APPROPRIATIONS ON FINAL JOURNEY

Senate and House Start Measures on the Way to the Governor For His Action

The last act in the appropriation work was begun last night when the committees in each branch sent out bills. They were all held so that they will pass finally within ten days of adjournment, thus giving the Governor the full thirty days to act on them.

The Harrisburg bills are not changed, the amounts being as heretofore reported in the Telegraph. Carlisle and Lebanon fare the same way. The Senate committee reported out over 300 House bills, very few of them changed.

Close to fifty Senate appropriation bills were reported to the House by the appropriations committee and will be given right of way. In the list was the bill for improvement of the port of Philadelphia, which was reduced from $1,000,000 to $250,000. Other bills changed since they passed the Senate were: Allegheny General, $1,750,000 to $200,000; Presbyterian, Pittsburgh, $40,000 to $45,000; Tabor Home, Doriestown, $8,000 to $9,000; Chestnut Hill Hospital, $2,600 to $3,500; Willis Eye Hospital, Philadelphia, $40,000 to $50,000.

The bill for a monument to Molly Pitcher at Carlisle was reported for $10,000. The Clark Senate resolution providing for the State Board of Education to report to the Governor on advisability of erecting a State educational building was reported to the House last night by Mr. Milliron. The building is to furnish offices for the Department of Public Instruction and to be a memorial to the founders of the school system. Five thousand dollars is to be used for making plans if the Governor approves.

The House roads committee reported out the bill providing that appropriations for township road aid shall be applied on the money owed by the State. The bills creating a State board of accounts, second class city police pension, providing for male and female watchers at the November election when the suffrage amendment is voted on, Senate "jitney regulator," making it compulsory on trolley companies to carry freight and Perry's flagship maintenance.

The House electric railways committee negatively reported bills requiring trolley cars to be equipped with airbrakes and that suburban cars be provided with toilets.
