TENNIS NOW IN FULL SWING AT RESERVOIR

New Clubhouse Open For Business and Some Lockers Already Reserved by Claimants

Unless the weather man plays it too low down, tennis will be on in full swing at Reservoir before the end of this week.

The brand-new Reservoir clubhouse was opened yesterday and many of the lockers have already been distributed. Individual numbered locker and door keys are provided for the members.

While a courtkeeper will be on the job continuously after the school sessions close, it is probable that during the afternoon hours and on Saturdays a keeper will be on duty from next week on.

Probable Courtkeeper Arrangements to this effect will be completed within a day or two and it is quite likely that Charles Pollock, who had charge of the courts last summer, will fill the same job during the summer of 1915.

By to-morrow afternoon the new permanent nets for service on the courts are expected to be in place. On each of the six lower terrace courts a permanent net will be stretched and players will not be permitted to substitute these for their own.

While many of the local enthusiasts have already enrolled in the membership, many others who are still away at college have written about joining and have sent their requests for lockers along with their checks.

Tri-State Stars in West; Make Good With Peoria

Tri-State stars are doing big stunts at Peoria, Ill., in the Three I League. "Buck" Boyle, a former Trenton player, is playing a fine game. Other players are:

Maurer and Poland, both with Trenton last year. "Danny" McGeehan, of Allentown, has been transferred from Topeka to Peoria and the scrappy little second sacker is already in mid-season form.

The Peoria newspapers speak highly of Boyle at first, and of Maurer, who plays shortstop.

"Izzy" Hoffman, manager of Reading last year, is the manager of the club.

KAUFF WILL REPORT DAILY TO M'GRAW

Claims His Contract Is For Three Years; No Legal Stamp on

New York, May 4.—Bennie Kauff gave notice yesterday that he will fight to the finish; "that he has rights that must be considered."

Kauff declared yesterday that he would report to the Giants every day, and that President Hempstead would be obliged to pay him his salary for the next three years.

Kauff, who is 23 years old, weighs 174 pounds and stands 5 feet 7 inches, said: "I would bat .400 with the Giants and make the fans forget Ty Cobb. I never have been hooked up with a real ball club. Hempstead is a grasshopper. He ought to go back to the clothing business. The Wards should stick to their bakery ovens. They know absolutely nothing about baseball."

Holds Three-Year Contract with the Indianapolis Reds, but when that club became bankrupt my contract became dead, too.

Down South the Wards asked me to play for them at $8,000 a season for three years. I said "Certainly" I signed a contract, but there was no notary seal to the document, and neither was the signatures of the Wards on it. The contract was no good and the Wards realized it when they tried to make me sign a new contract when I reached Brooklyn.

"They wanted me to play for $3,000 less, and had all sorts of funny clauses in it. I refused. I told the Wards they would have to make good on the original contract. When they didn't make good I did business with McGraw."

"New York promised me a big bonus for jumping and I didn't demand it on the spot because I wanted to hurry to the Polo Grounds and put on a uniform. They must pay that bonus to me inside a week or there will be trouble. McGraw wants me, all right, but Hempstead got cold feet. The Wards put one over on Hempstead and made me believe I was tied up with them."

"The whole thing is that peace is to be declared soon in baseball and the Wards delayed offering me a contract so as to get me at their own terms. McGraw has given me permission to play semiprofessional ball, and I can pick up $800 this way. I also have offers to go into vaudeville. You can bet I will never play with the Reds again, no matter what happens."
