DEBOR-CRITCHLEY MISS LABEL STUTZ

CHURCH WEDDING

MARRIES IN OHIO

Simple Ceremony This Noon in Penbrook United Brethren Church

Former Harrisburger Is the Bride of Professor Anson M. Holcomb

MRS. WILLIAM R. DEVOR

One of the prettiest of out-door weddings was that of Miss Mabel Hope Stutz, daughter of Mrs. E. H. Stutz, formerly of this city, to Anson M. Holcomb of Cleveland, Ohio, which took place Saturday evening, June 19, at 6 o'clock at the bride's home, Strong's Ridge, Bellevue, Ohio, with the Rev. William Hart, a Presbyterian pastor, who officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents, performing the ceremony.

To the strains of the Jensen wedding music played by Miss Elmira White of Weston, Ohio, the bridal party crossed the lawn to the steps of the veranda at the east side of the house, where the matrons of honor and three bridesmaids formed on either side. Between these lines passed first the mothers of the bride and bridegroom, followed by the maid of honor and the bridesmaids, headed by the bride, Miss Stutz of Chicago, who gave her in marriage. At the veranda they were met by Mr. Holcomb and the best man, his brother, Arden B. Holcomb, of Pittsburgh and the minister.

The bride wore a charming costume of white satin crepe, entraine with Venice Point lace and tulle veil. She carried a shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The other attendants, Mrs. James Burnap of Toledo, Mrs. Walter Russell, Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Charlotte Mott of Cleveland; Mrs. Erskine, Mrs. E. A. Erie and Miss Ethel Avery, all attired in dainty white gowns with girdles of the sunset hues and carrying shower bouquets of field daisies. The bride's bridesmaids wore crepe de chine, and Mrs. C. B. Holcomb, tapestry blue crepe de chine. The ushers were Herman Edward Stutz, Richard Stutz and Charles Houle.

Following a wedding journey to Canada, via the St. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Holcomb will spend the summer at Boston, making their residence later at Cleveland, where Mr. Holcomb is professor of electrical engineering at the Case School of Applied Science. Mrs. Holcomb was one of the skilled musicians of this city and a member of the Keynote Chapter Daughters of 1812. Mr. Holcomb, a son of Charles B. Holcomb of Cleveland, is an alumnus of the Wooster, Mass., Polytechnic Institute.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mrs. Charles Holcomb of Tariffville, Conn.; Mrs. Muench of Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Burnap, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Huber, Mrs. C. B. Holcomb and Miss Wright of Toledo; Miss Charlotte Mott, Miss Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. W. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. George Russell of Cleveland; Mrs. Augustus Wildman, Sr., of Ohio, and Arden Holcomb, of Pittsburgh.

Alfred A. Pancake, one of the oldest and best known residents of this city is quietly celebrating his eighty-sixth birthday to-day at his summer home, at Raysorsville Heights. Many congratulations have been received by Mr. Pancake from old friends here and in other cities.

Mr. Pancake, the oldest son of Jacob and Sarah Trullinger-Pancake, was born June 22, in South Front street near Mulberry, where the home of Lerue Lerner now stands. Jacob Pancake, his father was associated with Samuel Hayes in the saddlery business in Market Square, a century ago; later he engaged in the lumber and business being one of the first coal dealers in Harrisburg.

Alfred Pancake was educated in the private schools of this city and at the age of 16 went to Trenton to learn the trade of machinist. After serving two and a half years as an apprentice, his employer released him from his indenture to enter the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company where he engaged in Harrisburg.

Mr. Pancake took the first locomotive from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh, crossing the mountains by ten inclined planes, and from Johnstown to Pittsburgh on a canal boat. He was the first engineer to run the first train from Pittsburgh to Altoona through the Gallitzin tunnel.

In 1865 Mr. Pancake returned to this city to engage in the lumber and planing mill business with his uncle, George Trullinger, and his brother, George Pancake, under the name of Trullinger & Co., 500 Race street. Mr. Pancake retired from business in 1887, and owing to ill health has led a retired life for the past fifteen years. He is a trustee and contributor to the church of the Christ Episcopal Church, and interested in various enterprises of the city. Mr. Pancake's father was one of the early supporters of the Weekly Telegraph, and Alfred since 1854.

A. H. Stover has returned to Harrisburg after a pleasant visit with friends in the West.

Herbert Ecker visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Eckels, at Chambersburg, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Wildman, Jr., and Mrs. Augustus Wildman, Sr., were Sunday automobile visitors to Columbia.

H. J. Cohen and family, of Lewistown, Pa., who were in Harrisburg over Sunday, returned home yesterday.

Miss Cora McKinley, of Lewistown, was a Harrisburg visitor over Sunday and yesterday.

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS AND FOOD FERMENTATION

By a Stomach Specialist

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is excessive acid in the stomach, aggravated by food fermentation. Hyperacidity irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and the fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—and they comprise over 90 per cent. of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonfuls of acidulated magnesia, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrective known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. Be sure to ask your druggist for the blessed magnesia, as I have found other forms utterly lacking in its peculiarly valuable properties.—F. J. G. Advertisement.

GIRLS BETTER TREE PLANTERS THAN BOYS

letter" day for Harrisburg as Mr. Mueller calls it, covers half a dozen pages of the crack forestry magazine. While the story is very, very interesting, it told the dozen or more pictures which Mr. Mueller illustrates his article helps to make it well worth reading.

City Forester Mueller goes into detail about the way the children were gathered, how they planted the trees, what a splendid picture the little folks made, and the parts that Miss Myra L. Dock, of the American Forestry Association, J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic Association, and Deputy Forester Commissioner I. C. Williams had in the exercise.

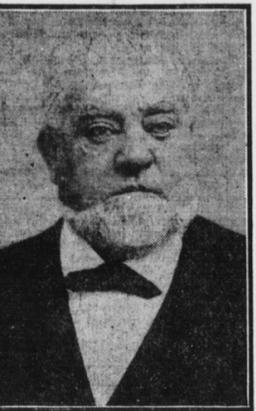

"It was rather remarkable how well the work was done," said Mr. Mueller. "Only a few of the trees had to be planted over again. As a whole the little girls did better work than the boys. As the planting was limited to one of the largest schools of the city, a certain sense of rivalry was displayed by the ones not included in the exercise. Pupils from other schools passing by were invited to join in, but they said, 'Well show you we can plant ours better than you when our turn comes.'

"It was truly a wonderful sight to see these kiddies spread out over a couple of acres patiently waiting for their trees. Their faces rivaled the wild flowers in the tall grass. And such care—no dolly was ever more tenderly handled than were these little trees, as they were planted in their last resting place."

Just a word or two about the quality of the pictures. They were made from photographs snapped for the Telegraph.

"Nuff sed."
