INDUSTRIAL BOARD MAKES EXCEPTIONS

Temporary Rulings For Individual Employers of Women Pending Group Modifications In making temporary orders for modifications of provisions in the women's employment laws in relation to hotels, cigar stands and orphan's homes for which individual applications were presented to-day the State Industrial Board let it be known that it preferred to have such applications from organizations or groups instead of single cases. This is so that general rulings can be made to cover classes of establishments affected. The applications to-day included propositions for division of the hours for the day of rest and to govern telephone exchanges which have one operator and exchanges which are in families, the night hours being taken into consideration. Temporary orders were made for the Conneaut Lake Hotel, the Commonwealth Hotel, cigar stand, Harrisburg, and the Protestant Orphans' Home, Pittsburgh. They will run until September 30, by which time general rulings can be made. The telephone proposition was submitted by Senator J. H. Thompson, Beaver Falls; W. H. Wilson, general manager of the Independent Telephone Company, Erie; G. A. Carl, Harrisburg, president of the Eastern Pennsylvania Independent Telephone Association, and E. D. Shade, Johnstown, chairman of the executive committee of the Western Independent Telephone organization. They presented several schedules, taking experience of months in apportioning hours of rest and when operators would not have calls. They will have a further meeting with the board late in the day.

Crickshank Is Star First Sacker at Scranton

Frank Crickshank, who was a star on the Harrisburg Tri-State team, is making good with Scranton. He is a regular on first base. The Scranton Republican prints the following: "Frank Crickshank has won a regular job on the Scranton team no matter what changes are brought about by Coughlin. 'Bill' himself admits Crickshank is to hang up his bat here for the rest of the summer, saying the player ranks among the best all-round men in the Farrell wheel. Crickshank's work in the second game on Monday was the equal of anything seen here this year, his two throws to the plate cutting off one Binghamton and causing a Bingo to stick to third base rather than take a chance on scoring from that bag on a fly that went to the center field territory."
