HARRISBURG GIRLS GRADUATE AT WILSON

Miss Melissa Ruth Baker and Miss Edith Hoover Receive Diplomas at College

Special to The Telegraph
Chambersburg, Pa., June 9.—This morning the forty-fifth annual commencement of Wilson College for Women was held here, the exercises being in the beautiful Frank Thomson Memorial Hall, with an audience which packed the place. There were twenty-seven young ladies who received the degree of bachelor of arts on this occasion. The address to the class was made by Vice Provost of the University of Pennsylvania Dr. Josiah Harnar Penniman. This was the last commencement under the presidency of Dr. Anna J. McKear, who leaves for Wellesley with the coming term.

Commencement festivities began with the students' recital on Saturday evening and certificates in music were presented to Julia Hickox, of Williamstown, Mass., and Laura Gates, of Shippensburg. The baccalaureate service on Sunday was conducted by Dr. James D. Moffat of Washington and Jefferson College. The twelfth organ recital by Dr. Mansfield, head of the department of music, given on Monday evening, contained representative compositions from the eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

On Tuesday evening the class presented "The Comedy of Errors" in which two Harrisburg students took part. Miss Ruth Baker received the character of "Adriana, wife of Antipholus of Ephesus," and Miss Edith Hoover that of "Mistress of the Wardrobe."

The members of the graduating class are: Eunice M. Allison, Chester, West Va.; Miriam B. Altenderfer, Pottstown; Melissa Ruth Baker, Harrisburg; Winifred L. Bowser, Kittanning; Martha S. Collier, Bordentown, N. J.; Margaret H. Coover, Gettysburg; Emily H. Davis, Conshohocken; Flossie I. Detrick, Mt. Carmel; Marjory F. Earseman, Knox; Ora Enterline, Big Run; Mary E. Emling, Jersey Shore; Jennie Gertrude Frank, Pittsburgh; Amy M. Gilbert, Chambersburg; Agnes Helen Holman, Whitesville, N. J.; Carrie V. Holt, Columbus, N. J.; Edith L. Hoover, Harrisburg; Gladys S. OFFICERS' CAMP AT MOUNT GRETTA ENDS

Rifle Firing at Silhouette Targets Simulates Battle Movements Against Active Enemy

Special to The Telegraph
Mt. Gretna, Pa., June 9.—A battle royal and spectacular was that fought at the State Rifle Range here this morning as the concluding exercise in the tour of duty by the officers of the National Guard of Pennsylvania. The officers of the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Sixth and Eighth regiments were marshaled into one war-strength company, in command of Colonel Thomas Biddle Ellis, of the Sixth Infantry, as captain, and the officers of the Ninth, Tenth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Sixteenth and Eighteenth regiments, were similarly commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Ezra H. Ripple, Jr., of the Thirtieth regiment.

In turn the two companies were deployed in the field west of the rifle range and after a march encountered an enemy in the shape of silhouette targets placed at varying ranges in the ravine near the target pits. Distances were unknown, and simulating an active enemy, the targets disappeared after a brief time in view, and others appeared, some of them representing columns of reserves coming forward to the firing line, and others representing cavalry coming from the rear, or deploying on the flanks of the enemy.

The officers in command of the "live" troops were then obliged to deploy their troops in extended order, and to establish a firing line, locate squad leaders, and make all the other preparations which are employed in real battle. At the close of both exercises the silhouette targets were exploded and the hits noted, and later the army instructors lectured the companies on the mistakes that had been made in the attack or suggested where better tactics would have been beneficial.

The camp broke this noon, and most of the officers had departed before 2 o'clock.

New Members of Faculty at Gettysburg College

Special to The Telegraph
Gettysburg, Pa., June 9.—New professors and assistants were elected to the faculty of Gettysburg College by the board of trustees at a meeting held here last evening.

John H. Ashworth was elected professor of economics and political science and head of the department of commerce and finance; Chester A. Marietta, professor of the Burton F. Blough chair of civil and sanitary engineering; Thomas R. Hendricks, of the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale, assistant in the department of engineering; Robert J. Wolf, of Harrisburg, a graduate of the college last year and now a student in the Theological Seminary, student secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; Homer C. Wright, of Conneville, instructor of mathematics and science in Stevens Academy, the preparatory school; Charles P. Cessna, of Hainsburg, assistant in the department of physics under Professor Parsons.

President William A. Granville reported the raising in cash or pledges of $30,000 in the building fund. Dr. George D. Stanley, head of the department of biology, offered to erect a residence on the campus for the use of the professors at a cost of $5,000.

Corn on the Cob —the Roasting Ear

Is not more delicious than the

New Post Toasties

In the growth of corn there is a period when the kernels are plumped out with a vegetable milk, most nutritious (roasting ears). As it slowly ripens this hardens and finally becomes almost flinty.

This nutritious part of the corn is cooked, seasoned, rolled thin, and toasted by a new process which enhances the true corn flavour.

Different from ordinary corn flakes, the New Post Toasties have a distinctive form and flavour; and they keep their appetizing crispness, even after cream or milk is added.

These Superior Corn Flakes come oven-fresh in tight wax-sealed packages; and they cost no more than ordinary "corn flakes." Insist upon having
