ren H. Manning, City Commissioner Taylor and Assistant Park Superintendent Hoffert will confer with the rall-road officials on the question.

The proposed line of the encircling parkway has been planned to include a crossing at this point of the Pennsy so that the proper connection may be made with the eastern terminus of the Cameron parkway.

made with the eastern terminus of the Cameron parkway. The most feasible way for abridging the two points is by carrying the roadway under the tracks by way of one of two culverts that span Spring and Paxton creek. This is one of the principal problems Mr. Manning will take up with city and railroad officials during his visit here this week.

Before the end of the week the city officials will meet with the Philadelphia and Reading representatives relative to the proposed culvert crossing beneath these tracks near Paxtang. Mr. Hoffert will prepare the plans and estimates of two types of culvert—one 30-foot and one 60-foot roadway—which will afterward be submitted to the Philadelphia and Reading company.

In addition to arranging for the

the Philadelphia and Reading company.

In addition to arranging for the conference with the railroad men Mr. Manning to-day visited City Treasurer O. M. Copelin in company with Messrs. Taylor and Hoffert and discussed the possibilities of securing the Capital City Realty tract for the city for the continuance of the parkway. This is one of the bigsest unconnected links in the section lying between Reservoir and Wildwood.

In addition to these matters the expert met with the Planning Commission and discussed routine matters and then put in the remainder of the day inspecting what portions of the park system, the river front and the new playeround sites at Fifth and Emerald streets and at Sycamore street, he could get around to.

Washington, D. C., May 4.—President Wilson refrained from commenting on the wrecking of the American steamer Guiffight by a German torepdo steamer Guiflight by a German torepdo while awaiting advices on all the facts and circumstances. The President said he expected a full report from Consul Stephens, at Plymouth. England, as well as from Ambassador Gerard, at Berlin.

Although State Department officials who have looked into the legal phases of the matter based on the preliminary reports are convinced that there was no excuse for the attack on the Guiflight, Secretary Bryan reiterated his statement that until the official facts in the case are in hand no decision would be reached as to the American government's policy or its representations to Germany. The United States, however, probably will demand ample reparation in case the inquiry discloses that a German submarine made the attack.

MAX MORGENTHAU

of Farmer John M, Rupp in Cumberland Court

Special to The Telegraph Carlisle, Pa., May 4.—In court here this morning District Attorney Alexander asked for the sentencing of Max Morgenthau for the murder of John M. Rupp, a farmer, near Mechanicsburg, May 24, 1914. Recently the Supreme Court fixed the verdict as the Supreme Court fixed the verdict as second degree and it was on this decision that the district attorney asked for sentence to-day. Judge Sadler made no comment, but immediately sentenced Morgenthau to not less than nineteen years nor more than twenty at hard labor in the penitentiary. Morgenthau had nothing to say when called for sentence, but is said to be greatly disappointed, as he fully expected a shorter term in view of having pleaded guilty at the first trial.

Bloomsburg, Pa., May 4.—Allegations that his wife poisoned him and then refused to call a physician, that he awoke to find her standing over his bed, shotgun in hand, that she declared she would "get him yet," that she became enraged when he loaned a buggy to a neighbor and remained upstairs, refusing to help in the housework for four months, and that she chased him with a butcher knife on the streets of Millville, were a few of the sensations sprung to-day in the Columbia county court by Bowman Mordan in his divorce proceedings against his wife.

AUSTRO-GERMAN ARMY PIERCES RUSS FRONT IN BRILLIANT CHARGE

Sudden Attack in Western Galicia Was Result of Plans Laid by Military Chiefs Several Weeks Ago; British Believe War Will Be Greatly Prolonged as Result of Engagement; New Austrian Army Prepared to Resume Offensive in Campaign Against Serbia

Italy has postponed again her decision concerning participation in the war. Rome dispatches say that new offers have been presented on behalf of Austria in an effort to satify Italy's King Victor Emmanuel's decision not to attend the unveiling of the Garibaldi monument is regarded as indicating that no warlike action will be taken in the immediate future; for it was the opinion in Rome that his presence on this occasion would have been equivalent to a declaration of war on Austria. Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador, is credited with having averted a crisis by presenting the new offers.

man ambassador, is credited with having averted a crisis by presenting the new offers.

Information from Vienna, which the Austrian military authorities are now willing to have known, shows that the sudden attack on the Russians in western Galicia was the result of an elaborate plan made by the German and Austrian military chiefs several weeks ago. A large army of fresh Austrian and German troops was concentrated before Cracow before the attack.

Claims Exaggerated?

Unofficial advices from Russian sources assert the German claims of victory are exaggerated, although it is admitted the movement was an important one. The Russian war office has had little to say concerning this situation further than to state that violent fighting has taken place. A London dispatch concedes that if it is true the Russian front has been pierced, the war will be prolonged greatly. Simultaneously with the new attack on the Russian front Austria has resumed operations against Montenegro after a lull over the greater part of the winter. An official Montenegric field and the merit is attement says Austrian attacks all along the front were repulsed. At Berlin it is said a new Austrian atmy has been prepared to resume the campaign against Serbla.
