Members of Steelton's prosperous
West Side Bulgarian colony are engaged in a bitter legal battle that bids fair to divide the entire colony into two hostile camps.

Already dramatic stories have been told about a scion of the Bulgarian nobility, who is now residing in the West Side; about a woman's love letters to this man, said to be of royal blood, of how the woman's overtures were spurned and of how another man, said to be an admirer of the woman, took legal steps to remove the favored one from the field.

Suits and cross suits have been started and some of the foremost members of the Dauphin county bar have been retained on both sides to fight their cases.

Intrigue and Romance Stories of free love, of intrig Stories of free love, of intrigue and of romance have already been aired in court, and principals in the case say not half has been told.

One of the figures around whom much of the legal battle has raged, is

DANIELS APPEALS TO BULGARIAN COLONY? U. S. NAVAL OFFICERS TREES ABOUT SQUARE

Being Taught by Great War in Europe

Hopes in Unrevealed Possibilities of Airships

Newport, R. I. June 26.—In an address at the opening session of the Navy War College here to-day, Secretary Daniels appealed to American naval officers to profit by the lessons that are being taught by the great war in Europe and to fearlessly discard all theories which fail to stand the acid test. He referred briefly to the naval program for the coming year, and expressed confidence that Congress would authorize any increase recommended.

Mr. Daniels said: "As you look abroad, you see the foundation of old theories crumbling every day. If war upon the land has reverted to the bayonet and the hand grenade, war upon the sea has leaped forward at a single stride and broken almost every shackle of ancient convention.

"We have seen the main fleet of the greatest sea nation in the world withdrawn from the seas to some secluded harbor without having fired a shot during the first year of a mighty conflict. We have seen battles begun at ranges believed to be impossible and ships disabled by shots from guns as yet invisible. We have been told that modern sea fights would be determined in the first ten minutes, yet we have seen that it took its hours to decide one of the greatest ocean battles of the present war. We have seen ships of shallow draft used as fortresses to protect land armies on the Belgian coast.

"With what weapons, strategy, shall we meet the terror of the submarine; the still unrevealed possibilities of the airship? It is to you, gentlemen, that this question must be put. It is to you your secretary of the navy looks for an answer."

YALE GRADS. CAVORT ON CLASS DAY

Despite efforts of the Yale University faculty to make the commenement elebration this year a very tame affair because of the war and many national complications, the old grads who returned to march in the class day parade at the Yale-Harvard baseball game fairly outdid themselves. Fantastic costumes of all sorts were seen in the line. The exhibit here pictured was brought out by last year's class, the sign is self explanatory.

The class of 1912, dressed in Alpine toggery labeled themselves. "The Swiss Navy." At the head of the column was a sign announcing "The Swiss Navy." As a climax to the first weeks camaign for better milk in Harrisburg, officials of the Department of Health were to-day building up cases against several dealers who have failed to comply with the rules and regulations governing the sale of milks and prose-cutions will be brought during the early part of next week. The depart-ment is determined that dealers who do business here must comply with every requirement and must offer milk which is pure milk which contains the ment is determined that dealers who do business here must comply with every requirement and must offer milk which is produced under sanitary conditions.

It is not the intention of the ocials to "hound" any dealers in particular in favor of others. Neither is it their intention to attempt to put any of them out of business. The health bureau has established a standard which is no more strict than that existing in some other towns and cities and to this standard every dealer delivering milk in this city must conform if he desires to continue his business here. The present campaign was not inaugurated to eliminate anybody. It was opened for the benefit of the public. One of its purposes is to educate the dealer and to make him realize the responsibility which rests unon him when he sells milk which does not reach the required standard and which may result in the sickness and death of some of his customers as has been recorded on many occasions. The department wants the milk dealer here to know where the milk which he is selling it is produced and under what conditions it is produced. If the conditions are not as they should be and that dealer continues to sell milk from those places then he is open to prosecution and it is just such dealers as these [Continued on Page 9.]

Five Youthful Prisoners on Their Way to Glen Mills After Night in Courthouse

After an uneventful night within the courthouse, the five small boys were committed by Juvenile Judge McCarrell to Glen Mills, got up early to-day and after a hasty breakfast, started on their journey Philadelphia-ward. The boys seemed highly delighted with the novelty of spending the night in the courthouse and they played games, read and otherwise enjoyed themselves last night until a late hour. Outside the door a deputy watched. Prior to leaving for Glen Mills this morning in Sheriff Wells' custody the boys gave the deputies of the sheriff's office a trying half hour. They pried inquisitively into everything in the office from inkwell to ledger. "My, oh my," sighed Deputy William Hoffman as he mopped his brow after the boys had waved their last cheery good-byes, "but I'm certainly glad those kids are on their way. They're chuckful of deviltry." with the novelty of spending the night
