STEEL TON
GET TO BUSINESS

Plant Now Equipped to Make Surplus of Steel "Shapes"; To Roll Ship Steel

The Pennsylvania Steel Company is fast completing its improvements and chain of new mills at the local plant which will enable it to compete with other companies on a more advantageous footing than formerly.

By the placing in operation a few days ago of its new 28-inch finishing mill the company is now able to supply all its own requirements for steel shapes. With a capacity of 30,000 tons per month the new mill will give a surplus above the company's own needs which may be sold to other consumers.

The 3,000 tons of shapes required for the second Munson Line steamship to be built at the Sparrows Point plant, it was announced in Philadelphia this morning, will be rolled in Steelton.

To meet an increased demand for open hearth steel the fifth furnace in this department was placed in operation yesterday. This leaves the number of furnaces in operation at considerably below that of a few weeks ago.

Work on the new 126-foot stand-pipe at the foot of Swatara street is progressing. The two huge inlet pipes through which the water will be forced into the standpipe have been put into place within the past few days.

PRESENT PROSPERITY SMEARED WITH BLOOD

As to the Corporations. "Our policy in this respect is so short-sighted and so stupid, that all men are beginning to realize how handicapped our country is in this respect, both in its domestic and foreign trade. The wonder is that it has not been done sooner. The hit-and-miss methods of our Federal Government, in regard to the business interests of this country during recent years, was so businesslike and so much success as we have achieved. If our national policy towards business had been as intelligent, up to date and far-sighted as that of other countries, where business is encouraged and fostered, our prosperity today would be far more permanent and many times greater than it is. No country that was not doubly blessed with natural resources could possibly survive the wretched Federal mismanagement that has existed in business affairs in this country during the past few years. Practically all our other prosperity is chargeable to Federal mismanagement and to political interference in one form or another.

AS TO THE WILSON TARIFF

"In place of being made up by experts on the subject, by men capable of framing a tariff law along scientific and reciprocal lines, it was made, as a result of a continuous effort by politicians along political lines. "During the last thirty years we have had at least five revisions of the tariff and several attempts at revision—practically a continuous performance of tariff tinkering for politics only, with the result that no body has been satisfied, business has been periodically upset, and millions of workers have been in sore distress. We have never had and never shall have, under existing conditions, a fair and properly balanced tariff schedule. What we must have is a permanent expert nonpartisan Tariff Commission.

SUGGESTS MEDIATION AS "THE WAY OUT"

"Great nations cannot be exterminated," says Mr. Bryan. "Predictions made in the beginning of the war have not been fulfilled. The war did not destroy the German fleet in a month; Germany did not take Paris in two months, and the Russian army did not starve in Berlin in a week. But even if extermination were possible, it would be a crime against civilization which no nation or group of nations could afford to commit."

"When can peace be restored? Anytime now, if the participants are really weary of this war and ready for it to end. If any nation is not ready, let its ruler state in plain and distinct and definite terms the conditions upon which it is willing to agree to peace; then if an agreement is not reached, blame for continuance of the war will be upon those who make unusual demands."

In proposing mediation, the former Secretary points out that The Hague Convention expressly declares an offer of mediation shall not be considered as unfriendly act.

To assure permanent peace, Mr. Bryan urges that his plan of investigation treaties be adopted by the warring nations.

DR. MEYER-GERHARD TELLS OF CONDITIONS

W. S. Wolf, at the latter's country place, after a conversation with Gottlieb Von Jagow, the foreign minister and under secretary Zimmerman.

That Dr. Meyer-Gerhard's first extended report on conditions in the United States should have been made to Dr. Wolf is regarded as natural, in view of the official position of the Colonel and secretary and there are other indications that Dr. Wolf is taking an interest in the question of German-American relations.

Dr. Wolf is one of those most familiar with life and conditions in the United States. He has, in fact, a good deal of the American in his manner of talk and action. His influence upon Germany's policy may be expected to be favorable to an ultimate understanding.

It is still too early to predict what form the German note will take. Apparently an endeavor will be made to open the way for further discussions.

FISH CODE GETS GOVERNOR'S HOOK

that while organizations favored the code, many individuals object to it. "A multitude of individual citizens, many of them by their own statements, declare that they will not hold days and when unable to obtain work, fish for food strongly object to certain features of the new code. This is a trout once hooked and returned to the stream cannot survive. They also object to other features of the bill on the general theory that it was drawn in the interest of those who fish for sport and recreation, and that it discriminates against the poor man who fishes for food. There is much in the code to warrant these protests. But the bill is not so much a matter of merely changing the fish code of Pennsylvania that few know the law and many unwittingly disobey it. Conservation is a matter of vital concern and it may have the united support of our citizenry. To arrive at the best, to study in a broad way our fish, game, forest and water problems, and to legislate at the next session upon these topics in a comprehensive and effective way will be better than specific acts that will only tentatively serve and that are not permanent. There are many who will not who toil and to whom recreation such as fishing is a blessing."

The Governor also used his axe on the bill to get ready for the trial. You men of Pennsylvania have "due notice; it is a perfectly clear proposition. What are you going to do about it?"

Will not the Chamber of Commerce of this State, in its patriotic effort to arouse the whole country to the necessity of taking business out of the hands of monopolies, and to move in that direction, start a campaign for three things:

"First: The right sort of a nonpartisan tariff commission.

"Second: The Federal incorporation and regulation of our great interstate international industrial corporations.

"THERE IS NO TIME TO LOSE."

SARGENT SCHOOL GIRL CAMP INSTRUCTRESS

of the plans for the opening of the city playgrounds for the summer on Monday.

Miss Little is a Cambridge, Mass., girl, and in addition to being a graduate of the Sargent school and camps has had a wide experience as a physical instructor for girls. She notified Commissioner Taylor yesterday of her acceptance. The girls' camp will probably open July 1, and Miss Little will arrive in Harrisburg a few days before.

Everything is practically in readiness for the opening of the playgrounds Monday, and what few details are yet to be settled will soon be arranged. Supervisor George W. Hill will meet with the instructors this evening or to-morrow to issue final instructions.

Temporary equipment will be installed on the Sycamore and Emerald steel playgrounds as the new steel paraphernalia will not arrive in time. The grading work is nearing completion on both new recreation places and while the running track at Sycamore is not yet in shape, the baseball fields are laid out and ready for business. Tennis courts are always being rolled on both playgrounds.

So, at 10 o'clock Monday all routes will lead to the nearest playground—if you're just a Harrisburg kid.

25,000 Tree Seals to Be Bought For Use of Forester to Boost City

Every time Uncle Sam carries a half-inch circular seal bearing a view of a city Forester Harry J. Mueller in the near future he will advertise Harrisburg in a highly colorful way and urge a boost for the city's tree-planting movement at the same time.

The city forester has ordered printed a daintily lithographed two and a half-inch circular seal bearing a view of a nicely shaded street with the capitol dome in the background above the tree tops. On the seal is the inscription "Help Beautify Your City. Co-operate With Harrisburg's Forester."

Forester Mueller will order 25,000 of the seals.

"SILENT CURFEW" IN EFFECT TO-MORROW

their children a second notice will be sent calling the father or mother, or both, to the police station for an explanation, and perhaps a fine.

It is understood that Mayor John K. Royal will issue permits to boys who are required to be out after that hour selling papers or working at other jobs. Colonel Joseph B. Hutchison is not sanguine that the new curfew law will work out satisfactorily without a signal.
