Mathewson Needs Rest, Says New York Nerve Specialist
Chicago, Ill., June 9.—Christy Mathewson will be out of baseball for several weeks, it was said yesterday, after the pitching star of the New York Nationals had undergone a rigid examination by a nerve specialist.
Suffering from a nervous disorder of the left shoulder, Mathewson has been unable to take his regular turn in pitching for some time and when the club reached Chicago he was obliged to place himself under the care of a specialist. He had been unable to sleep more than three hours a night, he said, because of the pain. The disorder extended to the right shoulder yesterday.
Veteran baseball men who have discussed the case with Mathewson are of the opinion that he is suffering from much the same affliction that robbed "Big Ed" Walsh, of the Chicago Americans, of his pitching ability two years ago. Any violent exercise causes sharp pains to shoot through Mathewson's shoulder and neck.
