TWO SOCIAL AFFAIRS PLANNED FOR CLASS

Douglass Association and the Methodist Church

Evangelist C. E. Hillis, who is conducting a six weeks' revival at the tabernacle. South Second street and Buser's run, in a sharp sermon last evening bitterly arraigned some of the churches that have declined to coperate in the campaign, sharply lashed the apathetic churchman and charged that the borough of Steelton and some of its churches are being run by the booze interests.

"The worst knockers in this town," he shouted, "are officers of some of the churches. The saloonkeepers are running this town," he charged. "They are also running some of the churches," he added; "that's why they are not in this campaign."

Among some of the other "hot shots" the evangelist fired at his audience were these:

"When you strike a man's sin you make him mad."

"The ice men of Steelton say the leading church members have strons drink in their ice boxes."

"The most of you men would have towash out your mouths with acid before I would kiss you because of your dirty tobacco."

"There are hundreds of homes in Steelton that have no Bibles and where everyone from father to the baby drinks beer—and yet there are churches in Steelton that say the town doesn't need a revival."

Mrs. Hillis will preach on "Women and Booze" to women only to-morrow afternoon at the tabernacle. The booster chorus will sing at the tabernacle services to-morrow evening.

"The Unpardonable Sin' will be the season in honor of the colored graduates of this year's class. An elaborate literary and musical program has been prepared. It follows:

Music, association members; president's address, Joseph B. Butler, class of '09; oration, "Frederick Douglass," by William G. Jefferson, salutatorian of this year's class; music, essay, "Spring and Music" and instrumental selection, "Rahspodie Hougeriols," Annihe Ferguson, '18; sole, "My Spanish Reversor of the colous," Arthur Blackwell, "15; declamation, "An the truth shall make you
