EVENING LEDGER WAR PICTURES To-morrow will be the final day of the engagement in this city of the celebrated War Pictures which are being presented under the auspices of the Philadelphia Public Ledger-Evening Ledger at the Majestic Theater. While the major interest in these remarkable pictures centers in the Kaiser and the other great leaders in the monumental struggle, there are many other interesting and unusual pictures thrown upon the screen. The equipment of the Red Cross recruits, the work of the Red Cross nurses, the arrival of the British cavalry in France, and scores of other interesting scenes are shown. It is doubtful if these pictures ever again will be seen in this city. At any rate, to-morrow's two performances close the present engagement.—Advertisement.

A PERFECT COMBINATION One peculiarity about John Philip Sousa is that he knows exactly what his audiences want to hear, and he gives it to them. They want music to stir them up, to rouse their flagging energies. What that wonder is, that Sousa reigns where Sousa's Band plays! Over all the dominant figure of Sousa, with a move of the baton, motion of his left forefinger, both hands leading his men to a desired effect. It is the band one goes to hear—Sousa's Band. The combination is perfect. When Sousa and his Band are here on Wednesday evening, at the Majestic, they will be assisted by Miss Virginia Root, soprano, and Miss Margel Gluck, violinist. Herbert L. Clarke, cornetist.—Advertisement.

WARFIELD SALE OF SEATS OPENS MONDAY

The sale of seats for David Warfield's engagement at the Majestic, Thursday evening, in "The Auctioneer," will open at the box office at 9 o'clock. Not more than ten seats will be sold to any one person. In reviving "The Auctioneer" David Warfield is said to have rewritten the piece so that now it defers to the standards that have sprung in other plays. "The Auctioneer" is said to be a former, is said to lie in Mr. Warfield's conception of the genre. Kind-hearted old Heister, called Levi, who is never quite capable of realizing any angry passion to the full, and who is slowest in action, is giving muteness at the very moments when he strives most to give expression to his feelings. All the other cast members who were in the original cast thirteen years ago will appear here with Mr. Warfield.—Advertisement.

ORPHEUM

It's a bill that is generally declared one of the season's very best, that being the Orpheum's present season to a close. So those who delight in high-class vaudeville will want to hurry to witness one of the closing performances. The bill for the evening standard comprise the current bill from first to last. Chief of them is a great comedy vehicle, "Exploiting the Well-known efforts of Sam Mann, who, with an excellent cast is presenting side-splitting comedy. "Lots of Lots of Lots of It." Also Diamond and Brennan, the nifty girl and the clever comedian who present a series of clever patter called "Nifty Nonsense." Another of the biggest features is "The violinist who will make his violin do everything but ta and his eyes do the rest. Also Charles Lawton and Daughters, presenting vaudeville's finest character singing specialty. The bill is started at a splendid pace by Wallace Erastoy and Sylvia Norris, who offer a pretty variety novelty entitled "In Loveland," another splendid turn is that of Alf James Holt, the splendid mimic comedian, and the Bottomly Troupe add the thrills of the bill with their funny series of sketches sprinkled with rich comedy.—Advertisement.

COLONIAL

A real beauty show is now in progress at the Busy Corner. It is the attraction "The Rose of Panama," an attraction with a bevy of the prettiest Broadway beauties. It is not worth to see. It also employs an attractive stage setting, effective light effects and its principals are several clever comedians and a very pretty miss, playing the role of "The Rose." The act is a blend of light songs, frolic and beauty, and is in itself worth several times the price of admission. In "ogue at the Colonial. Three other splendid acts, of the usual standard of Colonial excellence support the big attractions. Interesting features in moving pictures complete the performance.—Advertisement.

AT THE REGENT THEATER

Delegates to the suffrage convention in this city will attend the film production of "You Girl and Mine" at the Regent Theater in a body to-day. The six-reel play tells a suffrage story and it is replete with thrills. In the very first scene a man and a woman are caressed, but who cares for morals when one can see a woman triumph over a brute in a hand-to-hand combat, a marriage, a murder and an automobile abduction. The film breaks all former records. These are only a few of the many spectacular events shown in the six reels. Dr. Anna Howard America's most prominent suffragist appears in the film. For to-morrow Manager Magaro will show "Life's Shop Window." It is a story of a suave gentleman who sows the seeds of discontent in the mind of a credulous country girl who is married to a hard-working, home-loving farmer. The polished rascal with his gift talk about London, New York and Paris not only seduces the girl, but little woman from her husband, and also tries to lure her away from him. The intervening scenes are said to be exceptionally good.—Adv.

THE PIPEORGAN WITH THE HUMAN VOICE

The Victoria's wonderful pipeorgan orchestra, which has been delighting the crowds of people who have appreciated this up-to-date motion picture theater's efforts to please its patrons, as a measure far exceeding all others, has very aptly been termed the pipeorgan with the human voice. This combination of all instruments of music combines the grandeur of the cathedral organ with the finest symphony orchestra. By means of many controls the player can bring out the same sensitive feeling as an artist can upon his violin, cello, flute, harp or any musical instrument. To fully appreciate the possibilities of this great pipeorgan one must hear it played while the pictures are being shown. To-day we present for the first time in this city "The Black Spot," an exceptionally strong silent drama in four parts. And, of course, every Wednesday and Friday we show the Daily News, the animated newspaper that always contains the very latest scenes taken in the war-torn countries of Europe. Several other good pictures go to make up an unusually strong bill for to-day.—Advertisement.

AUTO LICENSES TO BE PUSHED UP HARD

Increase For the Benefit of Roads Appears to Be Apparent in the New Measure

Automobile license fees are doubled under the provisions of the bill presented in the Legislature by Representative Lipschutz, of Philadelphia, and already there are indications that automobile associations and automobilists in general will get busy.

The bill, however, has the support of the administration, which intends to use the license fee money for the improvement of the State highways. It is the contention at the Capitol that the automobile is the gainer through good roads and that the owners should bear the burden of keeping the highways in good condition.

The Lipschutz bill, following the lines of the present law covering the licensing of motor vehicles, taxes automobiles according to horsepower. Motorcycles, under the proposed act, are taxed $6; the present license fee is $3.

The following table shows the present and proposed fees:

Table with 2 columns: Present fee, Proposed fee. Rows include: Under 20 horsepower, From 20 to 35 horsepower, From 35 to 50 horsepower, More than 50 horsepower, Less than 4,000 pounds, From 4,000 to 6,000 pounds, From 6,000 to 10,000 pounds, From 10,000 to 15,000 pounds, From 15,000 to 24,000 pounds, On vehicles weighing less than 10,000 pounds, On mobile or solid-tire vehicle a fee of $5 is proposed by the bill, against $3 under the present act.

BROADWAY STAR FEATURE AT PHOTOPLAY TO-DAY

Another famous Vitagraph all-star production released under the head of Broadway-Star features is shown to-day at the Photoplay. "Lifting the Ban of Coventry," in three dramatic reels, with Lillian Walker, and Darwin Karr, assisted by Julius Swayne Gordon, is a wonderful production of the modern military social ruling of an officer in the United States army. In a moment of folly, Karr marries a girl of the music hall and takes her to his headquarters, introducing her as his wife. The social code demands that they both be put under the Ban of Coventry for the act, and Karr's whole life is devoted to lifting the ban which ostracizes him from his fellow comrades. Full Crew Bill Is Up Next Week

Plans are being made to concentrate the fight on the bill for repeal of the full crew repealer in the House of Representatives on Tuesday. The bill is on second reading and was not called up yesterday. The workmen's compensation acts and a long third reading list are scheduled for Monday night, the compensation bills being special orders, and it is not likely that the repealer will be reached, but that ample time will be given for its consideration on Tuesday morning. The advocates and opponents of the bill are confident of winning.

The proximity of the bill to second reading has caused a redoubling of the deluge of letters for the repealer, the mail of the members being jammed with circulars asking them to vote for the bill. Some of the members have received as high as 5,000 letters on the subject this week, many of them containing arguments against retaining the statute.

Railroad men have planned for a couple of strong speeches against the bill and have been working hard on the members the last few days. Delegations of railroad men are expected here next week when the bill is acted upon.
