LOVE OF TWO GREAT

Ancient Passion of David and Jonathan Warms Cold Hearts After Thirty Centuries

PASSION WAS IMMEASURABLE

Kindred Spirits, They Made a Covenant of Friendship For Life and Exchanged Robes

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS

An ancient fire that has warmed An ancient fire that has warmed cold hearts through thirty centuries is the glowing love of David and Jonathan. These two pulsing spirits that became one in a noble passion, left this mortal sphere long. Jong ago—before ever Greece had risen to power, or Persia had begun her world conquests, or Alexander the Great had dreamed his imperial dreams, or Rome had come into existence. It was twenty-five hundred years before ever America was known to exist. Nations, cities, institutions and great men have risen and fallen and been forgotten in these three thousand years; but the love of these two young men is still a living force in the world. Consider the wonder of it; twenty-five million persons of all ages, conditions and races, scattered over the whole earth, are to-day studying, and being inspired by, the story of this master friendship. Immeasurable is the progeny of love that has been begotten by this union of true hearts. Thus the world reveals, by the value which it places upon a single story of friendship, that it agrees with Robert Browning:

"For life, with all it yields of joy or hearts through thirty centuries

"For life, with all it yields of joy or woe,

And hope and fear,
Is just our chance o' the prize of learning Love,— How love might be, hath been, indeed, and is."

Young David was a shepherd-minstrel-soldier. He had won victories over Goliath, over the Philistines, and over the hearts of the people.
But the jealous heart of self-absorbed King Saul was full of bitterness, hate and murder towards mm. The ruddy young hero had been obliged to flee from one of Saul's fits of madness, and had taken refuge with Samuel,
lowed him thither, and fell under the spell of the man of God, David, doubtless by Samuel's advice, returned to Gibeah and sought out his friend Jonathan.

was shall be between me and thee, and between my seed and thy seed, forever."

A King's Too-Ready Spear
In the absence of King Saul, the two friends agreed that upon his return, Jonathan would ascertain the real sentiments of the king toward David, determining whether the latter was to be permanently a fugitive from the court. Noble son that he was, Jonathan could not believe Lab. His father designed year was that David should absent himself from a formal ceremonial: the king's words would then reveal his purpose.

Hard beyond most men's endurance was the test which Jonathan had to undergo. For he must make choice between father and friend. Sometimes one is called upon to renounce all ties for the sake of loves and Jonathan, when his hour struck, adhered to his friend. Discovering that the king purpose slaying David, he began to plead the cause of his heart's beloved. To such heights the for his more made by onaked the secret of his success:

A Friend Rather Than a Throne

"Life offers no joy like a friend." cried the poet. Splendid Jonathan chose a friend above a throne. He knew the justice of David's cause, and he foresaw that the scepter would one day come into his hand. No petty thoughts of what he himself was losting troubled him: he only covenanted with David that whatsoever should

Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel allments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made or a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter that one's system collects.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, head-aches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.
