THE CHARM OF MOTHERHOOD

Enhanced By Perfect Physical Health.

The experience of Motherhood is a try-ng one to most women and marks dis-nctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or un-derstands how to properly care for her-self. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experi-ence with an organism unfitted for the ence with an organism unitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of earing for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered aerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample, time in which to prepare women. ple time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women rormal, healthy and strong.

if you eat meat regularly

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irresular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. — Advertisement.

CHAPTER II.

the bare little room upstairs stood the well groomed Orin Cunningham, twirling his white mustache and counting some money into the hand of dumpy Mrs. Waters. Gilbert Blye stood by, his black eyes glowing. He stroked his black Vandyke with his long, lean white fingers, and he smiled a suave smile as Mrs. Waters, tying the money in a corner of her apron, pointed to the bundle of pants in the corner; then she moved the narrow washstand from in front of a door and inserted a key in the lock. She threw open the door, closed it again and gave the key to

Gilbert Blye. Gilbert Blye slipped the key in his pocket and drew forth a tiny gold watch. Mrs. Waters, standing beside him, saw in the lid the portrait of lovely June Warner. She looked up at the dark, handsome fellow and smiled significantly and touched the ring finger of her left hand and nodded her head in keen self approbation. Then she patted the little wad which was knot-ted in the corner of her apron. Gilbert Blye smiled his suave smile and went into the hall, where he telephoned to a vivacious brunette in her ornately dec orated rooms and then to a man with thick lidded eyes and a round head, on which the short hair bristled. In the office of Elizabeth Sawyer the tall, good looking man sat down, with a smile. Neither he nor his wife no-ticed or thought of the quiet little fig-

"I'd rather give it to you," he said.

"I couldn't think of it." Mrs. Sawyer eached in her desk for a block of note blanks. "I shall need $5,000 if you can spare it."
"Certainly."

They both wrote at once, sitting side by side at the desk, he a check to his wife and she a thirty day note to her husband.

"You will get in trouble once in awhile, won't you, Betty?" laughed the man.

She looked at him reproachfully.

"You know why."
"Yes." He nodded sympathetically and, patting the hand which lay on the edge of the desk, picked up the photograph. "The babies. Betty, you're a wonder. What man's business could stand such interruptions?" She smiled fondly at the photograph and then at him, then from her desk drew a small blank book. She turned to a page headed "Bills Payable." There were only two entries, and nov she made a third. The dates of all which Edward Jones had insisted on leaving for her consideration. Her husband read them gravely and passed them back.

And she pointed to the ne left blank. "I'll pay you a better, Betty."
"The reason I wouldn't sell to either of you is that I want to keep the business. I'm proud of it."

"All right." He shook hands with her. "A bargain's a bargain."

A boy came in. She had rung for him as soon as she had the check. She

"That's so." Her brow contracted as she looked : her memorandum pad. "I gave Mary an appointment. Harry was to go to the doctor."

"Harry!" The man was instantly concerned. "Is there anything the matter with Harry?" "He's so nervous."

The nurse came in, carrying the baby and leading a beautiful curly haired lit-tle girl, whose face was smeared with chocolate candy. The boy, a fine, hearty little fellow, came stomping in and grinned pleasantly at his father and mother, standing with his sturdy legs outstretched and his fists jammed in his pockets.

"What did the doctor say?" asked Mrs. Sawyer anxiously, and the father leaned forward to listen.
"There's nothing the matter with him," reported the nurse, with a toss of her head and she glared vindictively at the boy. She was a person with wispy hair, an upturned nose and small gray eyes and thin lips, and the lips had a sharp downward droop at the corners. "The doctor says it's temper." "Temper!" Mrs. Sawyer half raised in her seat, and her eyes flashed with

The boy grinned engagingly. "Harry!" The nurse's voice. It rasped like a saw file, and every one, even the quiet little figure over near the window, winced. The Surety Company-When Does Its Experience Mature?

Apparently a great amount of experience has been accumulated in connection with the underwriting of bonds of suretyship. But how much of this experience has been matured?
