Sulpho-Sage, the New Wonder, Makes Gray Hair Dark Like This

For generations ladies have known the wonderful virtues of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray hair and giving it the health and luster of youth. Modern science has turned this old-fashioned recipe, added to it other valuable ingredients endorsed by eminent scalp specialists and made it into a perfect and really remarkable compound known as Sulpho-Sage. If your hair is gray, or just turning gray—if it is faded or becoming dry and lifeless, there is a surprise awaiting you if you will begin at once to use this Sulpho-Sage for restoring hair to its natural color. You no longer have to use harmful hair stain or dyes, nor do you have to go to the trouble and mussiness of making the Sage Tea yourself. Simply get a 50 cent bottle of Sulpho-Sage today and if it does not do all that is claimed for it in a few applications, it will not cost you a penny. In addition to making the hair luxuriant, dark, lustrous and glossy, Sulpho-Sage removes all dandruff and itching and keeps the scalp cool and healthy. It restores color naturally. Don't delay a single day—begin by applying Sulpho-Sage tonight and watch how rapidly you can bring back the envied appearance of youth. This delicately perfumed toilet preparation is sold and recommended by the gray haired folks of Harrisburg by Geo. A. Gorgas, who refunds price to anyone who isn't pleased with it. FULL CREW PLAN TO STOP THE REPEAL

Governor Vetoes the Repeal Which Attracted So Much Attention in Legislature

The full crew law approved by Governor John K. Tener in 1911 will remain on the statute books for two years at least. Governor Brumbaugh last night announced that he had vetoed the bill to repeal it.

The Governor's official veto of the bill kept an action secret until 6 o'clock last night. It said that he acted on it Friday, but did not desire the veto to be made public until released during the afternoon newspapers.

The Governor's veto in interesting because of the manner in which he takes the railroads to task.

"This bill empowers the Public Service Commission to require railroad corporations to employ an adequate number of men upon trains. It repeals the Act of June 19, 1911. It is known popularly as the 'full crew repealer'.

An extensive and systematic publicity campaign was inaugurated to secure its passage. The members of the Legislature, so they informed me, were subjected to the pleadings of a large and persistent number of speakers. Thousands of letters and other literature came to them and to the Executive. Employees of the railroads, who were very anxiously working for the repealer—because their spokesman said if we help the company get this repealer we will get an increase of salary. All this discussion of this repealer, I stated, is sent to the public mind that there are now, under law, a great army of unemployed men upon trains.

"As a matter of fact there is only one additional employe required by the present law above the minimum. That is, a man to look after the baggage and willfully carried by the companies. This one extra man has caused all this discussion and legislation. This is the only employe sent to the public mind that there are now, under law, a great army of unemployed men upon trains.

"This one man is then the significant factor. The companies assert that he is not needed. The employes assert that he is needed. In arguing the matter of this repealer, I stated, I am a passenger and express trains that make few if any stops between division terminals. The employes refer to the large number of increasingly long freight trains made up of 75 to 125 empty freight cars. There has been no common basis of facts for the arguments for and against. In the meantime it has been proposed that the law be made operative, but substantially reduced if not eliminated so far as passengers are concerned. In fact, it is due not so much to the manning of the passenger trains as to the fact that freight trains are now carrying passenger traffic. In other words, the additional man on the freight crew has added to the difficulty of manning the passenger trains, and the signalmen and other employes not on a passenger train add to the safety of passengers on those trains.

"It is claimed that this additional man on the freight train is a menace to the safety of the passenger. If so—and it is a challenged assertion—the corporation knows well how to secure and enforce discipline among its employes as do all other companies and corporations employing men for definite services. This additional man is the emergency man on the train. He is needed in the presence of an accident or property loss. In fact, the records show this to be the case.

"Within one year the railroad companies secured an increase in freight rate by action of the Interstate Commerce Commission. A potential argument of the companies for this increase was the fact that the full crew law added to the expense of operating their service. They have secured the increase rate until steps were taken to repeal the law requiring this full crew. The situation bearing upon the action now taken.

"To deny these corporations their petition is a serious matter. They are public carriers acting under the law. They have rights as such that the Commonwealth must and should conserve. They perform a vital service and their petition deserves fair consideration. The same that is guaranteed to the humblest citizen, and made it clear that I have shown me that they are denied any equal protection under the law. The law now in operation is not fair to them and to employes. It is the duty of all officials to do justly by them. Until then the matter should remain as it is."

SUMMER STARTS TO-MORROW ON YEAR'S LONGEST DAY.

Summer commences to-morrow, just one day later than usual, because the longest day happens to come to-morrow—that is, it is the longest day by a fraction of a minute.

From June 10 until July 2, the day is practically 15 hours long, Old Sol showing himself for that length of time.

The Food for Human Beings

Dr. Wiley is America's greatest authority on foods and food values. In a recent magazine article he said: "I think you can live on wheat alone in the form of whole wheat products, but not on white flour alone. Milk is the wheat of the infant, and wheat is the milk of the adult. Indian corn, because of the amount of zein it contains, is not so well suited for growing animals as wheat."

All the muscle-making material in the whole wheat grain is made digestible and deliciously palatable in
