FLAMES BURN ICE HOUSE AT LAUREL

United Ice and Coal Company, of Harrisburg, located at Laurel Dam. It contained 17,000 tons of ice. The building was burned away and the ice exposed. Efforts were being made this morning to save part of the ice by shipping it away in cars, but the loss will be heavy. Three box cars were burned on the siding at the ice house. The fire was strenuously fought for many hours by forces of men from the State forestry reserve and men working for the State Highway Department on the road in the vicinity of Laurel. The Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company also sent several train crews and workmen to assist. A camping party, composed principally of prominent Harrisburg men, was compelled to fight its way through the flames when the fire surrounded their cottage. The members of the party were Postmaster Fisk Goodyear, E. S. Kronberg, M. Blumenthal, Norton Goodyear, Harry McCartney, W. H. Goodyear and I. C. Greenwood, of Carlisle, and George C. Boese, of Philadelphia, and Milton I. Hezberg, of Brooklyn. They have been camping in the mountains since Saturday at the cottage owned by Mr. McCartney.

Four Cottages Burn

The dwelling house of Joseph Fallor was burned, as was also the home of Edward Maus. Four cottages were destroyed, including that of E. M. Biddle, of Carlisle. The cottage of Harry McCartney, where the Carlisle party was located, and that of I. C. Greenwood was saved, a sudden veering of the wind driving the flames from them. The dwelling and barn on the farm of Dr. Oscar, located on the State reserve near the summer cottages, took fire and were completely destroyed. Four horses were burned, but the cows and smaller animals in the barn and outbuildings were saved. The top of the dam at Laurel was on fire at one time, but the flames were extinguished. Wet Clothes With Water The summer home of Dr. C. Jack Hunt, medical inspector of the State Health Department at Harrisburg, located near Pine Grove, was totally destroyed this morning. The property of David Cameron, of Harrisburg, in danger for some time, but the fire drifted away without damaging the buildings. A house and barn owned by Jacob Seidel and twelve hogs perished. The family of E. M. Mans had a narrow escape from death when their cottage burned last evening. They started away from their home on the approach of the flames, to go to the McCartney cottage, but were cut off and compelled to take refuge on the landing platform at the cottage of E. M. Biddle, which was afterward destroyed. The fire got so hot that they were compelled to drench their clothing with water to save themselves. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Mans, their children and several visitors. All were badly scorched by the intense heat.

Mr. Rickabaugh was pinned under the machine and his leg was broken.

First National Ready to Enter Bethlehem Steel

Special to The Telegraph. New York, April 21.—Reports were current yesterday that the sensational uplift in Bethlehem Steel stock is to be the entrance of First National Bank interests into the directorate of that company. There is ground for believing that George F. Baker, Francis L. Hine and William H. Moore, or their representatives, will go on the board of the steel company, the result of recent large stock purchases, and that the buying by these interests led to a scramble by certain insiders to get back stock which they had sold as a "flyer" early in the rise. This competition caused the skyrocketing in price which has been such a mystery. These same men, along with D. G. Field, it will be recalled, grabbed the control of the Lehigh Valley Railroad from Philadelphia shareholders a few years ago, the movement being much the same as that in Bethlehem Steel.

ASK COUNTY TO OPEN HOUSE OF DETENTION

Civic Club Committee Urges Commissioners to Provide Suitable Place For Juveniles. Dauphin county's board of commissioners was officially asked to-day by the Civic Club to provide suitable quarters for detaining the small offenders for juvenile court as the court probation and truancy officers are without adequate means of caring for these youngsters ever since the doing away with the house of detention at the county poor farm. The Civic Club was represented by a committee consisting of Mrs. Lyman D. Gilbert, Dr. Martha Pollock and Miss Fannie Eby. It suggested several sites including a church in Sibleton, a farm near the city and a school-house. The commissioners took the matter under advisement. Whiled Away Too Much.—Because G. W. D. Enders bequeathed to charitable institutions and some of his relatives some property that was encumbered, the Dauphin county court's permission was obtained to-day to sell some of his realty and stockholding to square some of the indebtedness against his estate. Enders had made provision for something like $7,000 in bequests and it was subsequently shown that after his debts were paid he would have about $5,000. No Action on Constables' Fee.—No action was taken to-day by the county commissioners on the petition presented by Attorneys W. L. Looser and Robert Fox asking for the reimbursement of the unpaid fees for constables who were not benefited by the court's order of several weeks ago. Lime Starvation Causes Tuberculosis

The Medical Record (New York) of December 18, 1909, contains an article on "The Treatment of Pulmonary Tuberculosis, Based on the Assumption that the Diet is the Cause of Lime Starvation," by Dr. John F. Russell, who says: "The condition which is recognized as preceding the active development of tuberculosis in the adult may be considered as due to lime starvation, and if the lime is not in organic combination with other ingredients as to be easily appropriated by the cells. Doubtless, this had much to do with the results obtained in many cases of these affections, which appear to have yielded to Eckman's Alternative. As it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try. Your druggist will order it for you or you can send direct. Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Advertisement.
