miss Frances Morrison, Miss Elinor Darlington, Miss Janet Sawyer, Miss Alice Wallis, Miss Mary Kathryn Jackson; accompanists, Miss Ruth Conkling, Miss Mary Robinson; Sherman A. Allen, Enri D. Rhoads, Ralph E. Steever, G. Douglas Andrews, Dr. Byron S. Behney, Christian L. Seibert, George W. Darby, Jerome M. Hamilton, Vance C. McCormick, Henry B. Bent, Henry A. Kolker, Jr., Dr. John C. Reed, Anthony Geyelin, George E. Sutton, Carl E. Ely, R. Boone Abbott, James Y. Sieg, Jasper N. Deeter, Jr., Nevin R. Seltzer, Dr. George R. Moffitt, Henry M. Gross, John Erickson, Samuel W. Wittenmyer, Dr. John J. Moffitt, Gwilym Watkins, Theodore B. Seely, Clarence H. Sigler, Albert Stackpole, Edward Stackpole, Jane Hickok, Gertrude Olmsted, Elizabeth Brandt, Jean Davis, Eliza Bailey, Claire Reynolds, Dorothy Cox.

BUCHER AND "500" PARTY FOR SACRED HEART CHURCH
A eucher and five hundred party for the benefit of Sacred Heart Church will be held in Winterville Hall tomorrow evening. Playing will begin at 8.30 and continue until 10 o'clock. More than 100 prizes will be offered. Dancing will follow the games. Morgan's orchestra will furnish music from 10 o'clock until midnight.

FULL DRESS DANCE
The social committee of Harrisburg B. P. O. E. is giving the last dance of the season this evening at their home in North Second street. It will be a full dress event and promises to be a brilliant one. The Updgrove Orchestra is playing and a large attendance is expected.

NEW ENGINEER ON JOB
William D. Uhler, the new chief engineer of the State Highway department, arrived here today and took up the duties of his office.

ROTARY CLUB TO MEET
The Rotary Club will meet to-night at 7 o'clock, at the plant of the Harrisburg Bag and Box Company, 1550-1552 Vernon street. S. P. Eby will be host.

Personal Social

Will Sing "Ave Maria" With Violin Obligato

Final preparation for the big concert to be given Thursday evening of this week in the Chestnut Street Auditorium, by Maud Powell, the distinguished violinist, and Ewan Williams, America's greatest concert tenor, is completed.

This concert has aroused a great deal of enthusiasm among the musical devotees of this section, due to the tremendous popularity and drawing powers of these two eminent artists. There are no two better known nor more pleasing Victor record producers in the Red Seal class of the Victor Company.

An interesting program has been arranged, one that is sure to please every taste, and for the final number Mr. Williams will sing Gounod's "Ave Maria" with violin obligato by Madam Powell.

THE WILSON COLLEGE CLUB HOLDS A CARD MATINEE

Forty ladies attended the card matinee held yesterday at the residence of Mrs. Howard R. Omwake, Riverside, for the benefit of the Wilson College Club of Central Pennsylvania, which is working for a large endowment fund.

Spring flowers and the college colors of blue and silver predominated in the decorations and Wilson college seals were given as prizes to the winners of games of bridge and five hundred. Tea was served with Mrs. Arthur E. Brown presiding over the tea-cups and Mrs. William Bennett, president of the club, pouring chocolate. Assisting were Mrs. Omwake, Mrs. Frank McCarrell, Mrs. Paul Chadwick, Miss Pearl Walter and Miss Ruth Baker.

RETURNS TO LEBANON

Miss Florence Keypley, of Lebanon, who has been visiting Mrs. Rodenhiser at 1619 Chestnut street, returned home yesterday. Miss Keypley possesses a beautiful soprano voice while her singing in the Curtin Heights Methodist Sunday school to the delight of all who heard her.

ENTERTAINED GLASS

The monthly meeting of class No. 23 taught by Mrs. Paul Machen, of the Stevens Memorial Methodist Church was held at the home of Mrs. Ross E. Pennell, 1841 Whitehall street, last evening.

Refreshments were served to Miss Lillian Edwards, Miss Grace Lutz, Miss Ivy Lypton, Miss Mary McAllister, Miss Mary Washburn, Miss Gretna Esslinger, Miss Helen Wharton, Mrs. Freu Weaver.

The next meeting will be held the first Monday of May at the home of Miss Lillian Edwards, State street.

BAKER-ECKERT BRIDAL

Miss Margaret E. Eckert, of 537 Woodbine street and J. Leroy Baker, of 1521 Regina street, were married by the Rev. E. K. Thomas, at Hagerstown, Md., Friday, March 26, the birthday of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Baker will make their home in this city.

VOLUNTEER WORKERS

J. Horace McFarland Will Address Training Class at the Y. W. C. A.
J. Horace McFarland, widely known as interested in all things pertaining to civic improvement, will speak at the Young Women's Christian Association on Wednesday afternoon, April 7, at 3 o'clock. This will be the fourth lecture delivered before the training class for volunteer workers. The interest and attendance has been very gratifying and all interested are invited to hear Mr. McFarland on Wednesday afternoon.

ROTARY CLUB TO MEET

The Rotary Club will meet to-night at 7 o'clock, at the plant of the Harrisburg Bag and Box Company, 1550-1552 Vernon street. S. P. Eby will be host.

IS HE A FIGHTER?

GOVERNOR BRUMBAUGH

LOCAL OPTIONISTS HERE BY THOUSANDS

[Continued from First Page.]

Street auditorium, Harrisburg's greatest hall, was filled—and the special train bearing the hundred from Philadelphia had not yet pulled into Pennsylvania capital. Scores who crowded to the doors of the big hall had a look and decided to take a chance with the overflow meeting. Before the big meeting in the auditorium got under way, big crowds had gathered for the overflow sessions in front of the courthouse and on the steps of the Capitol.

While the great crowd was awaiting the opening of the session the hundreds sang good naturedly put in the time with songs and yell. Every delegation had its yell; every group its song. Erie started the ball a-rolling.

Over in the west side of the hall a six-footer rose in his chair, swinging his arms in approved cheer, leader style, and—

"E-r-i-e—Erie," shook the rafters. "We're from South Bethlehem!" sang out another voice from deep center.

"Yes?" came the chorus from the back of the room.

"And we need no yell!" came a lusty response from a score of throats.

"Pittsburgh! Pittsburgh!" howled a delegation from the stage.

Then a motherly-looking delegate in a brand new Spring hat started a shrill cheer. It ended up with—"W. C. T. U.!"

Calls and cheers for J. Denny O'Neil were greeted with heers and applause. Westmoreland, Franklin and a dozen other counties boosted the battles for local option.

Big Choir Massed

Upon the platform the pick of the singers of the big audience, choir leaders and local songsters from all over Pennsylvania were massed under the leadership of J. F. Jones, McKeesport, enlivened the opening with songs. Just at 10 o'clock the choir swung into "America!"

The great audience rose and lifted its voice—and pedestrians entering the capitol grounds paused to listen. A few minutes later the male portion of the audience rose again. That was when Mrs. Ella M. George, president of the Pennsylvania Women's Christian Temperance Union, in response to a call from the chair, made her way to the stand.

"The saloons," sang out a voice way back in the hall, "must go!"

Mrs. George had hardly taken her seat when the hundreds of feet in the hall involuntarily tapped its feet in tune to the strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers." Then the Commonwealth band marched through the hall and to its place on the platform.

J. Denny O'Neil Presided

Just before Chairman O'Neil called from Tyrone with gold in his throat, sang a solo to the strains of "I Hear You Calling." It was a little tip to the Pennsylvania legislature as to the feeling of the people of the Keystone State.

Ringing Resolutions

Ex-Congressman Henry W. Temple of Washington, has just begun his talk when Chairman Alter, amid cheers, reported for the resolutions committee. The windows rattled with the roaring "aye" that adopted the resolutions, as follows:

Whereas, the sale of intoxicating liquors has produced most serious and vital problems, and as these become more fully appreciated by the people, and they are attempting to determine this important question through the election of judges expressly or impliedly committed to the grant or refusal of licenses, through which method a system of county local option is, in effect, operative in a large and growing number of the counties of the State;

And whereas, the election of judges upon any issues other than judicial ability, fairness and integrity, and particularly upon an issue relating to the manner in which they will decide cases to be heard in court, is a prostitution of the most sacred office in the gift of the people, the result of which is a great weakening of that confidence in the judiciary so essential to the preservation of our institutions;

And whereas, the Governor of the Commonwealth, elected under an express pledge to favor a county local option law, is faithfully adhering to that pledge, the redemption of which he began in his inaugural address, wherein he declared: "It is my sacred duty to take from partisan control and give directly to the people. They will solve it better than we can. The selection of judges in the several districts should no longer hinge upon this question. It has already worked harm to the judiciary and has lessened the regard of the people for its integrity and capacity of the final legal guardians of the people's sacred rights. It is a dominant issue in the public mind. The party that has given this great issue to industrial and educational development has now the sacred opportunity of giving the state a great moral uplift. I trust we shall not fail the people in this issue."

And whereas, this principle of home rule has been applied successfully in a majority of the states of the Union and the right to its exercise should no longer be denied the people of Pennsylvania;

Resolved, That feeling it our bounden duty to support the Governor and a high privilege to enlist under his courageous leadership in this righteous cause, we, the men of this conference, gathered from every part of Pennsylvania, do hereby pledge ourselves to aid, by all fair and honorable means, the effort to secure for our Commonwealth a county local option law, to the end that the courts may be freed from the imminent peril by which they are now threatened and the people of the counties given the local control to which they are fairly and justly entitled.

Resolved, That in our judgment said legislation should be enacted now, and we hereby give our unqualified approval of the

Rose Bushes

are now here from Holland. Strong, hardy and vigorous—should be planted immediately. All the favorites are here in a variety of twelve, and all shades may be secured among the different kinds.

15c, or 2 for 25c
20c, or 3 for 50c

Bowman's

Call 1901—Any Phone. Founded 1871

State on the local option problem. This was Frank M. Jones. His song was called, "I'd Like to Ask."

Then Chalmers Jones and his choir injected another thriller. The pianist nodded to the band leader—and the great audience sang "Pennsylvania's Local Option Song!" And the hundreds of people just couldn't make their feet behave.

The tune was "Tipperary!"

O'Neil's Keynote

Chairman O'Neil sounded a rousing keynote of the monster gathering when he declared in presenting Dr. Isaac Sharples, president of the Association, as permanent chairman, said: "We are making history. Pennsylvania isn't corrupt. It is just as pure as any State in the Union."

Local option is not prohibition. It is the will of the people. And no man in public life is big enough to stand against the will of the people."

In response to Dr. Sharples' call for the consideration of business, Ex-Speaker George E. Alter, of the House of Representatives, suggested the appointment of a committee of three to act on local option.

Dr. George S. Shelton, Pittsburgh, and Louis J. Kolb, of Philadelphia, were named on the committee.

Telegrams Read

Cheers that set the flags on the auditorium rafters dancing, rang through the hall as several telegrams from absentees were read:

One was from Samuel E. Gill, who represented 2,000,000 Sunday School workers in Pennsylvania. He regretted his inability to attend but declared that as chairman of the State Sunday school committee, he endorsed Pennsylvania's move to say whether or not the people should decide the liquor problem.

Then—there was this from "Billy Sunday":

"Impossible to be with you. Heartily approve of your great movement."

Mr. Farr Speaks

The first speaker was ex-Congressman John E. Farr, Scranton. He got rounds and rounds of applause when he declared that "he who votes against local option, strikes a blow at liberty itself."

Ringling Resolutions

Ex-Congressman Henry W. Temple of Washington, has just begun his talk when Chairman Alter, amid cheers, reported for the resolutions committee. The windows rattled with the roaring "aye" that adopted the resolutions, as follows:

Whereas, the sale of intoxicating liquors has produced most serious and vital problems, and as these become more fully appreciated by the people, and they are attempting to determine this important question through the election of judges expressly or impliedly committed to the grant or refusal of licenses, through which method a system of county local option is, in effect, operative in a large and growing number of the counties of the State;

And whereas, the election of judges upon any issues other than judicial ability, fairness and integrity, and particularly upon an issue relating to the manner in which they will decide cases to be heard in court, is a prostitution of the most sacred office in the gift of the people, the result of which is a great weakening of that confidence in the judiciary so essential to the preservation of our institutions;

And whereas, the Governor of the Commonwealth, elected under an express pledge to favor a county local option law, is faithfully adhering to that pledge, the redemption of which he began in his inaugural address, wherein he declared: "It is my sacred duty to take from partisan control and give directly to the people. They will solve it better than we can. The selection of judges in the several districts should no longer hinge upon this question. It has already worked harm to the judiciary and has lessened the regard of the people for its integrity and capacity of the final legal guardians of the people's sacred rights. It is a dominant issue in the public mind. The party that has given this great issue to industrial and educational development has now the sacred opportunity of giving the state a great moral uplift. I trust we shall not fail the people in this issue."

And whereas, this principle of home rule has been applied successfully in a majority of the states of the Union and the right to its exercise should no longer be denied the people of Pennsylvania;

Resolved, That feeling it our bounden duty to support the Governor and a high privilege to enlist under his courageous leadership in this righteous cause, we, the men of this conference, gathered from every part of Pennsylvania, do hereby pledge ourselves to aid, by all fair and honorable means, the effort to secure for our Commonwealth a county local option law, to the end that the courts may be freed from the imminent peril by which they are now threatened and the people of the counties given the local control to which they are fairly and justly entitled.

Resolved, That in our judgment said legislation should be enacted now, and we hereby give our unqualified approval of the

Every Man's Uppermost Desire

—When purchasing a suit, is to be assured that it's RIGHT. Our duty is to show him the right models.

At present we're playing our part in a most extraordinary manner. The entire frontage of windows has been given over to the showing of Men's Clothes—styles that are smart and new. Ultra-stylish models that will appeal to young men, although conservative tastes have not been overlooked.

A HALF HUNDRED DIFFERENT PATTERNS are displayed—more than Old Market St. ever had occasion to boast of showing at one time.

Every man owes it to himself to invest a few moments spare time in looking them over. We suggest tonight.

The prices:

$9.90, $12.50, $15, $20

—cover the popular range, although there are other intermediate prices, and every suit represents RELIABLE QUALITY.

Shepherd checks, Pin checks, Overplaids, Mixtures, Blue flannels, Novelty stripes, Tartan plaids, and others.

In the always wanted worsteds, serges, cassimeres, homespuns, tweeds and unfinished worsteds.

Your Spring Top Coat—

Should be chosen from among the daring English form-fitting models or the dressy Chesterfields. They're here in tan, black, oxford and gray. Silk faced, self-faced or velvet collars. Priced at $10, $15, $18 and $20

Bowman's

MEN'S STORE

CALL 1901—ANY PHONE FOUNDED 1871

Is Coffee After Your Job?

The average cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine, a poisonous drug that handicaps the efficiency and chances for promotion of many bright men and women.

Read This Letter

"Down at the Junction," writes a railroad man, "where I am employed as Telegraph Operator and Towerman for a busy railroad, where every second counts and where I hold the lives of the entire train crew and passengers in my hand, I found coffee was making me dull and exceedingly nervous.

"My wife told me about Postum. I tried it and liked it. I never drank anything else now. I have a tin of Instant Postum in my mail. I feel fine, my brain is quick and active and there's no delay at the Junction while I'm on duty. I really think coffee would have put me out of a job if I hadn't quit it for Postum."

If coffee is crimping your prospects, try a change to

POSTUM

Made only of selected wheat and a small per cent. of wholesome molasses, Postum contains nothing harmful or injurious, but is, on the contrary, healthful and invigorating.

Postum comes in two forms: Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled, 15c and 25c packages; Instant Postum—the soluble form—made instantly in the cup with hot water, 30c and 50c tins. Both kinds are equally delicious, and cost per cup about the same.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

—sold by Grocers everywhere.

county local option bill introduced by Hon. George W. Williams and pending in the General Assembly at this time.

"Local Option Sunday"

Sunday, April 11, was fixed by resolution as "Local Option Sunday" for Pennsylvania when every church and Sunday school, every Bible class and other religious organization is urged to voice its stand on the Williams local option bill by resolution and petition to the Senate and House.

Governor is Popular

Governor Brumbaugh's popularity was attested to throughout the session every time a speaker mentioned his name, but ex-Congressman Temple nearly brought the roof down when he declared that "Pennsylvania now had in the gubernatorial chair a man that had fooled a good many people."

"This is not a fight between the man whose sentiments are 'dry' and the man whose sentiments are 'wet,'" declared the former congressman in driving home the point of the question was one of public policy and economy.

The hope of the women and children of Pennsylvania was gently, pleasantly expressed by Mrs. George in opening her talk she declared that she represented 37,000 women, the cream of the Keystone State.

And for the second time during the morning the great audience rose as one and cheered and indiscriminately waved three-inch square of lace and eighteen-inch square of bandana in the salute of the chautauque.

"Nothing is such a menace to the home and to the happiness of the women and the children as the liquor traffic," declared Mrs. George.

"This bill should be passed for the sake of the wife and the mother in the home, for I've seen the wife and mother bending over the washtub to earn what is necessary to keep the home together because the support that should have gone to them has gone to the saloonkeeper."

"I plead," went on Mrs. George, "for the little children who plead for bread when there is no bread."

Mrs. George concluded her talk by reading a report from a W. C. T. U. leader in Greene county, the first "dry" county in the state.

"Everybody here," read Mrs. George, "is prosperous and happy. We've more autos than any other county. Frequently we have empty jails."

"Is that true," demanded Mrs. George, "in the 'wet' counties?"

"Congressman S. M. Miller, of Mercer, got a vociferous cheer in response to his emphatic—

"The people want local option and they're going to have it. If they don't get it now they'll fight for it two years hence. And if they don't get it then they'll fight for it four years from now. They want it and they're going to get it."

F. H. Rockwell, a former member of the House from Wellsboro, also hit a popular chord when he declared: "I believe the rank and file of the Republican party of Pennsylvania are heart and hand for this bill."

At 11.30, however, the greatest demonstration of the morning—and probably in the history of Pennsylvania—occurred when the 5,000 Old Glory-bearing Philadelphians marched into the hall.

The auditorium had long since been crowded to the gallery railings, but the long files marched into the aisles, climbed upon the window sills, the steam pipes, while others crowded upon the press tables.

For ten minutes the huge hymn-singing delegation made things musical—and good-naturedly noisy. And when the Philadelphians paused for breath the welcoming hosts started a raucous-shaking yell for "Philadelphia!"

The last speaker—and he had difficulty in making himself heard because of the singing and cheering—was ex-Judge J. M. Galbraith, of Butler.

"Let Pennsylvania take its place with—and not behind—the other nations of the earth in the great fight against the rum evil. And," concluded Judge Galbraith, impressively, "it's beginning to look as if the people are placing Pennsylvania in the vanguard of the procession of the ages."

county local option bill introduced by Hon. George W. Williams and pending in the General Assembly at this time.

"Local Option Sunday"

Sunday, April 11, was fixed by resolution as "Local Option Sunday" for Pennsylvania when every church and Sunday school, every Bible class and other religious organization is urged to voice its stand on the Williams local option bill by resolution and petition to the Senate and House.

Governor is Popular

Governor Brumbaugh's popularity was attested to throughout the session every time a speaker mentioned his name, but ex-Congressman Temple nearly brought the roof down when he declared that "Pennsylvania now had in the gubernatorial chair a man that had fooled a good many people."

"This is not a fight between the man whose sentiments are 'dry' and the man whose sentiments are 'wet,'" declared the former congressman in driving home the point of the question was one of public policy and economy.

The hope of the women and children of Pennsylvania was gently, pleasantly expressed by Mrs. George in opening her talk she declared that she represented 37,000 women, the cream of the Keystone State.

And for the second time during the morning the great audience rose as one and cheered and indiscriminately waved three-inch square of lace and eighteen-inch square of bandana in the salute of the chautauque.

"Nothing is such a menace to the home and to the happiness of the women and the children as the liquor traffic," declared Mrs. George.

"This bill should be passed for the sake of the wife and the mother in the home, for I've seen the wife and mother bending over the washtub to earn what is necessary to keep the home together because the support that should have gone to them has gone to the saloonkeeper."

"I plead," went on Mrs. George, "for the little children who plead for bread when there is no bread."

Mrs. George concluded her talk by reading a report from a W. C. T. U. leader in Greene county, the first "dry" county in the state.

"Everybody here," read Mrs. George, "is prosperous and happy. We've more autos than any other county. Frequently we have empty jails."

"Is that true," demanded Mrs. George, "in the 'wet' counties?"

"Congressman S. M. Miller, of Mercer, got a vociferous cheer in response to his emphatic—

"The people want local option and they're going to have it. If they don't get it now they'll fight for it two years hence. And if they don't get it then they'll fight for it four years from now. They want it and they're going to get it."

F. H. Rockwell, a former member of the House from Wellsboro, also hit a popular chord when he declared: "I believe the rank and file of the Republican party of Pennsylvania are heart and hand for this bill."

At 11.30, however, the greatest demonstration of the morning—and probably in the history of Pennsylvania—occurred when the 5,000 Old Glory-bearing Philadelphians marched into the hall.

The auditorium had long since been crowded to the gallery railings, but

"Audacious in Design! Oriental in Coloring! Absolutely Original!"

That's what they say about the CALIFORNIA EXPOSITIONS

Make your trip there by the route that affords rest, comfort and the combination of water and rail travel.

Southern Pacific Steamships

Morgan Line
New York to New Orleans

2000 miles of sea travel through the warm Gulf Stream and the beautiful Gulf of Mexico to New Orleans where you board the

SUNSET LIMITED

(Every Day in the Year. No Extra Fare)

New Orleans Los Angeles
San Diego San Francisco

BEST DINING CAR IN AMERICA
SPECIAL LOW ROUND TRIP FARES
STOP-OVER PRIVILEGES PERMITTED

For all information address
R. J. SMITH, D. F. & F. A.
632 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Phone Walnut, 131

A MEDICINE OF MERIT

A proprietary medicine, like everything else that comes before the public, has to prove its merits. The law of the survival of the fittest applies in this field as in others. The reason for the tremendous success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is because it has been fulfilling a real human need for forty years, so that today thousands of American women owe their health and happiness to the marvelous power of this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs—nature's remedy for woman's ills—Advertisement.

A Cold House Means Sickness

Heavy colds, pneumonia and even tuberculosis are frequently the result of a cold house. An even warmth is essential to your family's health and even heating requires good fuel. Montgomery coal is all coal, burns evenly, thoroughly and gives the maximum in heat value. Try a ton the next time.

J. B. MONTGOMERY

Both Phones Third and Chestnut Streets