Teach All Children Trade With Alphabet, Says Dorothy Dix

By DOROTHY DIX

Mr. Ford's assertion that he could make every criminal in Sing Sing into a decent citizen by turning him into a first-class mechanic, capable of earning good pay, is the most sensible reform propaganda that has ever been put forth.

The gospel of work is the salvation of the world, for it is not only true that Satan finds work for idle hands to do, but the majority of people who go wrong are crooks because they don't know any straight way of making a living.

Mr. Ford believes, and rightly, that the best way to reform a criminal is by giving him fairly paid work to do. He might well have gone a step farther and have said that the way to prevent people from becoming criminals is to teach them while they are still children, some trade by which they can earn enough money to live on honestly.

Pathetic and Terrible Thing That Most of Criminals Are Young

It is a pathetic and a terrible thing that most of our criminals are so young. Go into any court and you will see that the thieves, the pickpockets, the gangsters, the gunmen who commit murder for hire are just boys. Look at the painted faced women of the street and you see that they are young girls, hardly more than children.

Of course, there are some unfortunate ones who are born physically and morally deformed, and who would be criminals under any circumstances, but the great majority of those who become criminals are more weak than vicious. They are simply those without much intelligence, without any initiative of their own, who follow the line of least resistance, and go in any direction in which they are pushed.

Boys and girls of this type do not do well at school. They have not what homely people call "book sense," and they fall behind in their studies. The teachers scold them and their fellow pupils ridicule them, and they become truant, and drop out of school altogether at the first possible moment.

These boys and girls have not been taught one single, solitary thing by which they can earn a decent living. They have to take the lowest paid kinds of labor. They cannot earn enough to live on in any sort of decent comfort, and so the boy is drawn inevitably into the criminal gang, and the girl takes to the streets.

Teaching of Trade Would Have Saved Ninety Per Cent. of Them

If along with their "a, b, c's," these children had been taught something at which they would have become sufficiently expert to command a living wage, I believe that ninety per cent. of them could have been saved from ever becoming criminals. In the first place their pride and self-respect would have been saved even in the school, for very often people who have little intellectual capacity are very mechanical sense. The boy who can never learn the names of all the Presidents may be able to do things with his hands that will redeem his scholarship in the sight of his fellows, and thus keep him interested and eager to go to school, instead of making him a truant.

Nor should we forget this most important fact that the habits that we form in childhood are practically unbreakable. They follow us as lions as we live, and it is a safe assertion that no child who has the habit of industry, of doing some sort of particular work accurately and efficiently, ingrained in him or her, will ever develop into an idler and a loafer.

It is perfectly possible to teach every child and boy a good trade, turn them into expert workers capable of earning a living wage by the time they are old enough to take out their working papers. If we did this we should remove temptation to a large extent from their pathway. We would have formed the habit of industry in them, we would have taught them the joy there is in doing good work, in being efficient, and that is about the best thing that any human being can know.

The real reason that most people hate to work is because they are bunglers at their jobs, and they are ashamed of the results they turn out. They have never been taught scientific management or how to do their work artistically. Women hate to cook, because they don't know the principles of cookery, and the results of their labor are adamant bread, and watery vegetables, and leathery meat that would kill an ostrich. But find a woman who is an expert cook, and whose pies, and cakes, and sauce are celebrated among all who know her, and you'll find a woman who delights in cooking.

Good Work Always Fills Man With Sacred Joy of Achievement

The Jack-leg carpenter, whose work is clumsy and ill-done, hates his job and "lays off" as often as possible, but the expert carpenter, the real mechanic, whose work is a joy to behold, thinks carpentering the finest occupation on earth, and wonders everybody doesn't follow it.

For good work of whatever kind is artistry, and it commands recognition and pay, and it fills the one who does it with the sacred joy of achievement. The Manhattan Trade School in New York City has shown that girls who are taught a definite trade can command, from the very outset, a living wage, so that they are under no temptation to eke out the pitiful pay of unskilled labor by wrongdoing.

Surely our educators should not be blind to the lesson this teaches. Surely it is time for them to abandon some of the theories and the fads of the "higher" education and come down to the real necessities of the people, which is for some better, practical and tangible, some way, first, by which the poor boy or girl can make a living, and then afterwards such culture as the individual can assimilate.

The way to stop criminality is with work, and the place to begin is in the first grade of the public school.

FOR THE HAPPY PLAY TIME

A Thoroughly Comfortable Little Garment Which Leaves Its Wearer Free and Untrammelled.

By MAY MANTON

8633 Child's Overalls or Rompers, 4 to 8 years.

There is no garment included in the child's wardrobe that means quite such perfect sense of freedom as do the rompers. These can be made in two absolutely different ways, with low neck and without sleeves and closing over the shoulders, or with sleeves and high or low neck and closing down the back. Apparently there is no relation between the two, yet such slight changes in the cutting are required that the one pattern suffices for both. There are patch pockets that are sure to be a real delight and the garment is so simple, so easy to make and so easy to wash and iron that it is a simple matter to provide an ample supply. Gingham, chambray, galatea and similar washable materials are the most suitable ones. The garment closed at the back can be made with high, square, or V-shaped neck; when it is closed at the shoulders, it allows of a choice of square or V-shaped openings, but must be cut out.

For the 6 year size will be needed 2 1/2 yds. of material 27 in. wide, 2 yds. 46, 1 1/2 yds. 44, with 3/4 yd. 27 in. wide, for the bands.

The pattern 8633 is cut in sizes from 4 to 8 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.

Story No. 5—Installment No. 4 WHO PAYS?

Unto Himself Alone By EDWIN BLISS

"It's a lie—a lie. It can't be true. I tell you it's a lie. He's mine—mine, mine by every moral law."

Her eyes, a pointed flame, she could see nothing of the shrinking guests, nobody in the room but the man, the man she claimed. Again she would have leaped forward as Felix Lynn threw out his words in passionate appeal toward the woman he had just acknowledged as his wife. Then a slow, cruel smile parted her lips, revealing a row of small, sharp teeth, teeth that strengthened the pantherish impression she gave. For Esther Halstead, with a cry of fear, shrank away from him as from an unclean thing.

Alice did not know how the guests had felt, not conscious, would not have cared had she been conscious of their furtive leave takings. She only knew that Felix Lynn remained, that she had held him, that she would continue to hold him.

"You—you—" she could not continue for the torrent of rage that threatened to engulf her. "Oh, but you shall suffer for this," she finally managed to articulate. "You thought you would come to me—thought you would shame me—thought you would amuse yourself with me. Well, you have had your play. And now you shall pay. And you will pay to me as no man ever paid to woman before."

Before the poisonous hiss of her he shrank away. But in the hallway he covered his face with his hands that he might shut out the picture food and the terrible expression in her eyes.

The nine days' sensation died away for the morsel of any scandal, no odds how savory and juicy to begin with, grows flat and pulpy with too much Fletcherizing. But the cheeks of Felix Lynn grew more and more sunken and the shadows under the fine eyes of the man seemed to have eaten hollows there, hollows from out of which a fearful light burned, the light of a man afraid to look at something "ya," by some terrible attraction, always forced to look.

There were whispers that the presence of the nine days' sensation died away for the morsel of any scandal, no odds how savory and juicy to begin with, grows flat and pulpy with too much Fletcherizing.

Alice Learns That Esther Is Lynn's Wife.

AMUSEMENTS

PAXTANG PARK

To-morrow King Kelly will start in doing fancy stunts with his parachutes and balloons out at Paxtang Park. With favorable weather conditions Kelly will probably do a five or six parachute drop to-morrow and repeat the feat on Saturday for the benefit of the railroaders' picnic.

The show at the park theater this week is a feature of the park entertainment that no visitor at Paxtang should overlook. Margarette Sawtelle Puffy and her company "The Big Surprise," present one of the best musical comedy novelties that has been seen in this city for some time. The pleasure of the park bill is made up of such standard acts as Clarisse and Gorgan, The Three Beauties, Teyrol, heavy-weight juggler, and George Martin, grotesque comedian.—Advertisement.

MUSICAL COMEDY AT THE COLONIAL

Fred Hackett's musical comedy company of ten people will begin a three days' engagement at the Colonial Theater to-day in a one-act musical comedy entitled, "Brien's Night Out." As indicated by the title, this piece was put together for laughing purposes, but it is not a crude farce, but a clever, pretty girls in the act. Plenty of song numbers are featured. There will be three other acts, including a playlet, "Shrode and Mulvey" will present a comedy skit with some whirlwind dancing in it; Fred Watson is a clever singing and talking comedienne, and Lynch and Zellers are jugglers. The Colonial is doing a very successful business in its career and some good shows are in store for its patrons.—Advertisement.

"THE HEART OF MARYLAND" AT THE VICTORIA TODAY

The management of the Victoria takes great pleasure in presenting Mrs. Leslie Carter in a film version of her greatest success, "The Heart of Maryland," written by the author, Colonel Land Calvert, at the beginning of the Civil War, endeavoring, without success, to induce her sweetest, Althea, to join the Southern forces. Her brother joins the rebels, while in reality he is a Northern secret service man. Colonel Thorpe, Alan's bitterest enemy, a Southern colonel, captures Alan during battle and sends him to the prison, Maryland, during a raging battle, sees Colonel Thorpe and pleads for Alan. See the wonderful picture, "The Heart of Maryland." To-morrow and Saturday we will present George Ade's "The College Rivalry," in which Miss Ethel Clayton and George Sauls Spencer are featured. What Causes Sore Feet?

Bleeding, Burning, Sweaty Feet, Corns, Callouses and Sore Bunions

Science has proven that nearly all foot troubles originate in the common cause of injured or congested tissues. The most effective and most gentle treatment will welcome this information of a simple home treatment (known to the best foot doctors) that acts through the pores, removes the cause, and gives instant relief.

Dissolve two spoonfuls of Calocide compound in one quart of water. Soak the feet in this gently rubbing the sore parts. The effect is marvelous. All pain goes instantly and the feet feel delightful. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off; bunions, nail, and even sore feet, get immediate relief. Don't waste time on questionable remedies. Get Calocide from any drug store, but don't be persuaded to take something else instead. There is nothing else similar to Calocide. A twenty-five-cent package is said to be enough to cure the worst feet. Medical Formula Laboratories, Dayton, O.

Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."

Putting the "Eat" in Whole Wheat

The whole wheat grain is without doubt the most perfect food given to man. But you don't want to eat raw wheat—it would be imperfectly digested if you did eat it. Whole wheat bread made of so-called "whole wheat flour" is not much better. It serves to stimulate peristalsis (bowel movement), but the body gets little or no nutriment from it. All the nutritive elements in the whole wheat grain are supplied in a digestible form in

Shredded Wheat

It is the shredding process that put the "Eat" in Shredded Wheat. Try one or more of these crisp, delicious little loaves of baked wheat for breakfast with milk or cream.
