Will Not Assume That Destruction Local Firm's Contracts With the Governor Brumbaugh Compliof Ship Constitutes Treaty Violation

Suggests That American Interested Declares British Reports Concern-Parties Enter Claims in Accordance With Code

Washington, June 10.—Germany's latest note to the United States on the sinking of the American salling ship William P. Frye by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, received here to-day, makes the far-reaching claim of a right to destroy any American vessel carrying contraband, while agreeing to pay damages for the act.

Two points made by the United States are rejected by Germany. One was the statement of the American Government in its note of April 28 that prize court proceedings mean unnecessary delay, all matters concerned being susceptible for prompt settlement through diplomatic channels and the other was that the destruction of the Frye was "unquestionably a violation of the obligations between the United States and Prussia."

Under the Prussian-American treaty of 1828, the binding force of which was admitted by Germany in its note of April 5, the right of citizens of either country to ship arms and ammunitions as well as all other kinds of contraband and payment made for it if confiscated. The note from Germany to-day enlarges upon the treaty of 1828 by claiming that while the treaty did not specifically permit the destruction of a ship, nevertheless if its contraband could not be stopped in any other way, it could in the extreme case be effected by the destruction of the Chy, if its assertions are accepted by the United States, would be to throw the prize courts for decision all cases of whether destruction of the Chy, if its assertions are accepted by the United States, would be to throw the prize courts for decision all cases of whether destruction of the contraband could not be stopped in any other way, it could in the extreme case be effected by the destruction of the contraband could not be stopped in any other way, it could in the extreme case be effected by the destruction of the contraband could not be stopped in any other way, it could in the extreme case be effected by the destruction of the contraband could not be stopped in any other way, it could in the extreme case be effected by the destruction of

French Have Plan to Use Barking Dogs to Help Annihilate Germans

Paris, June 10.—Frank suggestions in great variety for swelling casualty lists of the German armies have been sent by patriotic Frenchmen to the committee of scientists which is examining military inventions in the hope of finding among the many submitted a few cevees which might prove of real value.

One of the most novel proposals, according to Processor Appel, who heads the committee, was made by a man who believed the barking of dogs might be used to advantage. He advised tying revolvers to the heads of dogs with triggers attached by wires to the animal's jaw so the weapon would be discharged automatically when the dogs barked.

Another idea submitted was to train falcons to carry into the air an apparatus which would receive missiles where

Another idea submitted was to train falcons to carry into the air an apparatus which would receive missiles dropped from Zeppelins.

Prof. Appel said his committee had been able to do really useful work, especially for the aviation corps. The scientists are flooded with inventions. All of them are examined rather than risk losing something which might be of value.

Hershey, Pa., June 10.—After adopting resolutions, under a letter of greeting to President Wilson, commending him for his stand for peace, humanity and religion, and a similar letter to Governor Brumbaugh, complimenting him for his attitude on the temperance question and his high ideals in the matter of administrative policy, the conference of the Church of the Brethren adjourned to-day to meet next year in Ohio.

By many of the churchmen it was considered one of the greatest conferences held in recent years. Aggressive steps along the line of church activities were taken and changes made in the church policies that is expected to bring about closer relation between the congregations of the church as well of the allied bodies.

Five missionaries were sent to foreign fields and the conference offering for missions was more than $22,000.

The closing act of the conference was the offering of prayers for world peace, led by the Rev. Charles D. Bonsuck, of Maryland.

Hershey, June 10.—Notwithstanding the fact that the Brethren conference is drawing to a close, the interest and attendance is not on the wane. While some of the delegates and visitors are leaving for their respective homes, others are arriving to participate in the closing sessions. The attendance of actual delegates this year is 453, this being the highest ever enrolled at a conference held in the East. Only twice has the attendance been larger, and this has been at Winona Lake, in opposition, 257. This question has

Washington. D. C., June 10.—William J. Bryan's resignation as Secretary of State and the circumstances leading up to it still held the center of interest in Washington to-day, overshadowing even the dispatch of another note to Germany. Its effect on the nation's foreign relations and also its political consequences afforded wide speculation.

Chief attention was concentrated on the effect of Secretary Bryan's personal statement giving his reasons for his resignation.

The propositions which Mr. Bryan expects to urge upon the people are that an offer should be made to Germany to submit the questions in dispute to an international commission for investigation during a year's time and that meanwhile American citizens should by proclamation be warned not to take passage on belligerent ships or on American vessels carrying ammunition.

President on "Peace-Prohibition" Platform

Washington, D. C., June 10,—"William J. Bryan will be a candidate for the presidency in 1916 on a platform of prohibition, peace and woman's suffrage. This has been evident for some time to close observers. The questions of prohibition and woman's suffrage, which have been viewed as 'State issues' by President Wilson, Bryan has rushed in and indorsed whole-heartedly. The break with President Wilson would have come anyhow. It was only a matter of time. Bryan will be the candidate of the Prohibition party."

This statement was made yesterday by a member of the Republican national committee.

Engagement in the Baltic Sea

Washington, June 10.—The American note to Germany concerning the sinking of the Lusitania which precipitated the crisis in President Wilson's cabinet and as a climax to which William J. Bryan resigned as Secretary of State, was believed here to have reached Ambassador Gerard in Berlin early to-day. It was expected that the embassador would prescuit the communication immediately to the German Foreign Office. It will be given out tonight for publication to-morrow morning. In the meantime President Wilson's on has asked that detailed forecasts of the note be not published.

It is understood here that the German government will not make answer to the American note until after Meyer Gerhard, the special envoy chosen by Count Von Bernstoff, the German ambassador, to outline the American point of view to the government at Berlin, arrives and explains the situation. This, it is estimated, will take at least a week or ten days. The latest note, though couched in friendly tones, reiterates firmly the demand for reparation for the loss of American lives in the sinking of the Lusitania and sets forth clearly the earnest desire of the American government that Germany signify her early adherence to the principles of international law—that neutrals be permitted to travel on unarmed ships without being subject to the dangers of submarine warfare.
