VICTORIA

BRYAN CRITICISES NEW YORK PAPERS

Hears Himself Hailed as New Leader of Americans Who Stand For Peace

New York, June 25.—At the largest meeting that has yet been held here on any phase of the war opinion, a meeting which filled Madison Square to the limits of its capacity and packed Madison avenue from curb to curb from 23d to 27th street, with persons who were forced to content themselves with listening to outdoors speakers on six stands, ex-Secretary of State Bryan heard himself hailed "The new leader of the American people that stand for peace," last evening, while President Wilson was said to be misinterpreted as to the present trend of American thought.

In his speech the ex-Secretary of State first took up the criticism of President Wilson, which he referred to as follows:

"I call your attention to the fact that in this separation of the officers there is no personal element. When history writes this page it will be said that two men, each doing what he believed right, found it impossible to share responsibility together. He could not do otherwise than he did, believing as he did, and I could not do otherwise than I did, believing as I did. There was no concealment. We separated as two friends should separate. I am trying outside of the cabinet to assist him. He is doing his duty as he sees it. I believe it to be my duty to crystallize the peace sentiment until the demand for peace drowns the demand for war."

Then he launched into his own attack upon the New York newspapers, as he did on his last public appearance here in Carnegie Hall. "I am not as surprised as you are," he said, "over the position taken by the New York press, because I am used to it. I have been in politics for a quarter of a century, and I have never yet known the New York press to take the side of the American people in any question. "For months they have said I had no right to be in the cabinet, and when I left they called me a traitor for deserting my country. In spite of all the advice they give every day on how to run this country, when I said I would come out and speak they said, 'How dare this man talk about such a thing?'"

THREE ACTIONS HAVE BEEN TAKEN TO THE SUPERIOR COURT AND THE TEST WILL BE NEXT

Constitutionality of the act of 1915 providing for appeals from decisions of the Public Service Commission to the Superior Court instead of through the Dauphin County Court, which it is feared affects the twenty-two cases now pending in the Dauphin court, may be raised when the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company-Pennsylvania Railroad Company rate case gets into the higher court. Notice of an appeal in this case has been given and it will go direct to the Superior Court. The borough of Mount Union has also appealed to the Superior Court from the decision in the Mount Union water case and the East End and Relief Electric Light Companies, of Washington county, have also given notice of appeal.

Steps are also being taken to secure reopening of some of the cases appealed to the Dauphin County Court so that the commission can make new orders in them and appeals be taken to the Superior Court. In the cases in the Dauphin County Court are the anthracite coal cases, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company demurrage case, Elk Railroad, Harmony Electric, Pennsylvania Utilities and Pittsburgh, Bessemer and Lake Erie Railroad.

New Bureau Next.—Plans for the organization of the State Bureau of Forest Protection will be taken up by the State Forestry Commission at its meeting here next Friday and it is expected that various associations will be invited to unite in preparing to meet the forest fires next Fall. The subject has been discussed this week at the State Forestry Association meeting at Foxburg.

Posting the Foreigners.—N. R. Buller, State Commissioner of Fisheries, has sent to all division superintendents of railroads in the State and other men in charge of forces of workmen containing foreigners copies of the new act prohibiting foreigners from fishing, requesting that they inform their men of the provisions of the law. Replies received, says Mr. Buller, indicate that employers will help inform the men of the prohibition.

Young an Inspector.—Commissioner John Price Jackson to-day announced the appointment of Robert D. Young, of Bloomsburg, as a state factory inspector. He will fill one of the new places created by the act of 1915. Mr. Young is highly recommended. He has been connected with the Paul E. Wirt Manufacturing Company and is familiar with industrial plants.

Poult Lands More.—Dairy and Food Commissioner Foust last night received reports of thirty-four more cases where arrests had been made for violation of the pure food laws. Most of them were in Pittsburgh.

In Wilkes-Barre.—Commissioner John Price Jackson is in Wilkes-Barre, where he is hearing the argument in the trolley strike case.

Inspecting Property.—Commissioner of Fisheries N. R. Buller is in Philadelphia inspecting the property of the Pohoqualline Fish Association at the request of the managers, who want some state advice.

Attending Convention.—Robert S. Conklin, State Forestry Commissioner, is attending the State Forestry Association meeting in Foxburg.

Meeting Chiefs.—Robert R. Featony, chief clerk of the Department of Fisheries, is on a tour of the state hatcheries to meet the superintendents in regard to the new work to be taken up this summer and fall.

Mr. Glenn Better.—A. D. Glenn, Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, who has been ill, is improving.

Dr. Kalbfus Spoke.—Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, of Harrisburg, chief game protector of Pennsylvania, secretary of the Pennsylvania Game Commission and acting in the stead of the commissioner, addressed a delegation of game protectors in Pittsburgh. Dr. Kalbfus urged his hearers to decline the rule of the game and urged that with the public, explained the workings of the new law, which prohibits aliens from owning dogs and fishing anywhere in Pennsylvania, discussed the new hunting and trapping laws of the Department of Agriculture take up the question of educating farmers and the public at large on the work done by birds in raising the country's insects which, were it not for the birds, would destroy millions of dollars' worth of vegetable food products.

GRACE WASHBURN IN "WHEN IT STRIKES HOME" AT THE REGENT TODAY

The lovely Grace Washburn in "When It Strikes Home," is the bright constellation of this offering, which is based upon a play by the late K. V. Youngster, Dick Hartley, with me. A money man brain, cuts loose, and marries a chorus girl. Valere Dupont ("The Butterfly"), on a dare. His father succeeds in having the marriage annulled. He sends the boy to South America. A son is born to the divorced girl. Dick Hartley returns, forgets his divorce, and marries the girl of happy, but childless. It chances that the boy's father is the boy's father by young Mr. and Mrs. Hartley in ignorance of his origin.

Special to The Telegraph. "Who's Who in Society," a George Kleine comedy, featuring Della Connor and other stars. "Who's Who" is the story of a simple, good-hearted Irishman who finds great difficulty in living up to his name. "Who's Who" is a comedy of leisure who, in her own words, "should stay away from Casey's saloon and get out of the hands of the United States man in his own club."—Advertisement.

PAXTANG PARK AMUSEMENTS

To-day King Kelly will make his first attempt of the season at a multiple parachute jump. If the weather conditions are favorable he will use five chutes. The prevailing high winds of the past couple of days "made it almost impossible to get the balloon up at all, but everything indicates perfect conditions for balloons to-day. If you wish to see the most hazardous feat it is possible for a man to accomplish, Paxtang Park will be the place to go for the show, as nothing in the way of spectacular exhibits is more going than the multiple parachute jump.

Not is Kelly's daring stunt all there is in the show. The show at the Park Theater is a most pleasing entertainment. Pretty girls, novelty and smart comedy are features of this week's park vaudeville, which is probably the best bill of the season.—Advertisement.

"THE COLLEGE WIDOW" AT THE REGENT TODAY AND TOMORROW

For to-day and to-morrow we present the great American play, "The College Widow," a play written by the country's foremost humorist, George Ade. "The College Widow" has been played for many years on the legitimate stage and has been presented in almost every town and city of any size. The sequence—millions have seen it—millions have thoroughly enjoyed it. It is a clean, wholesome play that is worth seeing and is without exception the best college play ever produced. None of the present day humorists play George Ade, and to-day's picture play joy such a wide popularity as does

SALISBURY WILD LIFE PICTURES TO BE AT COLONIAL

The Salisbury Wild Life Motion Pictures, taken on the western frontier and along the Pacific coast as far north as Alaska, at the instance of the United States Government, have been booked for the Colonial Theater. The first series of these films will be presented Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Not since the Rainey African Hunt pictures has there been anything done in motion photography to equal the Salisbury pictures, so far as reproducing scenes of wild animals in their natural haunts are concerned. They not only show how the fish and the animal and the bird of all descriptions acts when it is at home, but they show what Uncle Sam is doing to protect its game and to populate the streams.

These pictures will be run in a series at the Colonial. They will be changed in with the vaudeville each three days. Three reels of 1,000 feet each will constitute the picture program. The reels that will begin the series the early half of next week will show trout fishing, the work of a well-trained dog in finding such a few years ago. This is beautiful to see, and a treat awaits those who see the Salisbury Wild Life Pictures.—Advertisement.

AT THE PHOTOPLAY

To-day, at the Photo-play, there will be featured a film in multiple reels which is taken from the operetta which found such favor a few years ago. This operetta, "The Chocolate Soldier," will be recalled by everyone, and the fact that the play of the same title now is to be seen in motion pictures will be a perpetual for a long time to come. The show that has charmed thousands in its many performances.—Advertisement.

Bethlehem Steel Now Has 14,173 Employees

Special to The Telegraph. South Bethlehem, Pa., June 25.—According to figures obtained yesterday, the Bethlehem Steel Company is employing at its Saucon and Lehigh plants 12,173 men and 1,900 more at the war munitions plant at Redington. The payroll now is $700,000 a month.

When the new $50,000 shell-loading plant at Redington is built 1,000 more persons will be employed there, and when the new merchant mill at the local plant is put in operation next August 3,000 more men will be given work. Before Fall it is expected the steel company will have in its employ between 15,000 and 20,000 persons, who will draw $1,000,000 monthly in wages.
