GANNETT PRAISES CITY'S WATER FRONT

Engineer Believes Other Municipalities Will Follow Harrisburg's Bank Improvement Lead

In addressing the students in civil engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, recently Farley Gannett, engineer of the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania, commented most favorably upon the work which Harrisburg has been doing to improve the river front.

Mr. Gannett showed lantern slide pictures of the river front as it was after the high water of a few years ago when the bank was undermined and much of it was washed away and then a picture of the new steps and sidewalk, taken looking up stream from the Cumberland Valley bridge. He stated that the work being done in Harrisburg, including the river front intercepting sewer, the steps, sidewalk and dam, comprise one of the most extensive, thorough and commendable river improvement works undertaken by any city in this part of the country.

Mr. Gannett believes the pioneer work in river bank and channel improvement done by Harrisburg will result in many other cittes following the example of this city, and, whenever possible, cites the Harrisburg work to city authorities when similar work is necessary.

Buyls' HOME BILL BEATEN
The Senate bill to establish a State institution for boys in York county was defeated Just before the adjournment of the morning session of the House after a prolonged debate in which the bill was attacked by W. Mr. Nissley and Mr. Wilson then had a tilt and Mr. Stein, Philadelphia, went after Wilson.

Be Sure Your Baby Gains Each Week

And you'll know he's well and happy. If he isn't at least a few ounces heavier each and every week—you're giving him the wrong food, or, strange as it sounds—you're not giving him enough.

Perhaps your breast milk is getting too thin for that growing little body. Perhaps you're giving the baby cow's milk he can't digest and that may bring sickness—even consumption—to your baby.

You cannot know whether the cow is healthy or the dairy clean. And even if it is, the milk would put a leaden burden on the little bit of baby stormach.

If your own breast milk is not enough, add one feeding a day of

In order to get back its outlay for the bounties from the State, the county must make its report by June 1. The controller, therefore, has asked that these warrants be cashed by May 26. To date the county has paid out $1.385 for bounties.

GILLETTE, BATES, DORO TONIGHT

If the genuine theater-lovers of Harrisburg know just what was in store for them in the advent of the tri-star revival of "Diplomacy," at the Majestic, to-night, that playhouse would not be capacious enough to hold the audience who would greet William Gillette, Blanche Bates and Marie Doro in Charles Frohman's revival of the old Sardou comedy. Not content with bringing together three such illustrious stars as Gillette, Bates and Doro, but the star of players of the callber of Jefreys, Sertia Fordyce, Norman Tharp, Glorgio Majernio, Elliott Dexter and Gustay yon Seyffertiz. To Mr. Tharp, Giorgio Majernio, Elliott Dexter and Gustav Von Seyffertitz. To Mr. Gillette will fall the role of the suave and subtle diplamat, "Henri Beauclere," a character that should ideally fit the great creator of "Sherlock Holmes." Blanche Bates, who has been too long missing from the local boards, will portray the spying "Countess Zicka." Marie Doro, fresh from her recent London triumphs in this same play, will lend her exquisite beauty and magnetism of personality to the heroine, "Dora," and if the eulogisms of the English critics may be trusted, Miss Doro will surprise her most devout admirers by the revelation of unexpected dramatic power. The curtain will rise promptly at 8 o'clock.—Advertisement.

CHRISTIE MacDONALD IN "SWEET-

HEARTS'

Although demure little Christie MacDonald was born in an out of the way
Nova Scotia town of Scotch, parentage, she is to-day considered the most popular and successful of American prima donnas. It is something of a coincidence that each of the long line of comic operas that in succeeding years have made her famous has depicted her as a princess. In "Sweethearts," in which Miss Maconald is to be seen at the Majestic, Thursday, May 27, she appears again as a princess, but this time not until the final act. The first act shows her as a busy little laundress.
Miss Maconald is appearing at the head
