"The proper regulation of jitney buses in the interest and safety of the public is sure to come," says H. H. Franklin. "It is hardly to be expected that an enterprise of such rapid growth would be free of objectionable features. Nothing, however, has developed which is serious enough to in any way condemn the service. On the contrary, city officials everywhere are justified in giving the enterprise care ful study with a view of encouraging its development, because it offers wonderful possibilities in convenience and time saving. Aside from its convenience, the service has the fundamental advantage of installation and maintenance without tearing up the streets, tracking them, setting poles, etc. "In every city there are some streets which the people have succeeded in keeping free of car tracks. Imagine a modern city with no car tracks, poles or overhead wires, but with an almost silent, clean public transportation system, such as the automobiles will finally develop. Such a city would indeed be a place of beauty."

War order prosperity has a rival in

War order prosperity has a rival in the domestic automobile business of the United States. Everywhere automobiles are being brought as never before. For the first three months of this year sales of automobiles in the United States increased 39 per cent. over the same three months last year. The Spring selling season, now at its height, will probably show even a greater increase. Since February 15, Franklin sales have increased 107 per cent. over same period last year.

New York, May 29.—Announcement that the German reply to Washington's note is probably to be issued to morrow caused a further halt in the stock market to-day. The opening was irregular and void of feature, exgept for a decline of one point in Rock Island and 1½ in Butte-Superior, which yesterday declared a large "extra" dividend. War shares, like crucible steel and Westinghouse, lost substantial fractions and the usual leaders, including United States Steel.

Union Pacific, Reading and Amalgamate rose or fell within a narrow range.
