Dr. Carolyn Geisel, of Flying Squadron, to Speak in Grace M. E. Church

Of deep interest to women of church, civic and temperance societies of the city will be the meetings of the Flying Squadron of America on Friday, at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. in the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, when Dr. Carolyn Geisel, of the Battle Creek, Mich., Sanatorium and whose woman physician of the country, is to make addresses, according to Mrs. M. Margery Steese, who is in charge of the effort of rallying the women of these societies to the meetings of this organization.

Dr. Geisel is chairman of the local executive committee arranging for the meetings and looks forward to capacity audiences to greet the speaker, who has now conducted three-day campaigns in over 300 leading cities of the country, making splendid progress in the fight to crystallize public sentiment for national prohibition with its eradication of the liquor traffic from modern life.

With Dr. Geisel comes an associate speaker, Dr. Mrs. Landrith, a well known educator and former moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, while the soloist will be Frederick Muller, of New York, who was formerly leading basso of the Alice Nethlen Opera Company. Mrs. Butler will be the pianist.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Dr. Geisel later took advanced courses of study at Petrograd, Russia, after which she did much research work at the Pasteur Institute in Paris. She also holds three American medical diplomas. Some of her researches in the study of the scientific temperance phase of the liquor traffic, of the effect of alcohol on the human body, and in her forthcoming addresses she plans to tell of the ravages of rum on the human system from the viewpoint of the pathologist. Her topic will be "Alcohol and the Man Himself."

Dr. Geisel has been for years a leader of the International Young Men's Christian Association, and at the last convention of the organization, she made president. He was one of the founders of the Tennessee Anti-Saloon League and has been a member of the official of the organization, being a member of the executive committee. In association with Dr. Geisel, she wrote, at the Atlantic City convention, the prohibition campaign slogan of the great Christian Endeavor movement, which he is one of the international trustees, "A Saloonless Nation by 1920, the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims," the slogan which has since been adopted by almost every temperance organization in the country.

Frederick Muller, who comes as soloist of this group, is regarded as one of the leaders of his line in the country. After retiring as leading basso of the Alice Nethlen opera company, some years ago, he became soloist for Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, world evangelist, and accompanied him on his famous Pacific tour, at the close of which Dr. Chapman declared him "the greatest evangelistic singer in the world."

ELECTRICAL VENUS AT THE COLONIAL

The electrical Venus is to be the headliner at the Colonial Theater during the first three days of this week. This is a very original and novel novelty, in a class with some other eight acts that have been presented at the Colonial, but which are not so popular as the Selvinos. The Selvinos act with some new features to it, and it is a very interesting and entertaining show. Lang and Coulter have taken the place of the Selvinos. MARY PICKFORD AS "MISTRESS NELL" AT THE REGENT TODAY

Mary Pickford, the Harrisburg favorite, is at the Regent to-day and tomorrow. In the film version of Henrietta Crossman's former starring vehicle, "Mistress Nell," the famous drama of the gallant days of the gay King Charles (2), Mary Pickford portrays that wonderful character, so often called the greatest heroine of historic and romantic drama with such skill and charm as to make it one of her greatest screen triumphs. Nell Gwyn, the whimsical, impulsive and eloquent little favorite of the public and the monarch of England, whose bravery and wit saved her royal lover from treachery at home and abroad, is one of the most amazing characters ever presented in a drama, and Mary Pickford lends a new and vivid beauty to "Mistress Nell," of whom it has been said, "England would not be great without her." The tender lover interest of the story is dramatically developed in this dashing romance of the swashbuckling period of hearts and swords, and "Mistress Nell's" complete triumph over the enemies of the king, and over the heart of the king himself, is thrillingly and realistically portrayed.—Advertisement.

VICTORIA THEATER

Today's special feature will be a three-part drama produced by the famous Viceroy Company entitled "The Girl Who Might Have Been." The man whose wife she might have been, solves the mystery and convicts the criminal. Harry Morey, Ned Finley, Edward Elkas, Paul Scardon and Frank Currier as some of the supporting players listed in the cast. Another strong offering is "The Confession," a two-part Biograph drama.—Advertisement.
