WITMER, BAIR AND WITMER

S. P. C. A. HAS PLANS FOR 'MERCY SUNDAY'

Interesting Reports of Work Presented at the Last Meeting of Season

Do you know of a tormented dog or cat, an overdriven horse, cattle that are underfed or cruelly goaded? If so, do not sympathize uselessly when there is the Harrisburg S. P. C. A. to act. Telephone your complaint to the agent of the society, Charles O'Donnell, Bell 287, and the cruelty will be stopped—by persuasion if possible, otherwise by law.

The last monthly meeting of the board of managers of this actively humane association, before adjournment for the summer, was held yesterday afternoon at the office of the president, John T. Olmsted.

The vacation spirit was not in evidence. Rarely has more enthusiasm been shown for protecting those who cannot protect themselves. Extensive plans were formulated for increasing the efficiency of the society. Every member was pledged to the interest of oppressed beasts.

The report of President Olmsted showed encouraging gain both in numbers and efficiency. Three arrests and prosecutions were made in Harrisburg last month, resulting in the payment of two fines and a suspended sentence.

From over in Cumberland county—where the Harrisburg S. P. C. A. has jurisdiction, as well as in Perry and Dauphin counties—two young men of Shippensburg, learned the policy of kindness to horses by being forced to pay a large fine for over-driving them.

Another educational feature of the near future is a Mercy Sunday. The president was authorized to formulate plans during the summer for such a concerted service. Wherever such a day has been kept there is marked improvement in the treatment of animals.

As summer is a hard time on man and beast alike it is fitting that a determined effort is to be made to get many more members of the Harrisburg S. P. C. A. Application for membership may be made to Robert McCormick, secretary, Dauphin Deposit Bank. Whether you join or not do not fail to telephone, Bell 2687, if you suspect cruelty or neglect of any dumb beast.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Paul Johnston and children of 1714 North Second street leave next week for a summer's stay at Eaglesmere.
