OUTDOOR SEASON OPENS NEXT WEEK

Distance Runners and Track Athletes to Compete in Two Important Events

New York, April 17.—Distance runners and track athletes will usher in the outdoor athletic season at Boston and Philadelphia next week. On Monday the Boston Athletic Association's annual Patriot's Day Marathon race will bring together a great field of competitors, this year's event having attracted an unusually large and representative entry.

A few weeks ago the Federation runners from the benefit of receiving coaching assistance or refreshments during the contest, threatened to become a hard and fast law governing this branch of road competition in this country.

hard and fast law governing this branch of road competition in this country.

Old System Rules
However, by a two-thirds vote of the Amateur Athletic Union's governing board, these new conditions were not accepted, being considered too severe. Therefore the big race will be run under the old system, which has been in vogue for many years, and the runners will have the assistance of ettendants on bicycles all through their long journey over the Ashland-Boston course for the nineteenth running of the event.

Franklin Field, Philadelphia, where some of the greatest track events in the history of Aemrican sport have been decided will present a busy scene next Friday and Saturday, while the annual relay games of the University of Pennsylvania are being contested. Last year there was a decidedly international flavor given to this meet, when England sent her great Oxford University runners to take part in the four-mile relay team race. These were Sproule, Gaussen, Taber and Jackson, and running as named they won in 18.03, with the Pennsylvania team second and Cornell third. Despite the fact that foreign competitors, for obvious reasons, are uable to take part in this year's games the annual event promises to be wonderfully attractive.
