

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If cross, feverish or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs"

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given. If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomachache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle. Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs"; then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

Sunday Schools and the Disease Rules. Members of the Legislature who spent Sunday studying the bills on the calendars discovered that the Walsh bill, providing a code for handling communicable diseases, contains a provision that superintendents of Sunday schools as well as the heads of public and parochial schools must co-operate with health authorities in enforcing the law. No one suffering from contagious or infectious disease can attend any public, parochial or Sunday school and the superintendents and teachers are required to exclude them as well as to report to the public health authorities any pupil who shows any unusual rash or sore throat. These pupils are to be listed and reported the day they are excluded. In return the health boards are required to report not only to school and Sunday school superintendents names and residences of all persons in their communities who may happen to have sickness of a communicable nature. The penalty proposed against any Sunday school or other superintendent failing to obey the law is to be a fine of from $20 to $100 or imprisonment from ten to thirty days or both. The law is very sweeping in regard to persons who may offend and in addition to superintendents or teachers, sextons, janitors, parents or guardians are made liable.

MECHANICAL PRAYERS SHOULD BE "CANNED"

Tom Lyter Fills His Father's Pulpit; Talks on "Christian Efficiency"

Thomas B. Lyter, son of the Rev. J. A. Lyter, D. D., pastor of Derry Street United Brethren Church, last night supplied his father's pulpit. "Tom," as he is affectionately termed by his hundreds of friends, spoke on "Christian Efficiency." He pointed out that the highest efficiency in Christian life can be obtained only through prayer, Bible study and service to others. In his talk on prayer he rapped those Christians who pray mechanically and advised such to save themselves futile effort by having their nightly "Now I lay me down to sleep" petition placed on a phonographic record. "I'm sure God will be just as well pleased with the mechanical prayer if it's ground out on a talking machine. You'll save yourself the trouble of getting down on your knees, and the 'canned' petition will be just about as effective as one mechanically and dispassionately mumbled by yourself. "Tom" Lyter will begin his study for the ministry in the Fall, in all probability at Princeton.

Curtis, pastor, preached on "The Knight of the Present Day." Solos were sung by Robert C. Smith and Mrs. Phoebe Turner.

OLDEST NATIVE-BORN HARRISBURGER DIES

ley, just above Rockville, long before Harrisburg was founded. He was a man greatly interested in everything pertaining to his native city and had attained distinction as an engineer of construction in the Pennsylvania railroad's early days when he returned to Harrisburg to devote his time to his business interests. Mr. Roberts was the son of Col. John Roberts, prothonotary of the county and for many years one of the leading citizens of the community. He was a soldier in the war of 1812 and a prominent attorney. His son entered his father's office and later was connected with the office of the county recorder. Alexander Roberts, however, turned from Blackstone to science and studying engineering took a place with the engineer corps that was constructing the Pennsylvania railroad across the mountains and in the Pittsburgh district. He has charge of important work at Altoona and built many of the lines of the Pennsylvania system in the vicinity of Pittsburgh. Associated with him in engineering work were men who later became famous in transportation, including Thomas A. Scott, later president of the Pennsylvania.

Railway Company Secretary. When the Harrisburg City Passenger Railway company was organized he became a stockholder and served as secretary for many years, retaining official connection with the company until his death. This is the company which gave Harrisburg its first street car system and which is the parent company of the trolley lines which now cover the city and reach many surrounding towns. Mr. Roberts invested in a number of other business enterprises and aided in their development. He was connected with the Harrisburg Burial Case and other companies. Probably no one in Harrisburg had a longer connection with religious work. In 1843 he became a member of Market Square Church and took an active part in the supervision of construction of the present church. He served as treasurer for many years, and as trustee for fully thirty years. Mr. Roberts was one of the most regular attendants at the services of the church, and occupied the same pew from the building of the church and until a few years ago seldom missed a service. Mr. Roberts is survived by two sisters, Mrs. James Lowell and Mrs. Charles Purvis, widow of the late James Purvis, well known here, who reside at Holton, Kan., and three sons, John B. Roberts, Alexander H. Roberts and George Roberts, of this city.

Knew Prominent Men. Mr. Roberts took the keenest interest in everything pertaining to the development of his native city and his wide acquaintance and intimate knowledge of the city made him a delightful conversationalist. He recalled many of the men who were prominent figures in the days of the Mexican war and attended the inauguration of every governor for over sixty years. His reminiscences of the social life of early days were most interesting and there were few people who were active in Harrisburg, affairs whom he did not know. For many years Mr. Roberts kept up his interest in music. He was an accomplished musician and contributed liberally to movements for advancement of the art in this city. Until a comparatively few years ago Mr. Roberts attended the oratorios of the Harrisburg Choral Society and the recitals given by noted artists.

Borah Not Candidate, but Would Accept Nomination. Special to The Telegraph. Washington, D. C., April 19.—Senator Borah, of Idaho, issued a statement last night saying he "was not and would not become a candidate" for the Republican nomination for President. "If by any chance the party should nominate me," he said, "I, of course, should accept; to pretend or to intimate otherwise would be absurd. But I shall not seek the nomination nor strive in any way, directly or indirectly, to obtain it. Nor have I the slightest expectation of its coming my way." The statement was issued, the Senator explained, because of numerous inquiries received on the subject. "A candidate is a slave," he added, "and I prefer to keep my freedom to speak as plainly as I see fit, especially at a time like this, when plain speaking seems to be likely to become necessary if the Republican party is to be restored to power."
