Conditions almost unbelievable were disclosed yesterday during the inspection of dairy farms in the vicinity of Harrisburg from some of which supplies of milk come to this city.

The inspection, made by officials of the City Department of Health and a representative of the Pennsylvania Livestock Sanitary Board, is only one of the numbers on the program which the local health bureau is carrying out in a campaign to get better milk for residents of Harrisburg and especially the babies, whose foundation of life is pure milk. Filthy cow stables, unsanitary barn yards and impure water were only a few of the things which the inspectors found and which play an important part in the production of milk for the consumers. the City Department of Health and a found and which play an important part in the production of milk for the consumers.

In the inspection party were Dr. J. M. J. Raunick, city health officer, Dr. V. H. Ridge, milk hygiene agent of the State Livestock Sanitary Board; Dr. G. A. Zimmerman and Dr. Willam V. Hughes, local food inspectors. More than 125 miles of roads were covered during the day and this only marks the beginning of a vigorous campaign which will be waged against careless milk producers shipping their supplies to Harrisburg dealers. Yesterday morning farms and milk houses in the vicinity of Linglestown, Penbrook and Shoop's Church were visited. In the afternoon the inspectors went through the Cumberland Valley as far as Oakville. To-day's trip was made to another section of the valley.

afternoon the inspectors went through the Cumberland Valley as far as Oakville. To-day's trip was made to another section of the valley.

Worst Condition Found

'The worst condition by far was found yesterday morning between Penbrook and Linglestown where the tenant of the farm is now ill with a very malignant form of typhoid fever. The man until a few days ago when he became confined to his bed, milked the seven cows on the farm and prepared the milk for shipment to a dealer in a neighboring boroush who supplies great quantities of milk to Hurrisburg where it has been advertised as "pasteurized milk." Dr. Raunick, however, when he visited the supply house yesterday told the proprietor that the milk was not pastuerized and [Continued on Page 8.]

The case was decided twenty-four hours after it was argued. The decision represents the unanimous opinion of Judges Fuller, Strauss, O'Boyle and Woodward.

The decision in brief holds that the act of 1913, which provides for a commission form of government in third class cities, supersedes the act of 1889 regulating third class cities. Conditions on Farm Where Milk Has Been Condemned by Health Officials

The above etching made from a photograph snapped by a Telegraph photographer yesterday shows the conditions existing on a farm near Newville. Rain water from the barn roof flows through a spout to the cistern and from there it is pumped to a trough where the cattle drink and the milk cans are washed. Within six feet of the cistern is manure more than a foot deep. Spaces between the boards permit all kinds of dirt to get into the cistern. Tenants on the farm use this same water for drinking and cooking purposes. The local Department of Health has condemned the milk on this farm and will not permit it to be brought to this city again until existing conditions are remedied.

Finish Up All of 1915 Program by Middle of Month

Harrisburg's paving program for 1915 will be entirely finished, it is expected by July 15.

Lack of intersection money limited the year's street improvement schedule greatly and what extensive sections were paved, had to be paid for from previous year's loans.

With the exception of Derry street from Twenty-third to the city line, Market street from Nineteenth for a block or two south of Market, and Nineteenth from wo south of Market, and Nineteenth from Market to Regina, Emerald from Front to Fifth and a few small alleys on Allison's Hill and in the West End, the paving program was very small indeed.

The Central Construction and Supply Company which has the citys paving contracts, has other big jobs in Johnstown and in Richmond, it is understood, and the company is anx-jous to finish its work here so as to move all the possible equipment to other points as quickly as is practicable.

Dark days, indeed, are these for the nobility.

At least this is the opinion of Milan Angeloff, said to be a scion of a Bulgarian royal family, who, it will be recalled, declined to listen to the wiles of a pretty temptress because she was the wife of his best friend.

A few days ago Milan was in court, a prominent witness in the suit of pretty Streszio Evanoff, one of the prettiest girls in Steelton's prosperous Bulgarian colony, against he husband, Spiridion. At that time Milan testified that he had declined to give ear to the plea of pretty Streszio to flee with her to California—on account of his friendship for her husband, Many letters from Streszio to Milan were read in court.

Milan, according to his story then, came to this country May 22 in order, it is said, to escape military service at home. He was befriended by Evanoff, whose wife later wrote the letters which figured in the court case.

These letters, it appears, were carried from pretty Streszio to the mobileman by Streszio Dimetrof, a baker, and it was Dimetrof, the plebian baker, who is causing Milan's troubles.
