OPEN NEW 19TH ST. BRIDGE BIDS JULY 21

County Commissioners Will Likely Ask For Proposals Within Week -Concrete Viaduct Proposed

Bids for the construction of the proposed new concrete bridge across the Philadelphia and Reading tracks at Nineteenth street may be opened by the County Commissioners Wednesday, July 21. The report of the bord of viewers recommending the rebuilding of the bridge was recently endorsed by the June quarter sessions grand jury and approved by the courts, and the next step to be taken will be the preparation of the specifications and the advertising for bids. The structure will be of concrete to replace the present steel superstructure and will boas tof a twenty-four foot highway with six foot walks on each side.

will have a far-reaching political effect, as the driving out of the Russians. With Lemberg now in her hands, Austria has reclaimed virtually the whole province of Galicia. The fighting in this campaign has been of unusual intensity, with heavy losses. The figures of killed, wounded and captured as given by Austrian, German and Russian official dispatches run into the hundreds of thousands.

Russia had made plans for permanent occupation of Galicia, bringing in the territory as fast as it was taken. Lemberg was rechristened Lvov, the old Russian-Polish name. The city has a population of about 200,000 and was an important Austrian military station. Although founded in the thirteenth century, it is of modern appearance and is known for its imposing buildings. The city is protected by outlying forts, although its defenses are much inferior to those of Retrieval Parkets Captus Parkets.

Last year about this time many complaints were made of alleged reckless driving and other violations of the traffic regulations in this street, which is is smoothly paved and makes an ideal place for a little auto racing. Inasmuch as the borough has no traffic ordinance, motorists fell into the habit of doing almost as they pleased, it was declared.

A few weeks after his effort to obtain from council a traffic ordinance had failed Burgess Wigfield took things into his own hands, stationed officers along the street with orders to make arrests, and in a short time succeeded in making the street safe for pedestrians.

During the winter, however, the traffic officers were removed and now complaints are beginning again to pour into the office of the burgess. As a result, after next Saturday officers again will be placed on traffic duty. Patrolman Jones will be stationed at Front and Mohn streets; Patrolman Trombino at Front and Pine; Patrolman Wynn, Front and Adams, and Patrolman Pearson at Front and Franklin. These officers will be on traffic duty during the evening hours, when the violations are said to be the most numerous.

The burgess is also considering a plan to place two men on day duty instead of only one, as at present. This plan, however, has not been fully decided upon. her flance is musical director. REIGN OF TERROR IN MEXICO BORDER of at least five persons and considerable property loss by fire last night in several cities of the Imperial Valley, covering several hundred square miles, were received here to-day. Telephone and telegraphic communication was interrupted and information from the stricken district is meager.

The greatest damage was at Calexico, on the Mexican border line, where the loss of life occurred.

Early reports from there stated that the town had been destroyed by fire, but telephonic employes at El Centro who talked over a wire reported that the fires were confined to three buildings.

out telephonic employes at El Centro who talked over a wire reported that the fires were confined to three buildings.

Many buildings in Calexico were shaken down. The operators in the telephone building fied after the first shock, which occurred at 7.30 p. m., and was followed by two others, at 8.40 p. m. and 9.20 p. m.

Two shocks were reported from Yuma, Ariz., at the same time and San Diego and San Bernardino also were visited by two slight shocks.

Heber, a railroad town five miles west of El Centro, was reported destroyed by fire. At Imperial several buildings were cracked and the wall of one fell in, but no injuries resulted. The telephone operators there also fied from their building.

In El Centro the motion picture theaters were emptied in a moment, men, women and children filling the streets while the earth was still in motion.

The first shock came at 8.05. It was slow and prolonged. A moment later came a short and sharp tremble. An ensuing explosion in the warehouse of the Delta Mercantile Company lighted the entire caved into a drug store filled with people. All raced to the street. Every building was disgorging similarly. In the residence districts cupboards and all movable furniture was tumbled about. Slight trembles continued most of the night.

In Mexicali a panic prevailed. Gamblers and the women who make up a considerable portion of the population of the place rushed into the streets. Piles of gold were left on gambling tables to be rocked off and mixed up with the debris of the buildings.

tables to be rocked off and mixed up with the debris of the buildings.

El Centro. Cal., June 23.—Late reports indicate that Imperial Valley was rocked from end to end last night by a series of earthquake shocks. More than a score of persons are reported dead. Buildings in every city in the valley have been damaged. Calexico suffered severely from fire. Damage in the earthquake district is estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Five person sare reported dead in Mexicali. No dead are reported from the other valley points.

Practically all the dead were said to be at Mexicali, the little adobe town consisting principally of saloons, gambling halls and other resorts not permitted on the American side that lies across the street from Calexico.

Of Volcanic Origin

The seismic disturbances, it is believed, originated somewhere in the old volcanoes of the Cocopah mountains, the granite backbone of Lower California. To-day the cluster of little cities in the Imperial Valley are partly in ruins. Buildings were rent asunder. The roar of the quake below the border was the first warning the people of the valley had. That was about 8 o'clock. The first shock was the most severe. Two others followed.

After the first shock was the most severe. Two others followed.

After the first shock was the work severe. Two others followed.

After the first shock the stricken towns were in darkness except for the light furnished by blazing buildings. The greatest confusion reigned everywhere. Ranchers and city residents who had homes last night found themselves to-day in open fields beside roadways or irrigation ditches.
