ROCMAC ROAD BEING LAID NEAR PENBROOK

State Headquarters Established in Harrisburg With Engineer M. T. Calef in Charge

Special to The Telegraph. Penbrook, Pa., June 25.—The State Highway Department has just completed the laying of 500 yards of a thousand-yard stretch of road near here with rocmac, under agreement with the Philadelphia Quartz Company which has operated State headquarters in Harrisburg with M. T. Calef, road engineer, in charge. Rocmac is a comparatively new material in road making in Pennsylvania, but it is used extensively in Canada, England, New York State and elsewhere in this country. It is a mineral binder that has been tested for years. The Cumberland quarries have been equipped with a special grinder to supply the fine grade of limestone required in the operation, which is extremely simple. The binding action is the result of a series of chemical reactions which take place between carbonate of lime, the carbonic acid gas of the atmosphere, and the rocmac solution, forming a waterproof, therefore frostproof, composition. A rocmac road is simple to construct, requiring neither skilled supervision nor special equipment. Any outfit competent to build ordinary macadam can build a rocmac road, the essential difference in the two systems of construction being that while ordinary top course macadam is filled from the top down by puddling, rocmac top course is filled from the bottom up by rolling the stone composing the course down into the cementing material or matrix, which ensures the filling of all interstices and prevents, to a large extent, the crushing or breaking up of the stone under the action of the roller. Rocmac contains no tar, oil or any thing which will injure the paint of motor cars or other vehicles and can be laid in any weather, and makes a clean, hard, well surfaced road, which gives a minimum of mud in wet and a minimum of dust in dry weather. Rocmac solution is shipped in casks or tank cars in liquid form, and is ready for use without any further preparation. A township road commissioners have taken up the material and if it proves as satisfactory here as elsewhere thousands of yards will be laid within the next year or two. Mr. Calef says that so far it is giving splendid results.

WHY DID THAW LEAVE COLLEGE? IS ASKED

Today Ninth Anniversary of Murder of Stanford White; Trace Prisoner's Life

New York, June 25.—Interest in the proceedings to ascertain whether Harry K. Thaw was sane was divided to-day between the taking of evidence in court here and the application by counsel for the State for the appointment of a commission to learn from Dr. Charles Elliot, president emeritus of Harvard, why Thaw left that college without completing his courses. Deputy Attorney General Frank K. Cook who yesterday asked Justice Hendrick to appoint the commission, believes the application should be granted. Why Thaw left Harvard has never been brought out in any of his former attempts to regain freedom, although he was questioned about it at one of the previous hearings. To-day is the ninth anniversary of the murder of Stanford White. Witnesses Think Thaw Sane. Dr. Noel Guillelt, of Manchester, N. H., who lived next door to Thaw in that city, was the first witness to-day. He said he had seen much of Thaw and found him rational. One of the things he had discussed with him was corporal punishment for children, he said, and he thought Thaw had intelligent ideas on the subject. "I came here," said Dr. Guillelt, "to prove that we in New Hampshire think Thaw sane." Walter M. Lang, a real estate agent in Manchester, expressed the same opinion. He said he had been to football games with Thaw and had been automobiling with him. Lang was followed by his wife, who said she had been impressed by Thaw's "wonderful knowledge of our city." Eugene P. Nuto, Thaw's federal custodian in New Hampshire, and Major Robert P. Johnston, who said he met Thaw at various social occasions, testified to their entire belief in Thaw's sanity.

WOULD 5 MAD DOGS SLAY CARBOTS?

President Hoffman, of County Commissioners, Raises Question in Claim For Dead

Would five mad dogs mobilize for a calf slaying expedition? That's a little problem in doglore that President Isaac B. Hoffman, of the County Commissioners, declared he would like a little enlightenment upon in connection with Robert Detweiler's bill of $140 for calves alleged to have been set upon and slain by a quintet of mad dogs. The county is responsible for the damages inflicted by a mad dog upon livestock, "tis true, and Dauphin will likely let Mr. Detweiler's attorney have a check for the sum before adjournment to-day. But Mr. Hoffman, who admits he knows something about dogs and little about mad "uns, especially, doubts, he says, whether the dogs were mad. That five dogs slew the calves on Mr. Detweiler's farm, near Oberlin, is admitted. Furthermore, there is no appeal. "But how do we know that the calves were killed by dogs that were mad?" demanded President Hoffman of Attorney Victor Braddock, Mr. Detweiler's counsel. "Mad dogs don't chase round in a bunch. I've never known them to run in a crowd. That's why I question whether the five that did all this damage were mad!" Court Orders Property Sold.—In accordance with an order of the Dauphin County Court, the Harrisburg Trust Company will sell at public sale on July 17, on the Courthouse steps, No. 201 1/2 North Fifth with lot, The Trust Company is the administrator of the estate of Margaret J. Durkoes, who owned the property which is being sold yesterday to Stucker Brothers Construction Company, the contractors. The whole job will cost about $2,500. Mr. Wickersham Speaker.—Assistant District Attorney Frank B. Wickersham was speaker of the House last evening at the Hotel Rossmore, Lancaster, at the gathering of the Royal Prussian Club, which is past supreme regent of the order.

Followed Friend's Advice

After trying Fruitola and Traxo, Mrs. L. C. Clark, 836 Melba St., Dallas, Texas, wrote to the Pius laboratories as follows:

"I have been a sufferer from gall-stones, and Fruitola and Traxo was recommended and I am glad to say I took advantage of your most wonderful medicine, with wonderful results." Fruitola and Traxo are two remedies that are used in combination. Fruitola acts on the intestinal organs as a powerful lubricant, softening the congested waste and breaking up the hardened particles so that easy elimination follows quickly, to the great relief of the patient. Traxo is a compound of splendid tonic properties, of special value in strengthening and restoring the system that has been weakened by constant suffering. The Pius laboratories have many letters on file testifying to the merit of Fruitola and Traxo; letters from people who have used the remedy and know from actual experience what it has done for them. For the convenience of the public, arrangements have been made to supply Fruitola and Traxo through leading drug stores. In Harrisburg they can be obtained at Gorgas, the Druggist, 16 North Third street—P. R. H. Station.
