GAME BOUNTY LAW MAKES A TANGLE

Enforcement Will Be Held Up Until a New Bill Can Be Drafted by Officials

Officials of the State Game Commission will probably be called together within a short time to devise some means of drafting a bill that will meet the approval of Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh for the specific appropriation of the share of the revenue from hunters' licenses to be devoted to game protection and propagation. The Governor's veto of the Wobensmith bill carrying an appropriation of $324,000 for salaries and expenses of the commission is declared to have tied up all of the plans for establishing new game preserves, and increasing the force of game wardens from thirty to sixty as provided in a bill just passed and to have halted the movement to place the bounty supervision in the hands of the commission. A bill providing that all bounties shall be paid by the State through the office of the Game Commission was approved by the Governor at the same time that he vetoed the other bill. It is explained that the funds at hand will not permit the commission sufficient funds to start the enforcement of the new act. It was planned to get everything ready and to start paying bounties on June 1 when the proposed appropriation was to become available. In his veto the Governor expressed the desire that a bill that did not increase salaries, but would provide for other expenses of the commission should be drafted. What the game officials will endeavor to find out is what the Governor wants to do about expenses, whether they should be carried in the general appropriation bill or put into a bill separate from the specific appropriation for game protection and propagation. The way it stands now they contend that the new bounty law, designed to check frauds, cannot be enforced, owing to lack of money.

INJURED AT WILLIAMSPORT

Frank Marks, 2004 State street, a traveling salesman, was injured in an automobile accident at Williamsport Thursday evening. A trolley car hit a jitney bus in which Mr. Marks was riding. A piece of the wreckage struck Mr. Marks in the face tearing open an artery. The injury was dressed by a surgeon and Mr. Marks returned home late last night.

PLAN NINETY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY

Final arrangements have been completed for the ninety-sixth anniversary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in the hall of Fountain Lodge, No. 1120, under the direction of the Past Grand Association of the Southern District of Dauphin county. Deputy Grand Master J. P. Hale Jenkins, of Norrisstown, will be the principal speaker.

LECTURE ON CARE OF HORSE

Members of the Teamsters' Union and drivers of fire apparatus attended a special entertainment under the auspices of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in the Photoplay Theater, last evening. Slides showing proper and improper methods of harnessing and caring for horses were shown. Dr. Raymond M. Staley, of the State Livestock Sanitary Board, spoke.

TENDERED RECEPTION

More than 100 new members were given a reception, last night, by the Christian Endeavor Society, of Westminster Presbyterian Church. A musical program was presented and refreshments were served.

"LITTLE MARY MACK"
"Little Mary Mack," a new musical comedy of American life, will make its first appearance in this city this afternoon and evening at the Majestic Theater. The entire action of the piece centers about Americans and there is a noticeable lack of all things that savor of foreign lands. "Little Mary Mack" is a splendid combination of charming romance and rare humor, dealing with the adventures of a girl whose curiosity, her chief trait, foils the plan of a millionaire to marry off his daughter to a French prince. The cast, which is headed by Mrs. Keith Donaldson, who will make her theatrical debut in this production, is of unusual proficiency and includes: Sylvia Jason, Georgia Harvey, Grace Kenney, Eva Olivetti, Maude Furness, Richard Temple, Harrison Garret, Ernest Wood, Fred Graham, John Wheeler, Paul Donnet, Thomas P. Manning, Ben Grinnell, Lambert and Mason, and the Unique Quartet.—Advertisement.

MEINTYRE AND HEATH IN "THE HAM TREE"
Next Saturday brings to the Majestic John Cort's magnificent revival of George V. Hobart's rollicking musical success, "The Ham Tree," which has furnished those quaint comedians, McIntyre and Heath, the best vehicle they have ever had for the expression of their peculiar humor. Needless to say, there is no plot to be taken seriously, for it is simply what the "man on the street" would say a "corking" good show. It is one of the comparatively few musical comedies that will bear being seen more than once, for Jean Schwartz has filled it full of tuneful, vivacious music, while the costuming and lighting are extremely effective. They were carefully selected for their ability as singers and dancers.—Advertisement.

HYMNIST AT COLONIAL
The Colonial Theater will, to-day, wind up one of the biggest weeks in the history of the Busy Corner playhouse. Attracted by the exceptionally good bills that Wilmer and Vincent have put into the Colonial since the closing of the Orpheum, thousands of new patrons have been won over for the Colonial. The good bill that has been presented during the past two days, including Colvin, the sensational hypnotist, will come to a close tonight. On Monday another very strong bill will be presented, headed by Catherine Chatter and Company, the good body player, entitled "Kate's Press Agent." This act and Al and Fanny Steidman, who will also come to the Colonial on Monday, were originally booked for the Orpheum.—Advertisement.

ROYAL AND NATIONAL THEATERS, MONDAY, "RUNAWAY JUNE"
At the Royal and National Theaters on Monday will be shown the twelfth episode of the great, new, mysterious serial by George Randolph Chester, the first of this writer's stories to appear in the newspapers and in motion pictures. Norma Phillips, well remembered as "Miss Gimpsey," has been selected to play the leading role in "Runaway June," the new serial. This film is being shown at this theater every Monday, the full run being for fifteen weeks. The story is one of love, dollars and mystery, with plenty of the latter. The man with the black Van-dyke, a prominent character of the story, saw something in June, which he liked, and he followed her and made her life miserable. The mystery that follows is left to you to solve. The twelfth episode at the Royal, Third street above Cumberland, and at the National Theater, Sixth and Dauphin streets, on Monday night. VIRGINIA WOMEN TO AD "CAUSE" HERE

Suffragists From South and West Will Participate in State Campaign

Many prominent Suffragists of the West and South, who have already obtained the vote or who are able to spare the time from their own States because the campaigns there will not begin in earnest until next year, have volunteered to help in the campaign in Pennsylvania. They are doing this purely in the spirit of good comradeship. Among the most distinguished of these women is Mrs. B. B. Valentine, president of the Suffrage League of Virginia, who is now speaking in the vicinity of Harrisburg. She has done more than any other person to overcome the conservatism that had made many people fear that the Old Dominion State would never come to look with favor on the idea of women voting. Her womanly charm and convincing eloquence have been the chief means of working this seeming miracle.

Almost Ostracized
"When we first started our work in Richmond, in 1910, we were almost ostracized. It took fully six months to make people here to take active suffrage work had not made us into more sensational notoriety seekers, said Mrs. Valentine. Her first task was to convince the public that we had absolutely no ulterior intentions, that our only desire was to point out the justice of our cause and leave it to the conscience of the voters to make or setting the vote.

"Education of the public and of the future voters is our main work. We are anxious to get the men to realize how much woman suffrage will mean to them."
Mrs. Valentine and all of the other Virginia suffrage workers are volunteers. Mrs. Valentine has given up most of her social duties and has devoted herself entirely to the cause.

PENNSY IN MARKET FOR NEW EQUIPMENT

McCaleb and other Philadelphia division officials that benefits will come indirectly as a result of this large expenditure, because more equipment means more repair work. The invitation of bids to-day marks practically the end of the equipment buying of any magnitude by the Pennsylvania for more than a year. As in the past the other great railroad officials that benefits will come indirectly as a result of this large expenditure, because more equipment means more repair work. The invitation of bids to-day marks practically the end of the equipment buying of any magnitude by the Pennsylvania for more than a year.

The Pennsylvania's order is the most comprehensive of recent years. Because of its magnitude it is expected to stimulate activity in railroad circles. The locomotives and most of the cars will be built in the company's own shops. This feature of the announcement is one which will prove encouraging to the thousands employed in the railroad's shops at Altoona, many of whom have been working on short time.

The significance of importance is the statement that in addition to adding only steel cars to its passenger equipment the company intends to follow a similar policy with reference to its freight equipment, so that ultimately every train on the Pennsylvania lines, whether passenger or freight, will be of all-steel construction.

While the number of cars and locomotives to be built exceeds recent orders, it was explained that there would be no increase in the equipment. The new equipment will merely replace that now in service.

The only equipment orders placed with outside companies in 1914 were for fifty locomotives from the Baldwin Locomotive Works and for 1,000 freight cars with the Cambria Steel Company. About the first of the present year the railroad placed its steel rail order and its size forecast a big equipment order.

The passenger equipment is divided into 50 standard coaches, 24 combination coaches, 42 baggage and mail cars, 15 baggage and express cars and 5 horse express cars. Of the 10,000 freight cars bids will be asked on 7,643 cars, which the company plans to have built by outside companies. The others will be built at the shops and bids on material will be requested. All the cars will be of steel. The freight car program calls for the following: 2,000 steel box cars, 2,500 gondola cars, 4,919 coal and coke cars, 224 refrigerator cars and 102 flat cars.

The company plans to build in the car shops at Altoona 1,000 of the box cars, 1,000 of the gondola cars and all of the refrigerator and flat cars. Since 1906, when the company announced that all future additions and replacement in its passenger equipment would be of all-steel construction, it has provided more than 2,000 all-steel passenger cars, not counting the all-steel Pullman cars in service on the system.

About a month ago the Cumberland Valley Railroad, a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania, awarded an $800,000 contract for the construction of a bridge across the Susquehanna river at Harrisburg. This was the first large construction contract let in a long while.

The board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad met on Wednesday and it is believed that at that time they passed upon the order, giving it their stamp of approval.

The company will to-day open bids for the building of ninety of these passenger cars, while hundreds will also be made on prices for materials for the other fifty-six, which will be built at Altoona.

PUBLIC SERVICE BILLS ANALYZED

Series Drafted by Counsel Would Make For Efficiency and Economy in Work

Several bills amending the Public Service Company law have been introduced into the legislature and in the event of their passage they would materially aid in expediting the work of the Commission and would remove many causes of complaints that come from parties interested in cases. One of them does away with the necessity of obtaining approval of the joint use of poles.

Another precludes the necessity of having every contract, that a public service company makes with a municipality, first approved by the Commission. The amendment, however, retains the Commission's regulatory control over competition and retains the same control over service and rates which have been made the subject of a contract with a municipality.

Another amendment gives the Commission the power to appoint examiners to take testimony and evidence anywhere in the State. The effect of this would be that people interested in complaints could save the time and expense of coming to the State Capitol.

The payment of witness fees, so as to make the State responsible only for the payment of the fees of witnesses who are summoned by the Commission as distinguished from those summoned by the parties, is regulated by another bill. Under the present act the State is obliged to pay the witness fees and mileage of all witnesses summoned under the subpoena of the Commission even though they be a party to the proceeding.

Another, and very important amendment, gives the Commission discretion to suspend rates proposed to be charged, pending the determination of their reasonableness.

These proposed amendments have the approval of the Commission. A bill amending the act will also likely be introduced amending the crossing provisions so as to do away with the necessity of advance approval of crossings other than those between the railroads, street railways and highways, but it proposes to retain the Commission's power to regulate all crossings upon complaint or upon its own motion.

THE PHOTOPLAY

Starting to-day, the new Lubin series, "The Road O'Strife," in one-act dramas, every Saturday evening, featured in these new "Road O'Strife" series, Episode No. 1 features Crane Williams and Mary Charleston, both famous motion picture actors and actresses of the present time. THE REGENT

"Valley of the Missing," to-day's attraction at the Regent Theater is a thrilling story by Grace Miller White, in the opening of the production a pretty little baby is thrown from a barge and lands on a nearby yacht on the Hudson river. The children of a candidate for Governor are kidnapped and the search for them furnishes interesting material for the picture. The child is found by an old riverman and are brought up much outside of their natural environment, but the instinct still remains in them, and they eventually, after many years, find their way back to their former home. Monday at Tuesday Manager Magaro will show "Cinderella," with Dave Pickford in the title role.—Advertisement.

When a Big Store Grows Bigger

It is usually because the public's interest and confidence in that store has grown in exact proportion.

But that store has to first gain and hold the confidence of a discriminative, as well as appreciative buying public, and this can only come about by adopting the natural laws of successful business, namely:

- A strictly adhered-to, One-Price policy, with "special favors" to no one.
- Giving full value for the purchase amount.
- Ever improving its service for the convenience and COMFORT of its patrons.
- Fair and courteous treatment to all.

Upon that foundation a store will grow and grow—bigger and bigger—but to the public belongs the applause.

FOREST FIRES IN DAUPHIN COUNTY

Numerous Small Blazes Have Caused Considerable Damage; Reports of Other Fires

Forest fires which caused heavy loss to the State and to timber owners last Fall are commencing to be heard of again at the State Department of Forestry and the bills for fighting them show that numerous blazes have occurred in the woods in the last three weeks. Some fires have also been reported from State reserves in Lycoming and other central counties, but as yet they have not been of very great extent. The State forest service is watching conditions very closely and with the aid of State police hopes to be able to prevent much loss in the event of a dry Spring.

FRENCH CRUISER ASSISTS AIRSHIPS MAKING ATTACK

Paris, April 17, 11.40 A. M.—The ministry of marine to-day gave out an official communication reading: "During the day of April 16 a French cruiser, supporting a reconnaissance made by aeroplanes, effectively bombarded the fortifications of El Arish, a fortified town in Egypt near the boundary of Egypt and Palestine, as well as certain detachments of Turkish troops which had concentrated near El Arish."

BELLIGERENT NATIONS ARE COUNTING VICTIMS OF BOMBS

London, April 17, 11.56 A. M.—The allies on one side and Germany on the other are to-day taking inventories of the injuries inflicted by the recent aerial operations and with the usual contradictory results. The attackers claim that their assaults from the air have resulted in the destruction of military transport and equipment, while the defenders report that the only tangible effects of these operations have been casualties to civilians and slight damage to property.

SOLITARY CONFINEMENT

Halle-on-the-Saale, Germany, April 17, via London, 1.25 P. M.—Ten British officers, prisoners of Germany, have been taken from the local camp of prisoners of war and placed in solitary confinement in Magdeburg. This is a measure of reprisal for the treatment by Great Britain of the crews of German submarines held prisoners in England.

LESS FOOD HELD BY STORAGE MEN

Foust's Statement Shows That Butter, Eggs and Other Foods Are on Decrease

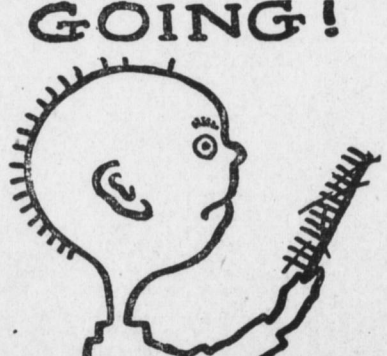

Big decreases in the amounts of butter and eggs held in cold storage on the last day of March as compared with the last day of December are indicated by a summary of the food in storage issued to-day by Dairy and Food Commissioner James Foust. This is the season of the year when the supplies of eggs and butter are reduced because the new stock is coming in.

The figures show the following in storage:

Article	Mar. 31	Dec. 31
Eggs, out of shell	1,677,763	3,196,969
Butter	322,109	504,405
Fish	906,040	3,212,860
Poultry	465,912	3,684,265
Game	3,438,302	4,405,644
Squabs	7,422	14,415
Beef	441	553
Veal	883,623	382,860
Sheep	14,856	50,080
Hogs	256,843	474,175
	539,362	127,549

The reports made to the commissioner indicate that in the week just closed there were over 100 suits ordered against dealers in milk and cream who had failed to observe the State standards. Most of these arrests were in the central counties, including those in the Susquehanna and Cumberland valleys.
