IN CHOICE OF MEATS

With the approach of warm weather, when it is difficult to keep foodstuffs and meats, Dr. J. M. J. Raunick, health officer, is urging care in the selection of food.

health officer, is urging care in the selection of food. "The prevalence of ptomaine poison-ing and general disorders of the digest-live organs," said Dr. Raunick, "due to consumption of decomposed food-stuffs is a condition met with fre-quently at this time of the year. "People often overlook the necessity of getting their meats, vegetables and other foodstuffs into refrigerators promptly. Market and store buyers also overlook food that is unfit for use. This is also fly time and another reason why housewives should be care-ful in what they buy and incaring for the food after it reaches the home. The need of sanitary meat markets is becoming more apparent daily." In addition to this warning Dr. Rau-nick gave the following suggestions for housewives on detecting bad foods: Beef should be of a rosy-red color, with cream-colored, firm, elastic fat, and scarcely moist when touched with the finger. Do not buy wet, flabby beef that is pale or purple. "Tamb or mutton should be firm, closely grained and light red in color, with fat that is white and hard. "Fresh yeal is pale red (unless milk fat between the muscles and surround-ing tissues, and scarcely moist to the fouch. Bad veal is soft, mush, sticky and has a very red tinge, while the fat has a grayish, lead color. "Good pork is solid, has pure white fat and pink flesh. Do not buy pork that is soft and yellow. All Meats Firm "Foultry should be firm to the touch, pink or yellow in color, and posses a resh odor and unbroken skin. "Stale poultry is flabby, bluish-green on the crop and abdomen, and has a bad door; the eyes are sunken, there is a wasted appearance of the flesh of the head and the skin pulls apart easily. "All shellfish should smell fresh, and the shell should close firmly when put

"All shellfish should smell fresh, and the shells should close firmly when put into water or touched with the finger. Shellfish should be alive when cooked. "Fresh fish should have red gills and moist bright scales, clear eyes, and should be firm and rigid when handled. Stale fish is flabby, has dull scales, the eyes are sunken and covered with a film, the gills are pale, or of greenish color, and the fish has a bad odor. All lumpy fish should be rejected, as the growth may be cancer.

color, and the fish has a bad odor. All lumpy fish should be rejected, as the growth may be cancer. To Octect Bad Meat "To detect decomposing meats in cans before opening, inspect the ends of the can, and if they buige, discard the can. This bulging is due to ac-cumulated gases of decomposition that push the ends outward by force of pressure. Leaking and rusty cans should also be discarded. Canned meats should be free from mould. The odor of such meats should be the same as when freshly prepared. If the meat is putrid, exposure to heat will make it possible to detect the foul odor. "Glassed meat products are bad when they have a rancid, sour smell, and when the color differs from the fresh product. "Smeled meats and fish are bad "Smoked meats and fish are bad when they are flabby to the touch and have a rancid, sour smell."

Christie MacDonald, who is to be seen here in "Sweet-hearts" at the Majestic, Thursday even-ing, May 27, remarked: "I have never heard that Sarah Bernhardt raged tempestuously over some stage trial and Madam Bernhardt is still on the stage and wealthy; it has never been stild that Madam Melba refused to let the curtain rise for a performance be-cause she took a sudden dislke to her manager and she is still before the manager and she is still before the avorithe sudden dislke to her manager and she is still before the stage and reacting the star-pointment for the subthout a disap-pointment for the subthout a lise is one of my happinesses that I have never slighted any audience and I am still on the stage and -still on the stage.
