Acts in Conjunction With Federal Officials and Makes a Haul on Adulterated Goods

Dairy and Food Commission James Foust, acting in conjunction with Federal officials, has seized a whole carload of misbranded foodstuffs consigned to this city by Chicago firm. The action was brought in the name of the government after some work by Agent Herman Lind and Agent C. Linton, acting for the national and State governments. The goods seized are 559 cases of an alleged milk product, which does not contain anything coming from milk, but is full of vegetable fats.

The action was brought in the United States Court and the proceeding will be against the manufacturer, not the Harrisburg firm handling the goods. This is the first action in the United States by Federal and State agents against the manufacturers who have been sending articles into the State misbranded and violating laws which the Pennsylvania manufacturers and merchants have observed.

PRICE. THE BIDS WICKOK CONTRACT

Make Every Effort to Start Work on New Plant This Week

Every effort is being made by officials of the W. O. Hickok Manufacturing Company to start work this week on the concrete foundations of the new plant to be erected above Cumberland street between the Pennsylvania railroad and Paxton creek, covering about three acres.

The awarding of a number of the contracts to local and out of town construction companies with only a few arrangements to be adjusted will help materially with the plan of the officials in having work on the erection of the big plant started at once.

Throughout the summer months the work will be pushed with the intention of having the seven buildings finished before the end of the year.

The general contract for the plant was let to F. A. Havens and Company, Philadelphia. The brickwork contract was awarded to Cranford and Stephenson, this city. Other contractors who were chosen for the various parts are: James G. Wilson and Sons, Philadelphia, painting and glazing; David Lupton Sons Company, Philadelphia, steel wall sash and continuing wall sash; Samuel B. Weidman, Harrisburg, sheet metal work; Pennsylvania Steel Company, structural steel, about 260 tons; Walters, Purkis and McElroy, Philadelphia, plumbing.

A number of other contracts for interior work on the plant will not be awarded until the work on the exterior has been about completed.

Historical Society to Hear Indian History

"Indian History of Harrisburg," is the subject of an address to be given by Dr. Harvey B. Bashore, to the members of the Harrisburg County Historical society to-morrow evening at the society headquarters, 9 South Front street.

The information which will be used in the talk was obtained from colonial records, telling of a visit to an Indian village located in this vicinity, about ten years before the arrival of the first white settlers.

The lecture will contain accounts of the trading between Indian agents, particularly Conrad Weiser, and the Indians. An interesting feature is the fact that Weiser was strongly opposed to the white men furnishing the Indians with rum, and the measures he used to prevent this.

Mr. Davis further explained that it would be the policy of the commission to co-operate with property owners wherever possible. "We do not intend to compel anyone to plant or trim trees at a burdensome expense to property owners," he said. "Whenever a property owner wants shade trees trimmed, if he will come to us we will take care of him. We will also assist with advice and in other ways the people who want to plant trees."

The Harrisburg Light and Power company has already trimmed the trees in Second, Conestoga and a few in Front streets. A skilled trimmer was employed by the companies and the work was inspected by members of the commission.

18 DAUPHIN CASES IN SUPREME COURT

Judge Kunkel's Decision in Anthracite Coal Tax Act One of Appeals From Local Bench

All of the sixteen cases listed for argument at the May session of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, which will be held here beginning May 24, are appeals from decisions of the Dauphin County Court, recently received by Prothonotary H. F. Hoffer.

Of special interest is the appeal from Judge Kunkel's decision declaring constitutional the 1915 anthracite coal tax law. This is at the foot of the list and whether or not it will be reached is problematical. Another case of interest is the appeal of Carlie against the People's Bridge Company. The argument grows out of a suit for damages brought by Mrs. Carlie, wife of a former head of the Pennsylvania Reduction Company. Carlie drove through an opening in the People's Bridge, which, it was contended, was not properly guarded.

Argument will also be heard on the York Haven-John Rider case. The other cases are appeals in State tax decisions.

Loeser returned last evening from Sullivan county, where he argued for a rule upon Louis Rashinsky, formerly of Steelton, to be allowed to sue for a divorce. Queenstown, May 12.—One woman, a passenger on the Lusitania, lost all three of her children in the disaster and gave the bodies of two of them to the sea herself, says a story in the Cork Herald. When the ship went down she held up the three children in the water, shrieking for help. When rescued two were dead. Their room was required and the mother was brave enough to realize it.

"Give them to me," she shrieked. "Give them to me, my bonnie wee things. I will bury them. They are mine to bury as they were mine to keep."

With her form shaking with sorrow she took hold of each little one from the rescuers and reverently placed it in the water again, and people in the boat wept with her as she murmured a little sobbing prayer.

Vanderbilt, Woman Says, Was "Children's Hero"

Queenstown, May 12.—Mrs. Sanley B. Lines, of Toronto, paid a glowing tribute to the gallantry of Mr. Vanderbilt and his valet, Ronald Denver. People will not talk of Mr. Vanderbilt in the future as a millionaire sportsman and a millionaire sportsman and a millionaire sportsman and a millionaire sportsman.

When the ship was nearing him he showed a gallantry which no words of mine can adequately describe. He stood outside the palm saloon on the starboard side with Ronald Denver by his side. He looked on the scene of horror and despair with pitying eyes. "Find all the kiddies you can," he said to his valet.

The man rushed off immediately collecting children and as he brought them to Mr. Vanderbilt the latter dashed to the boats with two little ones in his arms at a time. When he could no longer find any children he went to the assistance of the women and placed as many as he could in safety."

Pipe and Pipe Bending Company Very Busy

The big plant of the Harrisburg Pipe & Pipe Bending Company is now a busy place. Orders are already in hand which assure a busy summer and the expansion of the plant is being gradually increased. While the prices of steel products are still low the prospects are that with increasing business and demand for the company's products the prices will go up.

Large orders have been received for gas cylinders and for the steel products of the company. The open hearing plant is now running full. Owing to the expansion of the firm's domestic business a considerable enlargement of the plant is now under way, including new forge and shop finishing departments. This expansion follows the policy of the company to develop more lines of specialties. The officers and employees of this company are taking much interest in the floral decoration of the office in Herr street and the main entrance in State street.
